Introduction

About this book

Who is this book for?

This book is for people studying for the Cambridge First Certificate in English (FCE) examination. The aim is to practise the grammar and vocabulary needed for this examination. The book is useful as a supplement to any course book; it presents and practises key grammar and vocabulary points in an integrated way. I assume that anybody using this book has a reasonable knowledge of and ability to use English up to pre-intermediate level. More advanced students should refer to Grammar and Vocabulary for Cambridge Advanced and Proficiency by Richard Side and Guy Wellman (Longman).

What sort of grammar is in this book?

The book covers the main areas of English grammar at intermediate / upper intermediate level and concentrates on areas you need to pass the FCE exam. Thus, there is a thorough review of tenses together with verb, noun and adjective structures. Although grammar and vocabulary are obviously important in all the papers in the exam, special attention is given to those aspects of grammar which are frequently tested in Paper 3 – Use of English. For example, prepositions following nouns, verbs and adjectives are especially common in all parts of Paper 3. Problems of time and tense are also tested, for example in conditional sentences and after wish, if only, I'd rather and expressions with time; such structures are reflected in the grammar presented and practised in this book.

What sort of vocabulary is in this book?

The book gives vocabulary special emphasis, including both individual words and common phrases. Words which are often confused are dealt with in the Sections which make up the main body of the text, and common sources of error caused by words of related meaning are also considered. There is also a detailed focus on aspects of word building in every Unit. This reflects the importance of word building in the Use of English paper. The Word store at the end of the Units focuses on topic areas and lexical phrases to which the new format of the FCE exam introduced in 1996 gives particular importance. A good knowledge of these phrases will help you perform better in the Use of English and the Writing papers.

How can I use this book?

There are many ways to use this book. You can use the Contents to look up particular aspects of grammar or vocabulary you want to study and practise. The Agenda at the beginning of each Unit will show you the contents of each Section and you can use the Entry test to identify which Sections you need. Or, you may wish to study complete Units, perhaps in the order in which they appear. Several options are available to you according to your needs.

How is this book organised?

The book comprises fourteen grammar and vocabulary Units followed by a topic-related Word store Section. There is an Exam practice test after every two Units. Throughout the book there are cartoons which illustrate grammar points and also identify the coverage of the Section. I hope this will make learning grammar more fun as well as more memorable.

THE ENTRY TEST

A typical sequence begins with an Entry test based on the target grammar and vocabulary of the Unit. It consists of 25 diagnostic items which will direct you to areas you need to learn, revise or practise in the Sections that follow. The test will give you an idea of your own strengths and weaknesses in particular areas of grammar or vocabulary. Each Entry test is divided into five parts (each with five items) and these correspond to the five Sections, a–e, of the Unit. If you have difficulties with a part of the Entry test, there is a cross-reference to the relevant Section where you will find all the information and practice you need. On the other hand, if you find that part easy, it may mean that you are sufficiently competent in that area and you may wish to skip that Section. Since each Entry test has an uniform score (25), you can monitor your own progress using your total scores for each Entry test.

THE GRAMMAR SECTIONS

Each Unit contains three Grammar sections which deal with aspects of a particular area of grammar as listed in the Agenda above the Entry test. For a full index of the grammar covered in this book, see the list of Contents (pages 3–5). The Grammar sections contain explanations and descriptions using numerous example sentences. Much of the information is presented in tables which provide easy access to the essential details of meaning or use, together with examples illustrating common contexts.

THE VOCABULARY SECTIONS

Each Unit has two Vocabulary sections. There is a deliberate focus on word building and on lexical items related to particular areas of usage. Phrasal material is given special attention and, again, the tables provide easy access to content.

THE PRACTICES

All presentation material in the Grammar and Vocabulary sections is followed by Practices. These are a wide variety of exercises related to the content of the previous Section. Many of these exercises are modelled on FCE exam questions, but others are styled to achieve the best focus on information being practised and provide for a more interesting set of activities.

THE EXAM PRACTICES

After every two Units, there is an Exam practice in the form of a complete Use of English paper in exactly the same format as the FCE. Each Exam practice tests your knowledge of the grammar and vocabulary of the previous two Units. It allows you to revise what you have learnt while getting valuable examination practice. Each paper has the same score so that you can monitor your progress as you work with different Units. Although grammar and vocabulary are presented separately in the Units, in the Practices and the Exam practice grammar and vocabulary are brought together within the same texts. Thus there is constant recycling of the target information.

THE WORD STORE

At the end of the book is the Word store, a series of exercises presenting vocabulary in topic-related groups which are extremely useful for all parts of the FCE exam. Emphasis is on the importance of common phrases and the way words combine together. The vocabulary items are presented in tables that are unrivalled in their coverage. These tables are followed by exercises which draw on items in the tables and allow you to work with them in relevant contexts. Special attention has been given to ensuring that these exercises are lively and informative.

Will I pass First Certificate if I do everything in this book?

One grammar and vocabulary practice book is not enough to make you fluent in English. I recommend that you read widely in English (simplified readers, magazines and newspapers...) and take every opportunity to listen to English (satellite television, film, radio, songs...). You should also try and speak the language so that you can use it naturally and easily.

About First Certificate

What level is First Certificate?

The First Certificate is an intermediate-level Cambridge examination which follows on from the PET (Preliminary English Test) and precedes the CAE (Certificate in Advanced English). The examination is frequently used as proof that you will be competent to begin a career such as those related to tourism or banking, or that you can pursue an advanced course of study in English. Learners at this level should be able to handle the main structures with some confidence and communicate in English in a variety of social situations. You should be able to tell the difference between the main points and the secondary points of a text and between the gist of a text and specific detail. You are expected to show an ability to describe and recount events. Grades A, B and C are passes. D is a narrow fail, and E and U are fails.

The exam is usually taken after approximately 500–600 hours of studying English. It consists of 5 papers, each scoring 40 marks. Four papers are usually taken on the same day and Paper 5 (Speaking) will be taken on a different day.

PAPER 1 – Reading Comprehension

This paper, lasting 1 hour and 15 minutes, consists of either four long reading texts or three long with two or more shorter texts, and is intended to encourage familiarity with different types of written material. The texts may be correspondence, informational material, articles from newspapers or magazines, advertisements, etc. There are 35 questions which are multiple choice, gapped text or matching. You will be tested on understanding the gist of a text, main grammar points, detail in the information, and text structure or meaning.

PAPER 2 – Writing

For this paper, lasting 1 hour and 30 minutes, you must complete one compulsory task (a letter using information given in the form of tables, diagrams, pictures, etc.) and choose one more from a list of four situation-based tasks. You will need to demonstrate your ability to write a range of texts such as letters (formal and informal), articles or reports, as well as stories and argumentative compositions. Each task must be between 120 and 180 words.

PAPER 3 – Use of English

The paper lasts 1 hour and 30 minutes. There are five tasks with a total of 65 questions focusing on grammar and vocabulary (see pages 10–11). The paper is divided according to the language focus and style of task. The exercises are: multiple choice with an emphasis on vocabulary; gap-filling testing grammar and vocabulary; transformation sentences again testing grammar and vocabulary; detecting errors in a text with an emphasis on grammar; and finally word-building.

PAPER 4 – Listening

This paper lasts approximately 40 minutes. There are two longer recorded texts and two series of short extracts with a total of 30 questions. The recordings may be phone messages, commentaries, announcements, speeches, reports, etc. The tasks are designed to test your understanding of the gist of the recording, main grammar points and specific information. They include multiple choice, note taking, matching and selection from two or three possible answers.

PAPER 5 – Speaking

This part of the examination, lasting approximately 15 minutes, has four parts. It consists of a paired conversation with another candidate, and the participation of an interlocutor and an assessor who remains silent. The first part is a very short interview. After that there is an individual task in which you may be asked to give information or express your opinion by comparing photographs or pictures. In the next short exchange, you may be asked to agree or disagree, or make a decision about a drawing, photograph, etc. Finally you take part in a discussion with the interlocutor and the other candidate. You will be marked according to your overall performance. You should be able to respond to questions, organise your ideas, express your opinions and exchange views in order to solve simple problems.

What types of questions can I expect in Paper 3?

This book concentrates on the grammar and vocabulary you will need to pass this Paper. The exercises in the Practices, and especially the Exam practices, reflect the types of questions you will be given in the FCE exam. There are five parts.

PART 1 – Multiple choice cloze

There is a text with 15 numbered gaps and four choices (A, B, C and D) for each. You must choose the best answer to fill each gap. Example:

Part 1

For Questions 1–15, read the text below and decide which answer A, B, C or D best fits each space. There is an example at the beginning (0). Mark your answers on a separate sheet.

Example:

0 A gone B brought C taken D come

Answer: brought

E-MAIL OR SNAIL MAIL?

Modern technology has (0) about enormous improvement in communications and yet many people are still worried (1) using the latest computer technology. I am often (2) to meet colleagues who still don't know what the 'e' in e-mail stands for. ...

Part 1 (Questions 1–15) has an emphasis on vocabulary but often includes prepositional use, and common phrases and link phrases.

PART 2 – Open cloze

This consists of a short passage with 15 numbered gaps. You must provide a correct word to fill each one. Example:

Part 2

For Questions 16–30, read the text below and think of the word which best fills each space. Use only one word in each space. There is an example at the beginning (0).

Example: 0 in

THE MYSTERY OF STONEHENGE

Stonehenge is a group of very large stones arranged (0) circles which stand on Salisbury plain in South England. They look (16) they've been put there by a race of giants. The stones originally came from south Wales, 240 miles away. They are (17) big and heavy that the transportation of these stones over (18) a distance is incredible. ...

Part 2 (Questions 16–30) tests grammar, vocabulary and spelling. Learning common phrases and collocations is very useful.

PART 3 – Word transformation

There are 10 sentences with a gap to be filled using a given word that cannot be changed.

Example:

Part 3

For Questions 31–40, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the order given. Do not change the word given. You must use between two and five words, including the word given. Here is an example (0).

Example:

0 Do you regret what you did?

sorry

Are you sorry for what you did?

31 I think his wife is a journalist.

married

I think a journalist. ...

Part 3 (Questions 31–40) also tests grammar and vocabulary with an emphasis on tenses, reported speech, the passive, conditionals, etc.

PART 4 – Error correction

A text is provided with 10 errors. Some lines contain an extra, unnecessary word. You have to identify it. Note that in this book space is provided at the side of the lines for your answers. In the exam, you must use your answer sheet. Example:

Part 4

For Questions 41–55, read the text below and look carefully at each line. Some of the lines are correct, and some have a word which should not be there. If a line is correct, put a tick (✓) by the number on the separate answer sheet. If a line has a word which should not be there, write the word on the separate answer sheet. There are two examples at the beginning (0 and 00).

Examples: 0 ✓
00 a

42 which was especially written for to be as easy as possible ...

Part 4 (Questions 41–55) tests all aspects of grammar.

PART 5 – WORD FORMATION

This word-building exercise has a text with 10 gaps. It can involve prefixes, suffixes, changes to the whole word (e.g. wide to width) and also forming compounds. The base words are given and must be transformed to fill the gaps. Example:

Part 5

For Questions 56–65, read the text below. Use the word given in capitals at the end of each line to form a word that fits in the space in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0).

Example: 0 successful

Present Simple and Present Continuous

Present Simple (base form)

We use the Present Simple:

- for permanent situations:
I live in a flat.
She works for an insurance company.
 - for repeated actions or habits:
I use my mobile phone every day.
 - for general truths:
The sun rises in the East.
Matter consists of small particles.
~~X Water is boiling at 100 degrees.~~
✓ Water boils at 100 degrees.
 - to tell stories, or summarise the plot of a film or book:
Our hero goes off to search for the treasure, which he eventually finds after many adventures.
- When we use always with the Present Simple, it usually means 'every time':
I always complain if the service is bad in restaurants.
 - When we use always with the Present Continuous, it means 'all the time' or 'too/very often':
You're always complaining that waiters are rude.
 - We cannot use never ... again with the Present Simple:
~~X I never speak to you again.~~
✓ I'm never speaking to you again.

Present Continuous (present of be + ...-ing)

We use the Present Continuous:

- for temporary situations existing for a period at the present time:
I'm staying with a friend at the moment.
She's working very hard nowadays.
~~X Just now I wait to do my military service.~~
✓ Just now I am waiting to do my military service.
 - for situations which are changing during the present time:
The weather's getting hotter and hotter.
 - for actions, or repeated actions or habits, occurring at the moment of speaking:
I am using John's mobile phone because I left mine at home.
You're eating too fast.
 - to express annoying habits with words like always:
You're always borrowing money!
- We do not usually use certain verbs in the Present Continuous, e.g.: appearance: appear, resemble, seem composition: consist of, contain, have connection: come from, concern, cost, fit, suit existence: be, exist knowledge: forget, know, realise, understand likes and dislikes: dislike, hate, like, love, prefer needs and wants: need, want, wish opinion: believe, doubt, imagine, suppose, think possession: belong to, have, own, owe, possess senses: feel, hear, notice, see, smell, sound, taste

- We can use some of the verbs at the bottom of page 14 in the Present Continuous when they have different meanings. Here are some examples:

Present Simple	Present Continuous
She has (got) a big car. (= possession)	She is having an operation/a good time/a meal/a bath. (= actively involved in)
I have three brothers. (= connection)	They are thinking of buying a cheaper car. (= considering)
They think it's too expensive. (= opinion)	I'm just thinking. (= at this moment)
I feel what we did was wrong. (= opinion)	I am feeling exhausted. (= physical reaction)
Do you see what I mean? (= knowledge; understand)	Are you seeing a lot of Mary nowadays? (= spending time with)
This juice tastes good. (= senses)	You're seeing things – there's nobody at the window. (= imagining)
She appears to be very upset. (= appearance)	He is tasting the milk to see if it's OK. (= checking the quality)
	The Blues Band is appearing at the Odeon on Saturday. (= performing)

- We can use verbs that describe the way we feel physically in a Simple or Continuous form with no change of meaning:

I feel sick. or: I am feeling sick.
My feet ache. or: My feet are aching.
My leg hurts. or: My leg's hurting.

Practice

- 1 Underline the correct tense, Present Simple or Present Continuous, in the following sentences.

- 1 I'm sleeping / sleep on Niko's sofa until I find a place of my own.
- 2 I'm only working / only work there for a couple of months because I'm going abroad in the summer.
- 3 If you aren't listening / don't listen to the radio, why don't you switch it off?
- 4 His only bad habit is that he talks / is talking too loudly.
- 5 So in the first scene we see / are seeing him getting up and then he goes out / is going out and meets / is meeting a strange woman.
- 6 You make / are making goulash using meat, vegetables and paprika.
- 7 I never do anything I feel / am feeling is against my principles.
- 8 He appears / is appearing to be very friendly but I don't know him very well.
- 9 There's nobody at the door; you just hear / are just hearing things.
- 10 I'm thinking of doing a postgraduate degree – what do you think / are you thinking? Is it a good idea?

Past Simple, Present Perfect, Present Perfect Continuous

Past Simple and Present Perfect

The Present Perfect is the tense that links the past with the present.

Past Simple (past form)

We use the Past Simple:

- for past habits or states, whether continuous or repeated:
Long ago, they built most houses out of wood.
He always caught the same train.
- with periods of time that have finished:
I read the newspaper this morning. (= it is now afternoon or evening)
He did a lot in his short life. (= he's dead)
- for finished actions with time words like a year ago, last Sunday, last week, yesterday, etc.:
Watson and Crick identified the structure of DNA in 1953.
The first modern Olympics took place in Athens more than a hundred years ago.

Present Perfect (present of have + past participle)

We use the Present Perfect:

- for actions or states in the past which have a connection with the present:
They have bought a new house. (= they can now go and live in it)
It's just started to rain. (= now, so bring the washing in)
- when the results of an action or state are obvious now:
You've spilt the coffee all over my trousers – look!
They've polluted the river. (= the fish are dead)
- for repeated actions in the past, with words like often, rarely, seldom:
He's often been to France.
- with periods of time that have not finished yet:
We've built 20 new schools this year. (= it is still this year)
He has done a lot in his short life. (= he's alive and young)
- for actions with expressions like already, before, ever, never, often, recently, still, yet, etc.:
Rain has already ruined the tomato crops.
Have you ever seen a UFO?*
We still haven't discovered life on other planets.
They haven't sent an astronaut to Mars yet.

- The choice between the Past Simple or Present Perfect depends on whether the action links the past with the present:
She often took the bus. (= but doesn't any more)
She has often taken the bus. (= and so she might do it again)
- Regular verbs end in -ed in both the Past Simple and the past participle (the form we use for the Present Perfect): worked, looked, played.

Present Perfect Continuous

We use the Present Perfect Continuous (present form of have + been + -ing) to talk about actions which started in the past and which continue up to the moment of speaking. We use it especially when we are interested in the duration of the action:

I've been waiting for a whole hour!

- Notice the difference between the Present Perfect Continuous and the Present Perfect :

Present Perfect	Present Perfect Continuous
I've done my homework.	I've been doing my homework.

- The Present Perfect emphasises the idea of completion (= the homework is finished); we use the Present Perfect Continuous to indicate that the action has lasted for a period and is incomplete. Compare:

I've read the newspaper today. (= I've finished it)

I've been reading the Encyclopaedia Britannica. (= I haven't finished it yet)

- We often use the Present Perfect Continuous with for and since (see 1d):

Those potatoes have been boiling for an hour. And the carrots have been boiling since three o'clock.

Past Continuous, Past Perfect, Past Perfect Continuous

Past Continuous

We use the Past Continuous (past form of be + -ing) to talk about something which was in progress during a period of time in the past:

I was listening to the news on television at nine o'clock last night.

- We use it to give background information:
It was pouring with rain and she was wondering what to do.
- We also use it with the Past Simple to say that something happened in the middle of something else:
~~X I slept when my friend called.~~
✓ I was sleeping when my friend called.

Past Perfect

The Past Perfect (had + past participle) is the past form of the Present Perfect. We use it to talk about a past event which happened before another past event:

- ~~X When I bought some fruit I went back to the beach.~~
- ✓ When I had bought some fruit I went back to the beach.*

- We often use the Past Perfect with when or after:
After they had eaten, they cleared the table.
- We also use the Past Perfect in indirect speech when reporting the Past Simple or Present Perfect:
'I have found the answer.' becomes: She told us she had found the answer.
- Compare the Past Perfect and the Past Simple:

Past Perfect Continuous

The Past Perfect Continuous (had been + -ing) is the past form of the Present Perfect Continuous. We use it to talk about something which had been in progress up to the time in the past we are talking about:

They had been climbing for five hours before they reached the top of the mountain.
I had been feeling sleepy all day so I went to bed early.

Vocabulary

for, since, during, yet, etc.

since and for

We use since to indicate a starting-point:

They haven't met since the wedding. (= since + noun phrase)

A lot has happened to me since I last wrote to you. (= since + clause)

- We can use It's a long time, two weeks, etc. + since + Past Simple to focus on the period:
It's ages since I saw Eva.

We use for to say how long something lasts:

I'm tired. We've been walking for four hours.

I haven't seen Eva for ages.

~~X I've been living in London since four weeks.~~

✓ I've been living in London for four weeks.

over / during

We use over / during to indicate the period of time in which something happens or develops:

Over / During the last eighteen months there have been three tax increases.

- Compare the use of since:
Since the middle of last year (= the starting-point) there have been three tax increases.

from ... to / until / till

We use from ... to / until / till to indicate when something starts and ends – from one point in time to another:

Dinner is from eight o'clock to ten o'clock.

I waited from ten till two.

- We can use from ... without to / until / till if we do not say when something ends:
I was training from ten o'clock.

from and since

Compare from and since:

The minister was here from ten o'clock. (= he came at ten o'clock)

They've been here since ten o'clock. (= they're still here) for and during

For answers the question 'how long?'. We use it with time expressions to talk about actions that last the whole of the period of time:

He was with the company for forty years.

- We use during + that week, your stay, the match, etc. when one action happened inside a period of time:

During that year he rose from deputy manager to managing director.

- Here are some typical phrases we use with for and during:

for two hours / a whole week / a long time /

a couple of days / a minute or so during office hours / the day / the full ninety minutes / the twentieth century / the interval during or while?

During is a preposition. We use it before a noun (phrase). We never use during with a clause.

We didn't see anybody during the holidays.

_____ NOUN _____

While is a conjunction. We use it with a clause:

We didn't see anybody while we were on holiday.

_____ CLAUSE _____

~~X During I was at home, a salesman called.~~

✓ While I was at home, a salesman called.

ago, already, before, still and yet

word	meaning / use	example
ago	tells you how long before the moment of speaking. We use ago with the Past Simple, not the Present Perfect. It comes after a time phrase.	I came to Rome exactly six months ago. I'm writing in reply to your letter which I received two days ago. already	expresses surprise that something has happened sooner than expected. Or, we use it to say that something that has been done need not be repeated. We normally use it in positive sentences and questions. We often use it with Perfect tenses. It can come in the mid or end position.	Is the taxi already here? Is the taxi here already? I've already tried that. I've tried that already. before	earlier than a time in the past	I went to the airport last Monday to meet Sue. I hadn't been to the airport before. (= before last Monday) still	tells you that something is continuing and has not finished. It can suggest surprise that it continues longer than expected. We use it in mid position and if the sentence is negative, it comes before the negative word.	I've been to Rome several times but I still like going there. I've had fifty driving lessons, but I still can't drive very well. We've been waiting for an hour, but she still isn't here.
yet	tells you that something expected to happen has not happened (we use a negative sentence), or to ask if it has happened (we use a question). We use it at the end of a sentence.	I haven't had breakfast yet. (= I expected to have it before now) Aren't you ready yet? (= I expected you to be ready before now)

the future

We can use different ways to express the future in English. The choice depends on the situation. Here are the main forms and their uses (see also 6b):

form	meaning / use	example
Future Simple with will + base form	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • decisions made at the moment of speaking • predictions, often with I believe, expect, hope, think, etc. • offers or willingness 	OK, I'll see you this evening at eight. X All right. I'm going to see you at eight. ✓ All right, I'll see you at eight. I think it will be a difficult game.
be going to + base form	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • requests • firm intentions, promises • threats • facts about the future • intentions, plans • something in the future is because of something in the present • predictions, especially when there is evidence 	I'll give you a lift if you like. All right. I'll water the plants. Will you do me a favour? I'll love you forever. I won't speak to you ever again! Christmas day will fall on Tuesday this year. I'm going to phone him tomorrow. X Look. It will rain. ✓ Look. It's going to rain. That building is going to collapse soon.
shall + base form	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • suggestions • offers (with I or we) • asking for advice 	Shall we go for a walk? Shall I help you with those bags? What shall I say if she calls? We'll be waiting outside the station.
Future Continuous will be + -ing	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • activities planned to a future time 	I'll be going by bus as usual.
Present Continuous be + -ing	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • arrangements, routines • arrangements, often with tonight, at eight, this weekend, etc. 	I'm having my hair cut today.
be + to -infinitive	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • official arrangements, especially when announced 	The President is to visit Brussels next week.
Present Simple	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • firm plans or timetables, especially after when, as soon as, until, etc. 	The boat leaves the island on Friday. I'll phone you when I arrive.
would + base form	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • reporting predictions in the past, often with I believed, hoped, etc. 	I thought it would be a difficult game.

Practice

1 Match the first sentence (1–14) with the second sentence (a–n) to make short exchanges.

Example: 0 + o

- (0 'Look at all those dark clouds.')
- 1 'Mum, I've dropped my glass of milk.'
- 2 'The meeting will be held on Tuesday at 3pm.'
- 3 'What time did she say she's going to get here?'
- 4 'I told her to tidy her room but she won't.'
- 5 'How much longer are you going to be?'
- 6 'I feel awful. I think I'm going to faint.'
- 7 'I'll come and help you clear the attic in a moment.'
- 8 'Tessa seems to have gained a lot of weight.'
- 9 'Shall we go now? I've had enough.'
- 10 'Will you please shut the door?'
- 11 'What shall I get for dinner?'
- 12 'When am I going to see you again?'
- 13 'What do you think you'll do when you finish?'
- 14 'I'm just going to go to the post office.'
- a 'Shall I have a word with her?'
- b 'I'll be with you in just a minute.'
- c 'That's easy. I'm going to get a job that earns me lots of money.'
- d 'Thanks. That will be very helpful.'
- e 'Actually she's going to have a baby.'

2b

be going to, Present Continuous, Present Simple

Present Continuous or be going to?

We often use the Present Continuous to talk about the near future rather than the distant future:

I'm taking the kids to the cinema this evening.

I'm getting up at 6.30 tomorrow.

- We can use be going to or the Present Continuous for more distant events:
We're going to sail / 're sailing round the world next year.
- To talk about plans, we can use the Present Continuous or be going to in the same future situations, sometimes with a slight change of emphasis (To ask about plans or arrangements we use the Future Continuous. See 2c):
I'm going to see my psychiatrist tomorrow. (= I intend to see my psychiatrist tomorrow)
I'm seeing my psychiatrist tomorrow. (= I have already arranged to see my psychiatrist tomorrow)
- If there is no plan or arrangement, we can only use be going to. This use is prediction, especially when there is evidence. The Present Continuous is not possible:
Those dark clouds mean we are going to have a storm.
~~X You're getting a headache if you don't turn the volume down.~~
✓ You're going to get a headache if you don't turn the volume down.

Present Continuous or Present Simple?

In future use, the Present Simple always suggests a fixed timetable. The Present Continuous can suggest the possibility of change:

~~X The sun is rising at six tomorrow.~~

✓ The sun rises at six tomorrow.

I'm seeing him at six o'clock. (= my plan)

I see him at six o'clock. (= my fixed schedule)

- We often use the Present Continuous for personal arrangements, and the Present Simple for when an official or a committee makes the arrangements:
I'm seeing Mikis at the weekend. (= my arrangement)
I leave for London tomorrow. (= my boss says so) be going to or will?

We use be going to to talk about something we know will happen because of information in the present (see also 3b):

The sky's grey – I think it's going to rain.

It's eight o'clock – you're going to be late again.

- We use will to talk about something we believe will happen:
Don't carry that heavy box – you will hurt your back.
- We also use will to indicate a sudden decision:
Leave the washing up – I'll do it later.
- We can use going to if we decided earlier:
I told you that I'm going to wash up.

Practice

- 1 Complete these sentences using be going to, will, the Present Continuous or the Present Simple. Use the verbs in brackets.

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1 Look, that car over there (crash)! | 6 Nina often (visit) her parents. |
| 2 I can't come tonight because I
(stay in) to watch TV. | 7 I (be) rich one day! |
| 3 The Prime Minister (travel) to Brussels tomorrow. | 8 According to my diary, we (meet)
at 3pm tomorrow. |
| 4 The match (start) at 3pm as always. | 9 We (win) the European Cup next year. |
| 5 Don't worry about the car; I
(phone) for a taxi. | 10 The National Theatre (celebrate) its thirtieth anniversary soon. |

- 2 Put the verb in brackets into the most suitable form of the future.

- 'What you this evening?' (do) 'Nothing'.
'Well, we to that new pizzeria?' (go)
- In 2004 the Olympic Games in Athens. (take place)
- Which showing do you want to go to? The film at nine and eleven. (start)
- I work at five – so shall we meet at a quarter past? (finish)
- Seven o'clock isn't possible as I something else then. (do)
- This lesson is boring. When it to ? (finish)

- 3 Underline the most suitable form of the future in the following text.

AQUARIUS

All Aquarians this month (1) get off / are getting off to a good start with some good news on the home front. The news (2) is helping / will help to relax recent tensions and give you the chance to make a fresh start. There (3) shall / will be lots of new things on other fronts this month. It really (4) is going to be / is being a time of great opportunity. A special person (5) shall come / is coming into your life soon – and you mustn't think this (6) is going to be / is being just another friendship. At work, you (7) are needing / will need to rise to new challenges that (8) are testing / will test your character to the utmost. If you (9) make / are making a wrong move, you (10) will probably regret / probably regret it. In short, this is a month which (11) will bring / shall bring many opportunities but there (12) will be / are being risks, too, so be careful!

WOMAN: I'm getting married on Saturday and we're having a traditional wedding.

MAN: Are you having a white wedding?

WOMAN: Yes, and I'm going to wear my grandmother's dress.

MAN: And what's your grandmother going to wear?

2c

Future Continuous and Future Perfect

Future Continuous

The Future Continuous (will be -ing) can refer to temporary activities during a future period:

This time next week, she'll be flying to New York.
(= she has planned to fly to New York then)

- The Future Continuous often refers to a routine or to things which will happen in the normal course of events. It emphasises that no new arrangement is necessary:
I can give you a lift to the station. It's no trouble for me – I'll be going that way anyway.
- We use the Future Continuous to ask about someone's plan or arrangement:
Will you be using the library this afternoon?
When will the President be arriving because I must organise the reception?

Future Continuous or Future Simple?

We use the Future Simple (will + infinitive without to) to indicate a personal decision at the moment of speaking:

OK, I'll see you this evening.

- In the Future Continuous, the activity has already been decided:
~~This time tomorrow I will lie on the beach.~~
✓ This time tomorrow I'll be lying on the beach.
We'll be staying here until next weekend.
I'll be driving to Madrid next week so I can give you a lift if you like.

- The Future Simple in questions can sound less polite than the Future Continuous. Compare:
Will you drive me to the airport?
Will you be driving me to the airport? (= more polite)

Future Perfect

We use the Future Perfect (will have -ed) to talk about something that will finish at a time in the future.

I'll have finished this assignment by Saturday.

Today is Tuesday. Rosie says she will have finished her assignments by Saturday. (= Rosie will finish at any time up to Saturday, but not later)

- ~~✗ When I finish this book it means I will read all of her books.~~
- ✓ When I finish this book it means I will have read all of her books.*

Practice

1 Complete these pairs of sentences using the Future Simple, the Future Continuous or the Future Perfect. Use the verb given in brackets.

- 1 a part in our play? You're a really good actor, we need you! (take) b I know you're a keen member of the drama group. I suppose you part in the play this year. (take)
- 2 a I in London next year, still doing the same old job. (be) b I in London for ten years by next June. (be)
- 3 a By Friday, I this new book by Marquez. (finish)
 b If I don't have too much work this year, I think I all of Marquez's novels. (finish)
- 4 a This time tomorrow, Maria on a beach in Majorca. (sunbathe)
 b I expect she until she gets badly burnt – that's what she did last year. (sunbathe)
- 5 a Don't make too much noise after midnight – I soundly, I hope. (sleep)
 b Wake me up by nine o'clock – I long enough by then. (sleep)
- 6 a We to Australia later this summer. It's a long flight. (fly)
 b It's strange that when we get to Sydney, we half way round the world. (fly)
- 7 a Look, I can give you a lift to the station – I that way anyway. (drive)
 b You'll be late for your train – I you to the station if you like. (drive)

2 Fill in the spaces using the Future Simple, the Future Continuous or the Future Perfect of the verb in brackets. The first (0) is given as an example.

- ROSA When shall I come round (0 come round)? Is Thursday still OK?
- MARIA Well, don't come at six – I (1 work) then.
- ROSA What time do you think you (2 be) free?
- MARIA Let's see, I (3 work) on the manuscript all day as I told you, and I expect I (4 complete) the second chapter by about seven. OK?
- ROSA Yes, because I (5 be) quite busy at about six tomorrow as well. I've got an appointment with my dentist and I don't think she (6 finish) much before seven.
- MARIA Well, we really must be getting on with the book, you know – by the end of this month we (7 work on) the project for a whole year. It's taking far too long.
- ROSA Yes, I (8 jump) for joy when it's finished.
- MARIA Me too. By the way, (9 go) near the post office?
- ROSA Probably. It's not far from the dentist.
- MARIA You see, I've been expecting an important parcel and I think it (10 arrive) by Thursday. If you (11 go) past there anyway, could you collect it for me?
- ROSA No problem. So, I (12 see) you later. Bye for now.

phrasal verbs: time and change

phrasal verb	meaning / use	example
bring back sth; bring sth back	reintroduce	They are going to bring back the old system.
bring up sb; bring sb up	raise children	Are you bringing your children up as Catholics?
call off sth; call sth off	cancel	They called off their trip when Granny died.
carry on (doing sth)	continue	Are you going to carry on making that horrible noise?
come back (from somewhere)	return	When did you come back from your holidays?
fall behind (with sth)	fail to produce sth at the right time	He's falling behind with the payments.
get back (to somewhere)	return somewhere	What time do you have to get back to college?
get on (in life)	advance, make progress	He's new here, but he'll get on fine, I'm sure.
get down to sth	finally start doing sth	Isn't it time you got down to marking those papers?
give up (doing sth); give sth up	stop doing sth (often bad)	Don't give up! You'll get there in the end. She gave up smoking. She's given it up.
go ahead (with sth)	begin to do sth planned or promised	He decided to go ahead with his plans in spite of her objections.
go through (sth)	experience a difficult time	After all they've gone through, they can still smile.
grow up	develop from child to adult	I grew up on a farm.
hold on	wait	Hold on a minute. I won't be long.
hold sth/sb up	delay sth/sb	The building work has been held up by bad weather.
keep sb up	delay sb from going to bed	I won't keep you up long.
put sth off ; put off sth	postpone	If it rains, they will have to put off the match.
set off	start a journey	When are we setting off in the morning?
stay up	go to bed later than usual	We stayed up to watch the late film on TV.
take up sth; take sth up	to start learning sth	She's taken up tennis.

- Some phrasal verbs, e.g. fall behind, grow up, set off, are intransitive (they do not have an object):
I grew up in America.
- We can place the object between the verb and the particle with some transitive phrasal verbs:
We put off their visit. = We put their visit off.
They called off the match. = They called the match off.
- However, if the object is a pronoun, we always place it between the verb and the particle:
We put them off.
They called it off.

Practice

1 Fill each space with a suitable phrasal verb from the list on page 36.

- 1 If you want to in life, you'll have to work harder.
- 2 We'll have to before lunch time if we want to get there in time.
- 3 You'll with your work if you don't get on with it.
- 4 I wanted to go to bed but she till one o'clock in the morning.
- 5 It's about time you some hard work, isn't it?
- 6 Why don't you a sport now that you have all this free time?
- 7 I'm going to eating red meat after all these reports.
- 8 Can you a minute while I check my diary?
- 9 If he breaking the law like that, he'll end up in prison.
- 10 What do you want to be when you ?

2 Complete the second sentence so that it is as similar meaning as possible to the first sentence, using the word given. This word must not be changed.

- 1 I hear they're going to revive some of the old customs in our villages.
I hear they some of the old customs in our villages.
- 2 She was born in New Zealand but raised in Australia.
up
She was born in New Zealand but in Australia.
- 3 If you don't stop misbehaving, I'll have to ask you to leave the room.
carry
If you misbehaving, I'll have to ask you to leave the room.
- 4 I'm sorry but this month's rent hasn't been paid yet.
behind
I'm sorry but you with the rent.
- 5 After Christmas, I'm going to do some serious job hunting.
get
After Christmas, I'm some serious job hunting.
- 6 Her chatting about this and that stopped me from going to bed.
up
She chatting about this and that.
- 7 They've rearranged the meeting for next week.
put
The meeting till next week.
- 8 There's no rush now – the performance has been cancelled.
called
There's no rush now – they the performance.

– Why are policemen strong?
– Because they hold up the traffic.

prefixes (1)

We use prefixes to change meaning (see also 5e). They rarely change the part of speech. (Most suffixes change the part of speech.)

- Many prefixes give a word a meaning which is the opposite or negative of the original. For example, we can use the prefixes dis or un:
dis + appear = disappear
un + tie = untie

prefix	meaning/ use	example
anti + adjective / noun	opposite	anti-clockwise anti-climax
anti + noun / adjective	against	anti-theft device anti-European
co + noun / verb	together	co-worker cohabit
dis + verb	negative / opposite	dislike disembark
il + adjective	opposite	illegal
im + adjective	opposite	impossible
in + adjective	opposite	indirect
inter + adjective	between	intercontinental
ir + adjective	opposite	irregular
mis + verb	wrongly / badly	mistook mishandle
over + verb	too much	overdo overwork
out + verb	more	outnumber
post + noun / verb	after	postgraduate
pre + noun / verb	before	pre-arrangement
pro + noun / adjective	in favour of	pro-Unions pro-European
sub + adjective	below	substandard
super + noun / adjective	greater than	superhuman
trans + noun / verb / adjective	across	transplant transcontinental
un + verb / adjective	negative / opposite	unlock unhappy
under + verb	not enough / too little	undercook undercharge

There are a few rules:

- We use il instead of in with words that begin with l:
il + legal = illegal
- We use im instead of in with words that begin with m or p:
im + polite = impolite
- We often use ir instead of in with words that begin with r:
ir + responsible = irresponsible.
- Some common mistakes are:
~~× You must unconnect the cables first.~~
 ✓ You must disconnect the cables first.
~~× They expelled him for disbehaving.~~
 ✓ They expelled him for misbehaving.
- Note that many words with a prefix have a base part that never exists on its own. Here are examples:
immediate, incontrovertible, uncalled-for

Practice

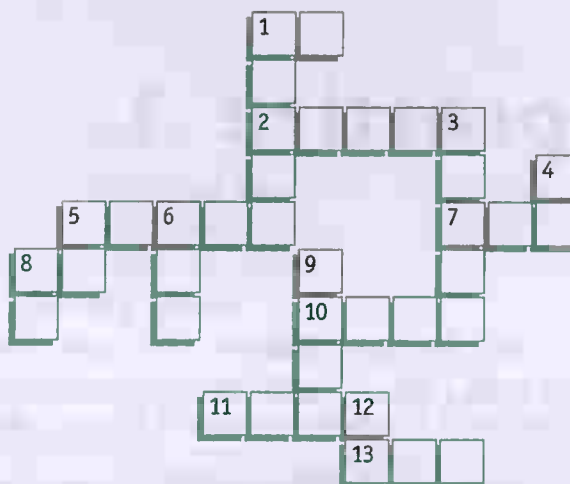

- 1 Add a correct prefix to the following words. You may use your dictionary.

- | | |
|------------------|--------------------|
| 1dependent | 13Atlantic |
| 2polite | 14behaving |
| 3do | 15moral |

- 8 The opposite of responsible is*responsible*.
- 9 If you-date a cheque, you write a later date on it.
- 12 We use this prefix meaning 'not' in front of words that begin with m.

3 Add a prefix to the correct form of the word at the end of each line and use the word in the space on the same line. The first (0) is given as an example.

Attempts to communicate in a foreign language can easily (0) misfire .
 I'm always (1) by my attempts to get speak Greek.
 The waiter on Mykonos (2) what I wanted and instead of beetroots brought me mushrooms. | 15 | A in | B during | C while | D for |

Part 2

For questions 16–30, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space. There is an example at the beginning (0).

FUTURE SHOCK

Who ..will.... (0) win the election? Where (16) the best new jobs be found next year? Will plans to set up a colony on the moon (17) ahead and will ordinary members of the public (18) taking vacations on the moon? What are (19) to be the most successful electronics products of 2008? How will the Internet (20) changed not only business but people's lives (21) the middle of the 21st century? Will the government (22) back hanging for mass murderers? Famous futurist Alvin Toffler will be (23) these and other questions about the future when his new weekly TV programme (24) in the new year. Toffler, whose best-seller Future Shock was published in 1970, (25) be hosting a TV show which will (26) be reporting on what happened yesterday. Instead it will be (27) what is going to (28) tomorrow. Alvin Toffler, who by the end of this year will (29) been predicting the future professionally for nearly thirty years, told reporters: 'There's no future channel on TV – we (30) going to change all that'. Toffler's books make the stunning prediction that what is really going to change in years to come is the speed at which change itself takes place.

Part 3

For Questions 31–40, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between two and five words, including the word given. Here is an example (0).

Example: 0 I don't want Anne to come to the meeting. rather I'd rather Anne didn't come to the meeting.

31 The last time I saw Helen was before she left for Australia.

doing
She all morning and was exhausted.

Part 4

For questions 41–55, read the text below and look carefully at each line. Some of the lines are correct, and some have a word which should not be there. If a line is correct, put a tick (✓) at the end of the line. If a line has a word which should not be there, write the word at the end of the line. There are two examples at the beginning (0) and (00).

- | | | |
|----|--|---------------|
| 0 | I am not sure what I'm going to do with myself | ✓
..... |

Part 5

For questions 56–65, read the text below. Use the word given in capitals at the end of each line to form a word that fits in the space in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0).

NOT A COMPUTER WHIZZ-KID

I waslazily..... (0) browsing through the small ads in the local newspaper when I saw an (56) for a second-hand word (57), so I decided to give them a ring to get more (58). I have a computer but it doesn't really have a (59) enough memory for the project I'm involved in at the moment. In most (60) nowadays, it is becoming useful to be 'computer-literate' but in my (61) it has become an absolute (62). I must admit I do not get much (63) out of sitting in front of a computer screen for hours, but I don't stand much chance of (64) without computer skills. So I made an (65) to see my bargain computer the next day.

modal verbs (1)

There are nine modal verbs:

can could shall should may might will would must

- The third person singular does not take s.
- We use a bare infinitive (a verb without to) after all modal verbs:
You should go home early.
- We form questions by inverting the modal verb and subject:
Can you swim? Must I go to bed now?
- We form negatives by adding not or n't. We do not use do:
I cannot swim. You mustn't tell lies.
- We often use modal verbs in tag questions and short answers:
You can drive, can't you? Yes, I can. / No, I can't.
- Modals do not exist in all tenses. There is normally no Past Simple form:
*The train might be in the station. (= present)
The train might arrive late. (= future)*
- There are Perfect forms of modal verbs:
You could have done better.
- When a tense of a modal verb does not exist, we use another verb with the same meaning:
~~X I could buy a ticket with any credit card.~~
*✓ I was able to buy a ticket with my credit card
I had to help my father yesterday.*
- We cannot use one modal verb after another:
~~X She must can do it.~~
*✓ She must be able to do it.
X You will can go.
✓ You will be able to go.*
- Don't have to is the opposite of must:
You don't have to be a member.

obligation and necessity

Here are common uses of modals for obligation and necessity (similar verbs are in brackets):

verb	meaning / use	example (Present)	example (Past)
must (have to) should (ought to)	obligation	You must eat less. I must do some work. You mustn't smoke. I have to return the book now. You should wear a seatbelt. He ought to apologise.	You should have eaten less. I had to do some work. You shouldn't have smoked. I had to return the book immediately. You should have worn a seatbelt. He ought to have apologised.
(do not have to) must (have (got) to) (need) (need to)	no obligation necessity	We don't have to wear a tie. They must have clean water. We have to get some sleep. I've got to find a job. I need new glasses. We need to book in advance.	We didn't have to wear a tie. They had to have clean water. We had to get some sleep. I had to find a job. I needed new glasses. We needed to book in advance.
(don't have to) (needn't) (don't need to)	no necessity	We don't have to wear a tie. We needn't book in advance. We don't need to book in advance	We didn't have to wear a tie. We needn't have booked in advance. We didn't need to book in advance.

must and have to

- Must is often personal and expresses someone's opinion. Have to often refers to laws and regulations:
You must get your hair cut. (= I think it's a good idea)
You have to wear a uniform. (= It's a regulation)
You mustn't tell lies. (= It's necessary that you DO NOT lie)
You don't have to lie. (= It's NOT necessary for you to lie)
- Unlike must, have to exists in all forms so we can use it wherever must is not possible:
She's having to travel by bus instead.

need and need to

- We can use need as if it is a modal verb:
No one need feel left out.
- We normally use need with a to-infinitive. It means the same as have to:
We need to get some sleep.
 - Need is nearly always negative. Not need to is also possible:
You needn't go. (= modal pattern)
You don't need to go. (= normal negative pattern with don't) ability and permission

Here are common uses of modals for ability and permission. For asking, giving or refusing permission, etc., see 3b, page 50 (ordinary verbs are in brackets):

verb	meaning / use	example (Present)	example (Past)
can	ability	She can play the piano. We can buy a new house now. I can smell something burning! She's able to play the piano whenever she wants to.	She could play the piano from the age of five. We were able to buy a new house. I could smell something burning. She was able to play the piano whenever she wanted to.
cannot / can't (not be able to)	no ability	She can't play the piano today. She isn't able to play the piano because her hand hurts.	She couldn't play the piano yesterday. She wasn't able to play the piano because her hand hurt.
can may (be allowed to)	permission	You can park here. Visitors may use the car park. Visitors are allowed to use the car park.	We could park there. Visitors could use the car park. Visitors were allowed to use the car park.
cannot / can't may not (not be allowed to)	prohibition	You can't park here. Visitors may not use the car park. Visitors are not allowed to use the car park.	We couldn't park there. Visitors could not use the car park. Visitors were not allowed to use the car park.

be able to

- We use be able to for particular instances, and it often suggests 'managing to overcome difficulties':
She was able to swim across the river although it was very wide.
We were able to pay although we were poor.
- We also use be able to for things which a person will be capable of doing in the future but not now:
If she practises, she'll be able to play Chopin.

could

- Could does not always have a past meaning:
You can visit the museum. (= now or in future)
You could visit the museum. (= now or in future)
It can be very cold at night. (= generally speaking)
It could be very cold at night. (= generally speaking)
 See also 3b.

Practice

1 Underline the correct verb in these sentences.

- 1 When we were at school, we had to / ought to wear a uniform.
- 2 You don't have to / mustn't wear your seatbelt during the whole of the flight.
- 3 You should / have got to tell her that you are sorry.
- 4 You need / must be a member of the library before you can borrow books.
- 5 I don't need to / shouldn't wear glasses because my eyesight is still quite good.
- 6 We weren't allowed to / wouldn't talk to our partner because it was an examination.
- 7 We needn't have / couldn't have ordered so much food as nobody was hungry.
- 8 She didn't need / needn't have to take any money because her friend was going to pay.
- 9 When I first came to Madrid I could / couldn't speak only a few words of Spanish.
- 10 Did you have to / Must you have your hair cut before the interview last week?

2 Complete the second sentence so that it is as similar in meaning as possible to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. Use between two and five words, including the word given.

Example: The teacher gave me permission to leave the room. could
 The teacher said I could leave the room.

- 1 In the end, I couldn't make it to the party because I had too much work to do.
able
 In the end, I come to the party because I had too much work to do.
- 2 At school, she was the fastest runner in her class.
could
 At school, she than anyone else in her class.
- 3 Although I'm good at physics, I don't think I'll manage to pass the exam.
able
 In spite of being good at physics I don't think pass the exam.
- 4 We weren't obliged to attend all the classes because some of them were optional.
have
 We to all the classes because some of them were optional.
- 5 If I don't find a job soon, I won't be able to pay the bills.
have
 I need to pay the bills so find a job soon.
- 6 'All telephone calls made from the office must be paid for,' said the manager.
had
 The manager told for all telephone calls made from the office
- 7 I took a lot of suntan lotion with me but I didn't need it.
taken
 I so much suntan lotion with me.
- 8 The traffic warden said we weren't allowed to park the car outside the bank.
could
 The traffic warden told park the car outside the bank.
- 9 I think you can manage without a pullover in this weather.
need
 You wear a pullover in this weather.
- 10 Oxygen masks were essential when they got to the top of the mountain.
had
 They oxygen masks when they reached the top of the mountain.

Those who can, do; those who can't, teach.

modal verbs (2)

certainty, probability and possibility

We use modal verbs to talk about certainty, probability and possibility (for will and be going to, see page 32). Here are examples:

certainty: negative	possibility	probability	certainty: positive
Present She can't be in France. She couldn't be in France. (= It's impossible, e.g. I saw her a moment ago)	She may be in France. She could be in France. (= I'm not sure)	She'll be in France now. She should /ought to be in France. (= She set off hours ago)	She must be in France now. She must be in France. (= I'm certain)
Past She can't have been in France. She couldn't have been in France.			She must have been in France.

- We use will to express a strong probability that something is true, especially when we don't have actual evidence at that moment:
That'll be Maria on the phone – she said she'd call.
- We use must to express complete certainty:
That must be Maria on the phone – she's the only person with my new number.
- We can also use had to be meaning 'must have been' to express certainty in the past:
She had to be the person I saw on the train.
- We use can/could or will/would to form questions:
Who can that be on the phone?
Who would have phoned so late?
- We can use modal verbs of possibility to refer to the past, present or future:
Don't drink it – it could/may/might be poisonous. (= present)
It can't/could/may/might have been poisonous. (= past)
We may/ought to/might/should get a reply tomorrow. (= future)
It could/may/might rain, so take an umbrella. (= future)
- There is sometimes a change in meaning:
It may have/might have rained. (= I'm not sure)
It could have rained. (= but luckily it didn't) communicating

We also use modal verbs in the following situations:

meaning / use	examples
making requests	Can I ask you to do me a favour? Could I ask you to do me a favour? May I use your telephone? (= polite) Would you do me a favour? Would you help me carry these bags? Will you please be quiet in here.
giving and refusing permission	'You can have the day off,' said the manager. You can't borrow my car tonight because I need it. Could I leave the class early today? You may register for the exam until the end of March. (= formal)
asking for advice	Shall I take the exam now or wait till later? Should I go by car or by train? Would you accept the job if you were me? giving advice	You should get your hair cut. You should have had less to drink. You ought to use a decent dictionary. You ought to have revised a bit more.
making offers	Shall I help you clear the table? Can I give you a hand with your luggage? Would you like a lift to the airport?
making suggestions	Shall we open a window in here? We can hire a video and stay in tonight if you like. We could hire a video and stay in tonight. (= less definite)
complaining	You could at least have asked me before taking the money. You should make less noise while other people are asleep. You shouldn't have taken the car without asking me. You ought to have turned up on time. You might at least have helped with the washing up!

1 Underline the correct modal verb in these sentences.

- 1 She can / can't be Italian with a name like Smith!
- 2 I may / can't be able to come.
- 3 A: Someone's at the door.
B: That can be / will be Joan.
- 4 You could have been / must have been crazy to do something as dangerous as that!
- 5 He can't have been / may have been the murderer because he has an excellent alibi.
- 6 I might / can not be able to come so don't wait for me.
- 7 It may / must be cold tomorrow.
- 8 Who could have / should have done such a terrible thing?
- 9 Hurry up, we're late! We might / should have been ready hours ago.
- 10 He could / can have been the one who started the fire but we're not really sure.

2 Match a first sentence (1–10) with a second sentence (a–j) to make short exchanges.

- | | |
|---|--|
| 1 'Shall we go to a Chinese restaurant this evening?' | a 'Not really; I'll be popping out myself in a minute.' |
| 2 'May I borrow your calculator for a moment?' | b 'I'd rather stay at home.' |
| 3 'Would you help me get the dinner ready?' | c 'Actually, it would be difficult to do without you right now.' |
| 4 'You shouldn't get upset so easily.' | d 'Could you give me another week then?' |
| 5 'You ought to have gone to the doctor as soon as you felt bad.' | e 'It's up to you really; it depends how strongly you feel.' |
| 6 'Do you think I should go and complain to the manager?' | f 'I'm sorry but I'm using it.' |
| 7 'I'm sorry but you can't hand in the assignment a month late.' | g 'I've apologised; what else can I do?' |
| 8 'Could I have some time off to visit my friend in hospital?' | h 'Do I have to? I've got to do my homework.' |
| 9 'Can I get you anything from the shops?' | i 'I can't help it; he really makes me furious.' |
| 10 'You shouldn't have spoken like that to your mother.' | j 'I couldn't because there was no one to take me.' |

3 Read the text below and look carefully at each line. Some of the lines are correct and some have a word which should not be there. If a line is correct, put a tick (✓). If a line has a word which should not be there, write the word. The first two have been given as examples.

DISCOVERING INDIA

- | | |
|---|-------|
| 0 By the time you will get this letter I expect you will | will |
| 00 have been in Calcutta for a week or so. You will | ✓ |
| 1 have been there able to settle in a bit and get used to the | |
| 2 place. It must can have been an exhausting journey. | |
| 3 It can't have been being much fun flying non-stop for nearly | |

| 5 to go and work in Calcutta. I know the poverty is | |
| 6 depressing but the job at least should to be quite worthwhile. | |
| 7 I suppose your boss might have been sent you somewhere | |
| 8 where there was war and famine so it could have been | |
| 9 worse. And it really must have be a fascinating culture to explore – | |
| 10 it must couldn't be more different from living in Manchester, I bet. | |
| 11 I wonder if you could able do me a favour? I've always wanted | |
| 12 a genuine Indian sari – and it must be really easy to get | |
| 13 hold of a good one there. I should have been given you the money | |
| 14 before you left but I'll put it in your bank account if you like. | |
| 15 I could and send you a cheque if you prefer but would you be | |
| able to cash it there? That's all for now. | | link words or phrases: purpose and reason because, as, since

Because, as, and since have similar meanings; they show the reason or cause of something. They come before a clause:

	LINK WORD	CLAUSE
	because
We stayed at home	as	it was raining.
	since

- There is almost no difference in meaning between because, as and since, but because can emphasise the reason more strongly. As and since assume that the reason is obvious:
I'll do it because I want to, not because you asked me to.
As/Since everyone is here, we can begin. (= It is obvious)
- We use only because when we answer with a clause on its own:
'Why are you late?' 'Because I missed the bus.'

because of, owing to, etc.

Because of, owing to, on account of and due to show the reason or cause of something. They come before a noun (phrase), not a clause:

	LINK WORDS
	because of	NOUN
	on account of	(PHRASE)
We stayed at home	owing to	the rain.
	due to as a result of thanks to

- ~~They came here looking for work owing to the wages are higher.~~
✓ They came here looking for work because the wages are higher. (= because + clause)
- We use because of much more often than the others.

- Owing to is more formal than because of:
Owing to lack of money, the project will not continue next year.
- Due to often comes after the verb be:
The crash was due to bad weather.
Owing to cannot come after the verb be. We use due to:
~~The accident was owing to human error.~~
✓ The accident was due to human error.
- On account of often means 'because of a problem or difficulty':
He can't run very fast on account of his asthma.
- As a result of often means 'because of something that has already happened':
As a result of the pilots' strike, all flights have had to be cancelled.
- We use thanks to to say that something, usually good, has happened:
Thanks to Ron and his car, we've managed to get all the deliveries done on time.

in order to, so as to

We use in order to and so as to before a verb which expresses the purpose of an action. In order to and so as to can be more emphatic than to alone:

She went on a diet in order to lose weight
She went on a diet so as to lose weight.
She went on a diet to lose weight.

- We can use the negative forms in order not to and so as not to, but we cannot use not to on its own:
~~She sent on a diet not to be fat.~~
✓ She went on a diet in order not to be fat.
✓ She went on a diet so as not to be fat.

in order that, so (that), etc.

We use in order that and so (that) before a clause expressing purpose. The clause contains a modal verb:

	LINK WORDS	CLAUSE WITH MODAL VERB
	so	we can arrive
We're leaving now	so that	early.
	in order that

consequently, as a result, etc.

We can use consequently, as a result and because of that to express the result of an action mentioned earlier. When we use them at the beginning of a sentence, they are followed by a comma:

We talked until the early hours of the morning.

Consequently,

As a result, I overslept.

Because of that,

- We use so in mid position to introduce a result. We do not put a comma after it:
She couldn't eat meat so she just had vegetables.

so or since?

Compare so and since:

- ✗ Since it's his birthday on Monday, so he's having a party.
- ✓ Since it's his birthday on Monday, he's having a party.
- ✓ It's his birthday on Monday so he's having a party.

Practice1 Underline the correct link word or phrase.

- 1 I phoned because / since I need to speak to you.
- 2 Since / Because the rain has stopped, we can go back in the garden.
- 3 Because of / Because the bus was late, I missed the meeting.
- 4 We took a taxi in order not to / not to be late.
- 5 The traffic jam is due to / owing to major roadworks.
- 6 Emma came first on account of / as a result of all her hard work.
- 7 I'm going by bus in order to / owing to save costs.
- 8 I'll reply by e-mail so that / consequently he can buy the ticket today.
- 9 She didn't water the plants, since / so they died.
- 10 We'll join the euro because / because of that our economy will improve.

2 Fill in each space in these sentences with a suitable link word or phrase. More than one answer may be possible.

- 1 Sandra's upset and it's all to your behaviour.
- 2 Prices have risen of an increase in demand.

3 Read the text below and look carefully at each line. Some of the lines are correct, and some have a word which should not be there. If a line is correct, put a (✓). If a line has a word which should not be there, write the word. The first two have been done as examples.

A LETTER OF APOLOGY

- | | | |
|----|--|--------------|
| 0 | I am writing in order to apologise for my behaviour |✓..... |
| 00 | last weekend. First of all, I arrived late because of I |of..... |
| 1 | wanted to avoid getting to there too early and | |
| 2 | causing you any inconvenience. As for everyone else | |
| 3 | had decided to arrive on time, I was the last to arrive, which | |
| 4 | must have been looked rather impolite but I assure you it was all | |
| 5 | because of being good intentions. I also thought the party was going to | |
| 6 | be informal so as I wore jeans. As a result, I must have looked | |
| 7 | rather too odd. I would also like to explain why I hardly ate any | |
| 8 | food all evening. As of I'm a vegetarian, I was | |
| 9 | unable to enjoy the delicious food you and your wife had prepared. | |
| 10 | Since that it has been years since I ate meat, I do hope you will | |
| 11 | appreciate my feelings on this. Moreover, I to regret asking | |
| 12 | you to put the cat out. This was due to that my allergy to cats. I sincerely | |
| 13 | hope it didn't catch cold as result of she being outside on such | |
| 14 | a chilly evening. Finally, owing that to carelessness on my part | |
| 15 | wine was spilt all over your carpet. I will do all I can in order for | |
| | to get it cleaned, whatever the cost. | |

'Why are false teeth like stars?'

'Because they come out at night and go in in the morning.'

Vocabulary

3. have, take, bring

We can use have, take and bring with many nouns to form fixed expressions. In these cases, these verbs have little meaning of their own and the meaning is that of the noun that follows. These are examples:

expression	example
have
have a bath/shower	She's probably upstairs having a bath.
have dinner/lunch, etc.	We had dinner and then went for a walk. take place or occur?

If an event takes place, it happens after a plan of some sort:

The contest takes place every four years.

- If something occurs it happens without someone planning it:

Where did the accident occur?

take, bring, get or fetch?

If we take something (from a place), we generally mean 'steal something':

X I ~~went shopping and took~~ a pullover.

✓ I went shopping and bought a pullover.

X I ~~took~~ a letter.

✓ I got a letter. / I received a letter.

- Bring generally means 'take something or someone to the place where you are now':
Did you bring anything to drink?
- Fetch means 'go to another place to get something and bring it back':
I'll go and fetch the others so that we can start the meeting.
- Take something (with you) means 'carry something from one place to another':
Don't forget to take your briefcase (with you).

suffixes (2)

We normally use suffixes to change a word to a different part of speech. Sometimes a suffix produces a change in meaning (see also 1e, 4e, 10e, 12e, 13e).

verb + (a)tion, (i)tion or sion

We can use the suffixes (a)tion, (i)tion or sion to make nouns from verbs. Many of these nouns are abstract. The use of abstract nouns often makes a sentence sound rather formal:

It is important to preserve the rainforests.

The preservation of the rainforests is important.
(= more formal)

- Abstract nouns are always uncountable:
The omission of the victims' names was deliberate.
- However, sometimes abstract nouns also have a concrete meaning. In these cases they can be countable:
Your essay is full of errors and omissions.
- Some common errors with abstract nouns are:
 - ✗ They are in danger of to be extinct.
 - ✓ They are in danger of extinction.
 - ✗ He doesn't have much fantasy.
 - ✓ He doesn't have much imagination.
- Here is a list of common nouns ending in tion and sion. Check any meanings that you do not know in a dictionary.

abolish	abolition
accuse	accusation
apply	application
attend	attention
civilise	civilisation compete	competition

question words

questions about the subject

When we ask questions about the subject of a sentence, the word order in the question and the answer is the same:

Ben designed this house.

Who designed this house?

✗ ~~Who did build~~ this house?

✓ Who built this house?

- We use what, who, which, whose and how many in questions about the subject.

questions about the object

Questions about the object need an auxiliary verb (do, have, is, etc.) before the subject:

Wren designed this cathedral.

What did Wren design?

- We use what, which, who, whose, when, where, how often, etc. in questions about the object.

✗ ~~Which cathedral~~ Wren ~~built~~?

✓ Which cathedral did Wren build?

Here is a summary of question words with examples:

question word	example: subject question	example: object question
who	Who is teaching you?	Who do you know here? (Whom is very formal.)
what	What caused the problem?	What film did you see?
what kind of	What kind of people live here?	What kind of TV programmes do you watch?
which	Which book sold most?	Which picture do you like?

how far		How far is the college from here?
how long		How long does it take to get there?
how often		How often do you go swimming?

position of prepositions

- Note the change in the position of a preposition in questions about the object:
I gave the book to John. becomes: Who did you give the book to? or To whom did you give the book? (= formal)
She sent the letter from India. becomes: Where did she send the letter from? or From where did she send the letter? (= formal) what or which?

We use what when the choice is open. We use which when there is a limited choice:

What colour do you like? (= open choice)

Which colour do you prefer, red or blue?
 (= limited choice)

What countries have you visited? (= open choice)

Which countries in South America have you visited? (= limited choice) question tags

We add question tags to the end of a statement:

It's Monday today, isn't it?

- The general pattern for using tags is:

Positive sentence + negative tag

She likes Beethoven, doesn't she?

Negative sentence + positive tag

She doesn't like Beethoven, does she?

- We form question tags with an auxiliary verb (e.g. be, have, do) + personal pronoun (e.g. it, you, she, he, they). If there is an auxiliary verb in the statement, we repeat the same auxiliary verb in the tag:

You're from Greece, aren't you?

They don't speak English, do they?

- The tense of the auxiliary verb agrees with the tense in the main verb:

She came home late, didn't she? (= Past Simple)

- If there is a modal verb in the statement, we repeat the same modal verb in the tag:

It shouldn't cost that much, should it?

- After main verbs without an auxiliary verb or modal, we use do in the tag:

She plays the piano, doesn't she?

special cases

- The question tag for I am is aren't I?:
However, for I'm not, we use am I?
- To form a tag question for Let's..., we use shall:
Let's surprise them, shall we?
- To form a tag for an imperative, we use will:
Turn the sound down, will/won't you?
- To form a tag for There..., we add there:
There isn't any danger, is there?
- After somebody, someone, everybody, everyone, no one, etc. we use they in the tag:
Everybody is sleeping, aren't they?
- After nothing, something, and everything, we use the personal pronoun it in the tag:
Nothing happened, did it?

Here is a summary of verbs used in tags:

verb in statement	verb in tag	examples
statement without an auxiliary or modal	do	You like him, don't you?
be	be	This is yours, isn't it?
have (= possess)	do	You don't have a watch, do you?
have got	have	You haven't got a brother, have you?
have (= auxiliary)	have	You haven't seen Joe, have you?
do	do	You do aerobics, don't you?
can	can	She can swim, can't she?
could	could	We could do better, couldn't we?
may	might	It may rain, mightn't it?
will	will	You won't tell them, will you?
would	would	He'd like that, wouldn't he?
needn't	need	We needn't come, need we?
must	must	We mustn't make a noise, must we?
have to	do	We have to work harder, don't we?
need to	do	She needs to be there, doesn't she?

uses of question tags

We use question tags

- to get agreement from the person we are speaking to:
You don't come from Spain, do you? (= voice falls on the tag = the speaker expects the answer no)
You come from Italy, don't you? (= voice rises on the tag = the speaker expects the answer yes)
- to ask politely:
You couldn't give me a hand with this box, could you?
You don't know anything about computers, do you?
- to order people to do things politely. The tag is usually positive:
~~X Be careful, don't you!~~
✓ Be careful, won't you?
Clear the table, will you?
- to make an informal offer:
Have a drink, won't you?
- to make a polite suggestion:
Let's go to the beach, shall we?

Practice

1 Fill in the spaces with the correct tag.

- Your dad does the cooking,?
Yours never does the housework,?
- There's not much we can do about it,?
- It's a beautiful day,?
Yes. Let's go for a walk,?
- You've got a bicycle,?
Yes. You no longer have yours,?
- You weren't cheating in the test,?
No, I'd never cheat,?
- You don't know his secret,?
- You could take up tennis,?
- You'd rather carry on with volleyball,?
- She lost her temper,?
- Yes, but she shouldn't have,?

2 Complete the sentences using an appropriate tag and any other necessary words.

Example: You enjoyed the film.

You say: 'That film was great, wasn't it?'

- Your friend has just read a book which you like, too.
You say: 'It's a?'
- You look at your watch. It's early.
You say: 'We've got?'
- You're thirsty. You like tea.
You say: 'Let's have?'
- You want to make sure your name is on the list.
You say: 'I'm?'
- You want to go out for a walk.
You say: 'Let's?'
- You want to check if the train leaves from platform 2.
You ask: 'The train?'
- You can't reach the salt.
Ask someone to pass it to you: 'Pass?'
- Your little sister has got cake crumbs on her sweater.
You say: 'You've been?'
- You're worried about your friend going climbing.
Tell your friend: 'Take care,?'
- You want to check that you are leaving tomorrow morning, as agreed.
You ask: 'We're?'

phrases of agreement

short answers

We often answer yes/no questions with short answers using an auxiliary verb:

Can you come? Yes, I can.

- We repeat the auxiliary verb or modal verb which we use in the question:

Is there a light on? Yes, there is. / No, there isn't.

Aren't you Penny's brother? Yes, I am.

Are they good friends? Yes, they are.

Do they get on? Yes, they do.

Does she like acting? No, she doesn't.

Will you be there? No, I won't.

Would you ever lie? No, I wouldn't.

Do you have to leave now? No, I don't, but I prefer to.

- The short answer for Shall we ... ? is Yes, let's / No, let's not:

Shall we have a party? Yes, let's. / No, let's not.

so

We can also give a short answer to yes/no questions with the verbs think, be afraid, hope, suppose, etc. + so. After afraid, hope and suppose, we use not instead of so when the short answer is negative:

question	short answer
Are they good friends?	I think so. / I don't think so.
Do they get on?	I think so. / I don't think so.
Do you think they'll come to the party?	I hope so. / I hope not.
Do we have to pay all that money?	I'm afraid so.
Can I come to the cinema, too?	I'm afraid not.
Are you going to lend me some money?	I suppose so.
You're not going to punish us all, are you?	I suppose not. expressing agreement with so and neither

In informal speech, we can use certain phrases which include so and neither, usually with do or have, to express agreement with something said previously.

- We use so + an auxiliary verb to express agreement with affirmative statements:

~~X Bill likes it and I also.~~

✓ Bill likes it and so do I.

Max: I like rock music.

Bill: So do I.

- We use neither + an auxiliary verb to express agreement with negative statements:

~~X She hasn't got any money and I haven't.~~

✓ She hasn't got any money and neither have I.

statement	reply (agreement)
I've got a poster of Michael Owen.	So have I.
I usually go to the seaside in the summer.	So do I.
I don't have a photo of her.	Neither do I.
They didn't pass the test.	Neither did I.
John hasn't arrived yet.	Neither has Mary.
Steve didn't come to the rehearsal.	Neither did Michael.
She hasn't finished her homework.	Neither have I.

echo questions

We often use short questions in informal conversation to confirm that we have listened to what the other person has said, or to show interest in what the other person is saying. These echo questions do not need an answer.

- The pattern for using these echo questions is:

Positive statement – positive echo question

Ben: I have already been to the States.

Fred: Have you?

Negative statement – negative echo question

Ben: But I haven't been to Australia.

Fred: Haven't you?

- When the subject of the statement is an object, animal, etc., we use it in the echo question: 'This bike is very expensive?' 'Is it?'
- When the subject is a group, we use they: 'United will win on Saturday.' 'Will they?'
- After statements without an auxiliary verb or modal verb, we use do in the echo question: 'Mary arrived last night.' 'Did she?'
'Geese fly south for the winter.' 'Do they?'

As with question tags and short answers, we repeat the auxiliary verb or modal verb in the echo question which was in the original statement:

statement	echo question
I can come by taxi.	Can you?
I can't swim.	Can't you?
Maria doesn't play the piano.	Doesn't she?
The Smiths haven't arrived yet.	Haven't they?
I've got two dogs.	Have you?
John isn't coming.	Isn't he?
Emma could walk when she was one.	Could she?
You ought to be more careful.	Should I?
You should change university.	Should I?
We shouldn't drink so much.	Shouldn't we?
I'll do the washing up.	Will you?
I won't be able to pay the bill.	Won't you?
I'd rather stay at home.	Would you?
I'd never lie to you.	Wouldn't you?

suffixes (3)

We normally use suffixes to change a word to a different part of speech. Sometimes a suffix produces a change in meaning (see 1e, 3e, 10e, 12e, 13e).

abstract nouns

Abstract nouns name an idea, feeling experience or a state rather than an object person or particular instance.

Abstract nouns are always uncountable:

- ✗ ~~There are no reliable evidences.~~
- ✓ There is no reliable evidence.
- ✗ ~~They were satisfied with the new equipments.~~
- ✓ They were satisfied with the new equipment.

- However, some abstract nouns also have concrete meanings. In these cases they can be countable:

Appearances can be deceptive.
We should consider all her strengths and weaknesses.

ance / ence

We add ance or ence to many verbs to form abstract nouns. For abstract nouns ending in (a)tion, (i)tion or sion, see 3e:

accept + ance = acceptance exist + ence = existence

- Many adjectives which end in ant or ent become abstract nouns by changing t to ce:
fragrant – fragrance dependent – dependence

ment

We can also add ment to many verbs to form abstract nouns:

agree + ment = agreement

- Note that many nouns ending in ment have only a concrete meaning:
document, monument, ointment

ness

We can add ness to many adjectives to form abstract nouns:

good + ness = goodness

- Some of these nouns can be countable:
Thanks for the many kindnesses you've done me.

th

We use th with numbers (except one, two and three) to form ordinal numbers:

fourth, fifteenth, eightieth

- We also use th to form abstract nouns which are usually connected with size or quality:
growth, warmth

Here are examples of abstract nouns using the suffixes ance, ence, ment, ness and th:

ance	ence	ment	ness	th
acceptance	absence	advertisement	brightness	breadth
allegiance	affluence	achievement	carelessness	depth
annoyance	confidence	commitment	emptiness	fortieth
appearance	correspondence	embarrassment	greatness	growth
arrogance	defence	employment	happiness	health
avoidance	existence	encouragement	kindness	hundredth
distance	emergence	enjoyment	loneliness	length
disturbance	experience	entertainment	sleepiness	strength
importance	intelligence	environment	tenderness	unpteenth
insurance	occurrence	fulfilment	tightness	warmth
reluctance	patience	movement	ugliness	wealth
resistance	violence	refreshment	weakness	width

Part 2

For Questions 16–30, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space. There is an example at the beginning (0).

WHAT A DAY!

..... Who (0) says a day at home is restful? I was in the middle of (16) the dinner and I still had a huge pile of ironing to (17). No sooner had I ironed the first shirt (18) the doorbell rang. I had (19) most of the housework during the morning and had even had time to pop out to (20) some shopping. I had just about enough time left to (21) the beds and perhaps (22) a few of my daily keep-fit (23) when the salesman from the vacuum cleaner company (24) up at the door. He had phoned my wife to (25) an appointment. She had (26) me about it but it had slipped my mind. 'I'm not interrupting anything, (27) I?' he said with one of those false smiles people (28) on when they are trying to (29) you something. 'We did say one o'clock, (30) we?' He smiled again and asked if my wife was at home.

Part 3

For Questions 31–40, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between two and five words, including the word given. Here is an example (0).

Example: 0 She put on thick socks because she didn't want to get cold feet.

so

She put on thick socks so as to avoid getting cold feet.

Part 4

For Questions 41–55, read the text below and look carefully at each line. Some of the lines are correct, and some have a word which should not be there. If a line is correct, put a tick (✓) at the end of the line. If a line has a word which should not be there, write the word at the end of the line.

FINDING A PEN-FRIEND

- 41 The Pen-Pal scheme makes up every effort to match individuals
- 42 in different countries. Only when on rare occasions have we
- 43 failed to find clients pen-pals. If you are interested in you should
- 44 fill in the form asking for details about yourself. We need to
- 45 know the hobbies and sports you like as only if then
- 46 can we match you with a suitable partner. To tell us
- 47 which subjects you like doing at school and if you have
- 48 any requirements as far as a food is concerned. Most pen pals
- 49 end up with exchanging visits and it is vital that you feel
- 50 at ease when you will visit each other. We do our best to
- 51 avoid obvious clashes. Before you make out your
- 52 choice of pen-pal make sure you have looked at several
- 53 possible partners; someone they may make a very good
- 54 impression on you until you will have seen the other pen-
- 55 pals so take your time before you make up your mind.

Part 5

For Questions 56–65, read the text below. Use the word given in capitals at the end of each line to form a word that fits in the space in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0).

First and Second Conditionals

Conditional clauses begin with if (or a word such as when which means the same as if) and follow basic patterns (see also 5b). This Section deals with patterns which form the First, Second and Zero Conditionals:

First Conditionals

We use First Conditionals to talk about events which are possible. The Conditional clause can refer to the present or the future.

Conditional clause	main clause
if + Present Simple	– will + bare infinitive
If it rains,	we will stay at home.

- The Conditional clause can come before or after the main clause. We use a comma at the end of the Conditional clause when it comes first:

If you don't try harder, you will fail.
You will fail if you don't try harder.

- Other structures are possible, depending on what you want to say:

Conditional clause	main clause
if + Present Simple	– modal verb
If you behave yourself,	you can come.
if + Present Simple	– be going to (future)
If you don't work,	you're going to fail.
if + Present Simple	– imperative
If you need anything,	ask.
if + Present Continuous	– will + bare infinitive
If we're leaving soon,	I'll get my coat.
if + Present Perfect	– will + bare infinitive.
If I've finished,	I'll be able to come.
if + Present Perfect	– modal verb
If you've finished,	you can go out.
Imperative	– and/or + will
Eat less	and you'll get slim.

Second Conditional

We use the Second Conditional for unlikely situations in the present or future:

Conditional clause	main clause
if + Past Simple	– would
If I had enough money,	I'd retire.

- Instead of would we can use other modal verbs:
If I lost my job, I might go abroad for a while.
- Compare First and Second Conditionals:
If I lose my job, I'll find life very difficult.
(= there is a possibility – First Conditional)
If I lost my job, I'd find life very difficult.
(= there is no evidence – Second Conditional)

Zero Conditional

We use the Zero Conditional to show that one action, result, etc. always follows another. We often use when for if:

Conditional clause	main clause
Present Simple	– Present Simple
If/When water freezes,	it turns to ice.
When I travel by boat,	I'm always sick.

(just) in case

This means 'because it is possible that...' and usually comes after the main clause (see page 97):
Paul will bring you a sweater in case it gets cold.

provided (that); as long as

These phrases suggest that there is one vital condition (see also page 97):

Provided you rest, you'll make a full recovery.

unless

We can use unless to replace if...not in Conditionals (see also page 97). After unless, we use a Present tense to talk about the future:

Unless you leave now, you will be late.
You will be late unless you go now.

Practice

1 Complete the sentences using these words and phrases.

was leaving can't might starts am would be becomes take should

- 1 If I not busy, I'll visit you.
- 2 If he careful, he wouldn't break things.
- 3 If he were slimmer, he much more attractive.
- 4 If she Prime Minister, she'll raise taxes.
- 5 Unless you stop wasting time, I'm right now.
- 6 If you don't give me more information, I help you.
- 7 If a fire, the alarm goes off.
- 8 You make your own food if you don't like my cooking.
- 9 more exercise and you'll soon feel better.
- 10 If the weather improves, I go for a stroll.

2 Write two sentences using the information. The first should express a likely event and the second a less likely but still possible event.

Example: we leave at eight / we arrive on time likely: If we leave at eight o'clock, we'll arrive on time.
less likely: If we left at eight o'clock, we'd arrive on time.

- 1 am not busy / come and pick you up likely:
less likely:
- 2 you fall / break your leg
likely:
less likely:
- 3 I drink too much wine / I feel sleepy
likely:
less likely:
- 4 you get the job / you have more freedom
likely:
less likely:
- 5 the questions be easy enough / everyone pass the test
likely:
less likely:

3 Complete the second sentence so that it is as similar in meaning as possible to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given.

Example: Her job is tiring because she doesn't have a secretary. not
 If she had a secretary, her job would not be so tiring.

- 1 Give us your vote and we promise to make this country great again. long We'll make this country great again us your vote.
- 2 There will be no more unemployment, if we win the elections. jobs
 If we come to power, for everybody.
- 3 We will build more schools if we can afford to. enough Provided , we will build more schools.
- 4 They won't let you into the theatre without a ticket. unless You can't get into the theatre a ticket.
- 5 Bring your sun lotion because a heatwave is possible. case
 Bring your sun lotion a heatwave.

5b

Third Conditional

We use the Third Conditional to talk about an event or situation that did not happen in the past:

Conditional clause main clause

if + Past Perfect – would + Perfect

If Bruce had asked me, I would have said 'yes'.

✗ If I ~~wouldn't have become~~ a teacher, I ~~would like to be~~ an actor.

✓ If I had not become a teacher, I would have liked to be an actor.

- Notice how we can make either clause negative, with changes in the meaning:

If I had taken an umbrella, I wouldn't have got wet. (= but I did get wet)

If I hadn't taken an umbrella, I would have got wet. (= but I didn't get wet)

- Both clauses can be negative:

They wouldn't have missed their plane if they hadn't woken up late. (= but they did wake up late, and they did miss their plane)

- Instead of would, we can use could or might modal verbs in the main clause:

If you'd asked, I could've told you the answer. I might have gone to the party if I had known about it.

- We often use if only meaning 'I wish very strongly' (see 5c):

If only he had asked, I'd have helped him.

Mixed Conditionals

Sometimes we make sentences which mix Second and Third Conditionals, especially when a past event has an effect in the present:

If you hadn't invited me, I wouldn't have gone to the party. (= I did go to the party – Third conditional)

If you hadn't invited me, I wouldn't be here now. (= I'm at the party now – Third + Second Conditionals)

Practice

- 1 Complete these sentences to make appropriate Third Conditional or Mixed Conditional sentences, using the correct form of the verbs in brackets.

Example: If you (come) to the theatre yesterday, you (enjoy) the play.
If you had come to the theatre with me yesterday, you would have enjoyed the play.

- 1 If I (visit) Athens last year, I (phone) you.
- 2 If only I (know) you already had tickets, I (not get) any for you.
- 3 If you (start) coming to the course earlier, you (could pass) the exam.
- 4 If I (not be) so shy at the party last Saturday, I (might make) more friends.
- 5 If you (not spend) so much money, I (not be) angry now.
- 6 I (could become) an accountant if I (be) good at maths.
- 7 She (get) promoted last year if she (not argue) with the boss.
- 8 He (not get) the job, if he (not wear) a tie.
- 9 If I (meet) you before, my life (be) different.
- 10 If he (not see) the other car, there (be) a serious accident.

2 Make Third Conditional sentences for each of the following situations. Begin with the words given.

Example: I was tired. I went to bed early.

If I hadn't felt tired, I wouldn't have gone to bed early. or:

If I hadn't felt tired, I would have gone to bed later.

- 1 I didn't have enough money. I didn't take a taxi.
If
- 2 I wasn't interested in the film. I didn't go to the cinema.
If
- 3 We took the wrong turning. We arrived late.
If
- 4 Romeo thought Juliet was dead. He committed suicide.
Romeo wouldn't
- 5 Oliver was punished. He asked for more food.
If Oliver
- 6 The building had weak foundations. It fell down.
The building wouldn't have
- 7 I didn't go downstairs. I was afraid of the dark.
I might
- 8 You didn't run fast. You didn't come first.
You could
- 9 I didn't know she was the examiner. I made a silly joke.
Had
- 10 She didn't have a car. She couldn't have driven there.
If she

3 Fill each space in the following text with one suitable word.

All the difference

I often wonder how my life would have (1) different if on that particular day I (2) walked in the other direction. Or what (3) have happened if - in those few seconds - I (4) walked just a little bit faster? She wouldn't (5) been able to do what she did, say the things she said. If it (6) not been for these shy words of greeting, I would not (7) here now - I would probably (8) in the same city I grew up in. It is amazing how our lives depend on the most minute details: a split-second decision which makes all the difference. (9) I ever have found romance at all (10) I hadn't met Francesca that day and if she (11) decided not to walk on that path beside the trees? I couldn't possibly (12) done what I did in my life if we (13) not met on that bright, sunny morning. And if the sun had not (14) shining and the birds singing, she would probably have (15) even spoken to me.

5c

I wish, if onlywishes about the present

We use wish with Past Tense forms (Simple and Continuous) to express regret about present situations (see also 5d):

I wish I was taller. (= I'm not very tall)

I wish I was going on holiday with you. (= but I'm not)

I wish you were more help. (= but you're not)

- *I wish I were can replace I wish I was. To many people, I wish I were sounds more correct:
I wish I were taller.

- We use wish with could to express a wish for a present situation to be different:

I wish I could use a computer well.

~~I wish I would tell her about it.~~

✓ I wish I could tell her about it.

wishes about the future

We use wish with would to say how we would like somebody to behave in the future:

~~✗ I wish you to stop talking.~~

✓ I wish you would stop talking.

~~✗ I wish that they will stop arguing.~~

✓ I wish they would stop arguing.

- We can also use this pattern in situations that do not involve people:

I wish this car would go faster.

wishes about the past

We use wish with the Past Perfect when we have regrets about the past:

I wish I hadn't taken your advice. (= but I did)

I wish she could have come. (= but she didn't)

Here is a summary of patterns using wish:

verb form after wish	time reference	example (+ meaning)
Past Simple	present	I wish I knew the answer. (= I don't know)
Past Simple	present	I wish I was/were better at sports. (= I'm not)
Past Continuous	present	I wish I was/were going with you. (= I'm not)
could	present	I wish I could give you an answer. (= I can't)
would	future	I wish you would be quiet. (= Your talking irritates me.)
Past Perfect	past	I wish I had known you then. (= but I didn't)
could have	past	I wish I could have explained. (= I wasn't able to)

if only

If only can be more emphatic than I wish. The verb forms after if only are the same as the patterns with wish:

If only I had more money! (= but I haven't)

If only I was going on holiday with you!

If only you were here. (= but you're not)

If only the sun would come out!

If only you could be here! (= but you're not)

If only I'd listened to you! (= but I didn't)

If only he could have explained! (= but he wasn't able to)

Practice

1 Complete these sentences with the correct form of the verb in brackets. Some sentences require a negative.

- 1 Bruce wishes he (have) more money so he could buy a new sweater.
- 2 I wish it (snow) now that it's Christmas.
- 3 I wish I (be) taller so that I could be in the basketball team.
- 4 I wish you (stop) watching television while I am talking to you.
- 5 I wish you (do) that. It annoys me.
- 6 I wish the holidays (come) so we could go off to the seaside.
- 7 I wish they (build) that block of flats right in front of our window.
- 8 Of course Tom wishes he (come) with us Paris, but he has to stay here and work.
- 9 I wish we (go) to the match on Saturday but we're visiting my uncle instead.
- 10 I wish you (keep) your mouth shut yesterday. Now Mary knows everything.
- 11 If only (lose) all my money. Now I'm broke.
- 12 Peter is always late. If only he (turn up) on time for a change!

2 Here are some problems in brackets. How could they have been avoided? Use the words and phrases to help you write two sentences about each problem using I wish and If only.

play fewer computer games keep calm eat less lose temper walk more use bins watch less TV use car less often save water let someone else drive waste water take more exercise protect forest drive carefully recycle more paper take rubbish home

- | | |
|--|---|
| 1 (I've gained a lot of weight.)

3 Write a sentence about each problem using I wish or if only and the word in brackets.

Example: The weather is awful. (improve)

I wish the weather would improve. / If only the weather would improve.

1 People leave the tap running all the time. (turn off)

2 Your brother is very angry. (calm down)

3 The postman hasn't arrived and I'm waiting for an important letter. (arrive)

4 People hunt animals for sport. (stop)

5 The people next door have their TV on very loud. (turn down)

6 Your friend keeps complaining about everything all the time. (stop)

7 It doesn't rain enough. (more)

8 Your favourite football team has lost every match so far. (win)

9 I can't wait for Christmas. (come)

10 Too much rubbish is thrown away. (recycle)

4 What are people saying or thinking in these situations? Complete each statement.

Vocabulary

want, expect, love, bear, etc.

want, wish, hope, long for / to pattern	meaning / use	example

want + noun	desire sth	I want some money. want + (sb) + to-infinitive	desire (sb) to do sth	I want to go on holiday. wish + Past Simple wish + could	want sth though it is unlikely or impossible	I wish I had a dog. I wish I could fly. wish + to-infinitive	want (formal) to do sth	I wish to make a complaint. wish sb + noun phrase	hope sth for sb	I wish you luck in your career. hope + noun clause	want and believe sth is possible	I hope you're coming with us. hope + to-infinitive	want to do sth	I hope to see you on Saturday. (slightly formal)

- Want can have a direct object immediately after it, but we cannot use wish and hope in this way:
~~X I wish a drink.~~ ~~X I hope a drink.~~
 ✓ I want a drink.
- We can use wish and hope, but not want, with a noun clause:
~~X I want (that) you are happy.~~
 ✓ I hope (that) you will be happy.
 ✓ I wish (that) you could be happy.

expect, wait for, look forward to, long for

form	meaning / use	example
expect + noun	demand sth	I expect respect from my children. expect (sb) + to-infinitive	think or demand that sth will happen	I expect you to call me. He expects to get a mobile phone for Christmas. expect + that-clause	believe that sth will happen	I expect (that) she'll do well. wait for sb / sth	stay until sth happens	They're waiting for a taxi. can't wait (+ to-infinitive) can't wait (for sth)	be very excited about sth	I can hardly wait to see you! I can't wait for my birthday! look forward to sth look forward to + -ing	be excited about the future	I'm looking forward to Saturday. I'm looking forward to seeing you. X I look forward to receive your letter. ✓ I look forward to receiving your letter. like, love, be fond of, be keen on

form	meaning / use	example
like sth	enjoy sth or think it is nice	I like your new dress.
like sb	think sb is nice and enjoy being with them	I don't think he likes me.
like noun	prefer sth	How do you like your coffee?
like + to -infinitive	prefer to do sth	I like to take a walk in the morning.
like + -ing form	prefer doing sth	I like looking at clouds.
love sb	have deep feelings for sb; to feel strong romantic attraction to sb	Children need to be loved. He was the only man she ever loved.
love sth + to -infinitive	like sth very much	I love carrots.
love + -ing	like doing sth	He loves to talk about himself. I love gardening.
be fond of sb / sth	like sb/sth very much	John's quite fond of Mary, isn't he?
be fond of + -ing	like doing sth very much	I'm very fond of walking in the mountains.
be keen on sth / -ing	be very interested in sth / doing it often	I'm keen on tennis – I take part in a lot of competitions. I'm keen on gardening.
be keen on sb	be very attracted to sb romantically	He must be pretty keen on her – they've been dancing all night.
be keen + to -infinitive	want very much to start doing sth	I'm keen to learn Japanese.

- We use both be fond of and be keen on with -ing:
I'm fond of swimming. (= I like swimming very much)
I'm keen on swimming. (= I do a lot of swimming)
- We can use be keen (but not fond) with a to-infinitive:
She's keen to get back to work.
- Note that be keen on -ing means 'interested in -ing' but be keen to do it means 'want very much to start doing it'.

stand, bear

form	meaning / use	example
can't stand sb / sth	find sth or sth very unpleasant	I can't stand coconut.
can't/won't stand sth	can't/won't accept an unpleasant situation	I don't know if I can stand the tension any longer. I won't stand any nonsense.
can't stand + -ing	not be able to accept or like doing sth	Anne can't stand working in Mr Brown's office.
can't/couldn't bear sb / sth	find sb or sth extremely unpleasant	Oh, I can't bear that man! Please don't leave me alone – I couldn't bear it.
can/can't bear (sb) + -ing	(not) be able to accept or like (sb) doing sth	He can't bear people being late. He can't bear watching sport on TV.
can/can't bear + to -infinitive	(not) be able to accept or like	How can you bear to work all day in that little room?

- Can't bear is similar to can't stand, but often suggests stronger anger, fear or sadness.

Practice

1 Underline the correct word or phrase in these sentences.

- 1 Hi! I just wanted/wished to say how much I enjoyed our chat last night.
- 2 I hope/want everything goes well and you arrive safe and sound.
- 3 Congratulations. We all hope/wish you every happiness and prosperity.
- 4 I am hoping/wishing to go and study abroad next year.
- 5 I am expecting/waiting the postman any minute now.
- 6 I've been waiting for/expecting you in the rain since nine o'clock. Where have you been?
- 7 I wait for/expect respect from my children.
- 8 I am so expecting/looking forward to seeing my friends again after three months away.
- 9 He told her he loved/liked her with all his heart.
- 10 I like/am keen on David but we have never been close friends.
- 11 I quite like/love my neighbours and we do seem to get on quite well.
- 12 I am keen/fond to get out of hospital and lead a normal life again.
- 13 I'm actually not very keen on/to watching TV. I hardly ever switch it on.
- 14 I can't bear/like it when you're angry. I get really upset.

2 Fill the gaps in the following text with one suitable word.

The best years of your life?

Most people look back on school with fond memories, but while they are going through the experience they can't (1) for it to be over. One joke that students are very (2) of repeating is that what they (3) best about school is the breaks. And what they look forward (4) most of all is the end of term and going on holiday. I think it would be unrealistic to (5) much enthusiasm from children for maths on a Monday morning.

Oddly enough, I was quite fond (6) school at the time and look back on most of my old teachers with affection. Moreover, I am quite (7) on my job and even enjoy the company of noisy children. However, there are some things I (8) from my classes if we are all to get on well. The first thing I tell them is that I will not accept bullying or disrespect towards other students. I (9) I am not being too strict or old-fashioned but I do (10) all members of the class to feel respected. Outside class, I'm not at all keen (11) marking huge piles of examination scripts. I simply (12) stand the idea of spending hours writing corrections in red ink, knowing that most students will not bother to look at them.

prefixes (2)

We have seen (see 2e) that we use prefixes to change meaning. They never change the part of speech. (Most suffixes change the part of speech.)

- Many prefixes give a word a meaning which is the negative of the original. Examples are dis, in, un. Other prefixes change meaning in different ways, for example:
multi + ethnic = multiethnic (= made up of many different ethnic groups)

Here are some more prefixes:

prefix	meaning/use	example
de + verb / noun	opposite	decentralise
de + verb	remove	debone
de + verb	reduce	devalue
ex + noun	previous	ex-husband
macro- noun	large	macroeconomics
micro + noun	very small	microelectronics
mini + noun	small	mini hi-fi
mono + noun	one	monolingual
multi + noun / adjective	many	multipurpose
semi + noun / adjective	half	semicircle
semi + adjective	partly	semiliterate
sub + noun	under	subterranean
sub + noun	less/lower	subcommittee

She went to great trouble to debone the fish.

A BREATH OF FRESH AIR

The Government has decided to take the (1) decision to ban smoking in a lot of public places. Though a lot of people find smoking (2), and though experts all agree it is (3) and that it costs the state a lot to treat victims of smoking, it is also (4) that many people get pleasure from the habit and find smoking (5) when they are in company. However, it is now (6) to deny the antisocial nature of the habit. As advertising has proved (7) with many smokers, the Government has now made smoking (8) in most public places.

Smokers who are (9) to stop smoking will be obliged to enjoy their pastime in private and may feel the new measures are (10), but for passive smokers for whom a room full of smoke is (11) they will come as a breath of fresh air.

time and condition clauses with future reference

When we talk about something in the future, we can use a conjunction related to time or condition (called a 'time clause' or 'condition clause').

- To refer to the future after these conjunctions, we use the Present Simple (not will).

time clauses

Here are the conjunctions we use with time clauses:

form	meaning / use	example
after + Present Simple	when (a future event has happened)	I'll see you after I get back from my holiday.
as soon as + Present Simple	immediately after (sth happens)	As soon as he arrives at the hotel, call a taxi.
before + Present Simple	earlier than (a future event)	Finish your work before Mum comes home.
by the time (that) + Present Simple	during the time before (sth happens)	He'll have gone by the time you get here.
immediately + Present Simple	at the same time as	Tell me immediately you arrive.
once + Present Simple	immediately after (sth happens)	Once she arrives, we can start.
until + Present Simple	up to the time that	Keep writing until I tell you to stop.
when + Present Simple	immediately after	I'll call you when I'm free.
whenever + Present Simple	at any time that	Phone me whenever it's convenient.
while + Present Simple	during the time that	Let's forget work while we're on holiday.

- We can use the Present Perfect in time clauses instead of the Present Simple. Compare these two sentences:

I'll take up gardening when I retire.

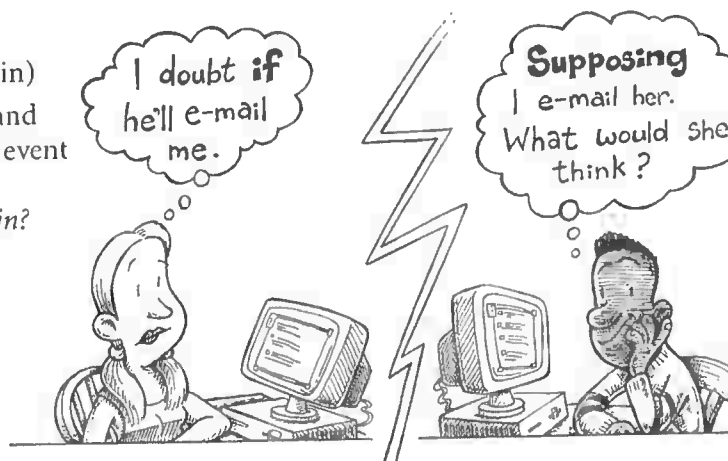

(= emphasis on activity)

I'll take up gardening when I have retired.

(= emphasis on when the activity will begin)

- We can use the Past Simple after suppose and supposing when referring to an imaginary event in the future:

Supposing you failed – would you try again?

condition clauses

form	meaning / use	example
as / so long as + Present Simple (just) in case + Present Simple	but only if because it is possible that (sth happens)	I'll come as / so long as you pay. Take an umbrella just in case it rains.
on condition that + Present Simple provided/providing (that) + Present Simple	but only if (sth else happens) but only if (sth happens)	I'll lend you the money on condition that you give it back soon. We'll get there on time provided we leave now.
suppose/supposing + Present Simple	imagine that	Supposing you fall ill, what will you do?
unless + Present Simple	except if (sth happens as is true in future)	We won't go for a walk unless it's sunny.
whether (... or not) + Present Simple	introducing future possibilities or alternatives	Whether we win or not depends on how committed we are.

(See also 5a.)

- When a clause beginning with if, whether, when, etc. is the object of the sentence, we can use will:

OBJECT

I doubt if/whether David will come.
I don't know when they'll come back.

Practice

1 Underline the correct expression in the following sentences.

Example: You can drop in and see us whenever / on condition you like.

- 1 Until/When he arrives, everyone must stand.
- 2 We're not going to stop digging until/as soon as we find the ancient ruins.
- 3 They're going to check the building before/as long as the President arrives.
- 4 Those flowers will be in bloom immediately/by the time spring comes.
- 5 Please phone your dad by the time/immediately.
- 6 Supposing/In case you had a baby girl – what would you call her?
- 7 Whether/If Chelsea wins the Cup depends on Dennis being on good form.
- 8 When/After the Smiths arrive, ask them to wait outside my office.
- 9 As soon as/Before you hear the alarm, run for the exit.
- 10 You'll recover quickly once/provided you rest.

- 2 Complete the following sentences with the correct forms of the words in brackets. Use will, going to, Present Simple or the Present Perfect. There may be two possibilities.

Example: As soon as I (save) enough money, I'm going to go on a long holiday.
As soon as I save/have saved enough money, I'm going to go on a long holiday.

- 1 I hope you'll still be awake when I (come) home.

Practice

1 Fill each space with an appropriate phrase or clause referring to the future.

Example: They are due to set off early tomorrow.

- Fasten your seatbelts – we take off.
- The boat leave at 10am.
- You take the car without my permission.
- Doctors claim they a breakthrough.
- He giving up but you can help him.
- how much the painting costs, I must have it.
- much it costs, I'll buy it.
- I be at a conference in Berlin on Monday.
- I drive, I don't drink.
- They change the style of the exam from December 1999.

- 2 Complete each of these sentences with the correct form of a verb from the list. Use an -ing form, to-infinitive or Present Simple.

arrive expire perform do live hide begin burst run choose see leave

- 1 He was on the point of his speech when the alarm went off.
- 2 She was so upset she was on the verge of into tears.
- 3 The Prime Minister is in Brussels at 14.30.
- 4 I am about my last trick, ladies and gentlemen.
- 5 Your subscription is due next month.

- 7 No matter what he, he'll never be a successful actor.
- 8 Whenever you Jane, will you tell her to give me a ring?
- 9 No matter who they for the job of manager, the factory will still close.
- 10 Wherever the convict, the police will find him.
- 11 She won't break the world record however fast she
- 12 No matter where we, we will still have to travel to get to work.

- 3 Fill each space in the following text with a suitable word or phrase. The first is given as an example.

Save the city centre

The council are about to make important changes in the city centre but I'm afraid that (1) they do, the problems will still remain. No matter (2) many new car parks they (3) at the edge of the city, traffic jams will not go away. The council has been (4) the verge of banning cars in the historic centre of the city but, (5) to do business interests (6) react and do their best to oppose the new policy.

Some measures have already been introduced. The mayor is (7) to open a new pedestrian precinct in the old market.

It has already been announced that cars (8) not to park in the pedestrian area and, whenever they (9), they will be clamped. This is a necessary step if the city centre (10) to become more pleasant for shoppers.

Unfortunately, (11) hard they try, there is one problem the local authorities cannot solve: crime. Shoplifting and pickpocketing increase (12) what measures the police (13). If we want our cities to be safer, we (14) to grumble if local taxes increase.

So there I am sitting in my seat, on the verge of a nervous breakdown. 'We are about to leave,' says the man next to me, grinning. The noise of the engines is deafening and I'm on the point of being sick. The steward bends over me and says, 'We're due to take off soon, sir. Would you like sweets or cotton wool?' 'I'd rather have the cotton wool, please. Whenever I have sweets, they fall out of my ears.'

expressions of time and preference

it's time

We can talk about what should happen now or in the immediate future using it's time... in the following patterns:

it's time + to-infinitive:

It's time to go to bed.

~~X It's time we go home to bed.~~

✓ It's time to go home.

it's time + prepositional phrase:

It's time for bed.

it's time + for sb + to-infinitive:

It's time for you to go to bed.

- In the following patterns, a Past tense refers to things that should be done now or very soon:

it's time + sb/sth + Past Simple:

Hurry up. It's time we left.

It's time you were in bed.

~~X It's time you will go to bed.~~

✓ It's time you went to bed.

it's time + sb/sth + Past Continuous:

It's time we were leaving.

it's high time + sb/sth + Past Simple or Past Continuous for emphasis:

It's high time we left – we've been here too long.

It's high time you were earning your own living.

it's about time + Past Simple or Past Continuous for emphasis, often suggesting criticism:

It's about time we took global warming seriously.

would rather

We can express a present or future preference using would rather in two patterns:

would rather + bare infinitive:

I'd rather stay in this evening (than go out).

Would you rather go with them (or stay with me)?

~~X I'd rather to have coffee.~~

✓ I'd rather have coffee.

would rather + sb + Past Simple (+ than):

We'd rather you stayed a little longer.

I'd rather Anne didn't come to the meeting.

~~X I'd rather you to come now than at six o'clock.~~

✓ I'd rather you came now than at six o'clock.

- We can also use would rather to refer to the past by using the Past Perfect:

would rather + sb + Past Perfect:

I'd rather you had asked me before you bought me the shirt. (= but you didn't) would sooner

This is an alternative to would rather, and follows the same patterns:

I'd sooner stay in than go out.

I'd sooner you didn't wait for us.

would prefer

Would prefer can take the following patterns:

- would prefer + to-infinitive or -ing:

She'd prefer not to watch the film.

I'd prefer eating seafood.

- would prefer + to-infinitive + (rather) than + bare infinitive:

I'd prefer to stay in (rather) than go out.

- would prefer + sb + to-infinitive or -ing:

We'd prefer you to stay.

I'd prefer you not to come.

- would prefer it if + sb + Past Simple:

She'd prefer it if you didn't come.

Practice

- 8 I have to go and pick the children up from school now.
me
It's time pick up the children from school.
- 9 We should have redecorated the living room long ago.
had
It's high time we redecorated.

Vocabulary

afterwards, after, until, as far as, etc.

afterwards

Afterwards is an adverb; we can use it as a link word and it means 'following this event':

The ceremony lasts half an hour. Afterwards, there's a reception.

- We can also use it at the end of a sentence with the meaning 'later':
My parents met at university but didn't marry till five years afterwards.

afterwards and then

When one action follows another within a short time, we can use either afterwards or then:

We all had lunch together. Afterwards/Then we went to the beach.

- To introduce the next action in a series of instructions, we use then:
Check that the paper is properly loaded. Then press the start button. Then...

afterwards and later (on)

Afterwards suggests that the next thing happens quite soon after the last one has finished:

On Saturday, I went to see Adrian in hospital. Afterwards, I drove into town to do some shopping.

- If there is a longer interval between the two events, we can use later, much later or later on, especially for events later the same day:
I couldn't understand why she hadn't answered my letters. Later, I realised she'd moved to a new address.
I saw an unfamiliar woman on the stairs. Later on, I discovered she was my new neighbour.
My first aim is to graduate. Afterwards/After that I'd like to go and work in Canada.

after and in

We can use after as a preposition before a time expression, e.g. after a week, to talk about an action in the past:

After a few days, I felt much better.

She left after an hour.

~~X I'm hoping to visit America. After, I'd like to visit Mexico.~~

✓ I'm hoping to visit America. Afterwards/After that I'd like to travel to Mexico.

- When we use after before a time expression, we are talking about later events in the past. For the future, we use in (sec 14a):
She left after five minutes.
She'll be leaving in an hour.

by and until/till

- We use by for an action which happens before, or no later than, a certain time:
Could you let us know your decision by Friday?
- We use until/till for an action or state continuing up to the time mentioned:
Let's not continue the walk until the rain stops.

until/till, to and as far (as)

- We use until or till in connection with time:
The shops are open until six.
I'll be here till five o'clock.
- When we are talking about direction towards or distance, we use to or as far (as). We use to meaning 'towards and stopping at a particular place'. We use as far (as) to emphasise the distance:
Do you know which bus goes to Marble Arch?
It doesn't go as far as that.

Practice

1 Underline the correct word or phrase in these sentences.

- 1 I have to submit my report by/until the end of the month.
- 2 They came in June and left two months afterwards/then.
- 3 We had a quick coffee and afterwards/later on we ran to the bus stop.
- 4 I had a shave and after/then I had a shower.
- 5 We stayed in the club till/as far as it closed.
- 6 I saw him enter the bank at about one o'clock. Ten minutes later/after, he ran out with a bag full of money.
- 7 We need your response by/until tonight.
- 8 You can stay till/by the weekend.
- 9 After/Afterwards a few hours, the mist disappeared.
- 10 We are going to leave Italy after/in a couple of months to go and live in the States.

2 Fill in each space in these sentences with an appropriate word or phrase.

- 1 I'll see you a couple of minutes.
- 2 At first I was bored, but on, I enjoyed it.
- 3 To start the machine, switch it on. press the red button.
- 4 On Sunday morning we went for a stroll round the park., we went for a meal.
- 5 I felt really sick at first but a few days I recovered.
- 6 I'd like the translation to be ready January 28, please.
- 7 We waited ten o'clock then we decided to go home.
- 8 We ran as the bridge and then stopped.

3 Fill each space in this text with one appropriate word. The first has been done as an example.

A NIGHT BY THE ROADSIDE

Did I tell you about the night Max and I drove through the Highlandsto..... Oban? We had got (1) far as a deserted cottage and (2) looking at the map, we wondered whether we should turn back. It was getting really dark (3) then and we weren't at all sure about the weather. We thought about it for a while and (4) decided Oban was too interesting to miss. (5) on, when we had returned safe and sound and (6) chatting about all the terrible things that had happened, we realised how crazy we had been to do what we did - we should have waited (7) morning. Anyway, we had to stop to change a wheel, and almost immediately (8) we drove along a narrow path and suddenly the car plunged into a deep ditch full of water! (9) an hour or so of trying to get the car out, it finally dawned on us that we were stuck. Max had his mobile phone and called for help and the mechanic said he would be there (10) an hour's time, and (11) we were less frightened. But, a few minutes (12) we heard a terrible scream...

Part 2

For Questions 16–30, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space. There is an example at the beginning (0).

A RELAXING HOLIDAY

Martha looked at her watch in a panic. They should've been on their way.... (0) to the airport by now. 'George, it's time we (16) going; if we don't get moving we going to (17) the flight.' No sooner had she spoken the words than she wished she (18) kept quiet. She knew George couldn't (19) to be rushed. He had always liked to (20) his time over everything. 'Patience is a virtue,' he was (21) of saying and Martha had got used to (22) around for George. 'Martha,' came the reply from the bathroom. 'I (23) you'd stop saying that and get on with the packing.' She had been (24) forward to this trip for months and now it (25) time to set off for the airport and they were far from ready. (26) only she had listened to Jenny's advice and chosen a holiday a bit nearer home. She couldn't (27) flying anyway and if they had decided to (28) a couple of weeks in the country they (29) be nicely settled in their little cottage now. It would take (30) half an hour to get to the airport and then they could expect to find long queues at the check-in counters. It was always the same hassle.

Part 3

For Questions 31–40, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between two and five words, including the word given. Here is an example (0).

Example: 0 Let me know immediately she arrives.

soon

Let me know as soon as she arrives.

31 My dad will be back when he has finished shopping.

My dad he has finished the shopping.

32 The taxi may be expensive so take plenty of money.

case

Take plenty of money expensive.

33 They are waiting for him to arrive at any minute.

due

He at any minute.

34 'Did you remember to bring your homework?' the teacher asked the class.

if

The teacher asked the class to bring their homework.

- 35 'Do you want to come out or not?' Jane asked Peter.
whether
Jane asked to come out or not.
- 36 Take my advice and stop smoking.
were
If stop smoking.
- 37 Without a key we won't be able to get into the house.
unless
We won't be able to get into the house a key.
- 38 Unless he phones immediately, he's going to miss us.
if
He's going to miss us immediately.
- 39 I can meet you if you arrive before seven.
long
I can meet you before seven.
- 40 The receipt is essential if you want a refund.
provided
They will give you a refund the receipt.

Part 4

For Questions 41–55, read the text below and look carefully at each line. Some of the lines are correct, and some have a word which should not be there. If a line is correct, put a tick (✓) at the end of the line. If a line has a word which should not be there, write the word at the end of the line. There are two examples at the beginning (O) and (OO).

NOTHING LIKE A GOOD STORY

- O I find the way children spend hours just at watching TVat.....
- OO quite depressing. It can't be good for their imagination. I'm not✓.....
- 41 very keen on watching myself. I'd rather to read a good
- 42 book. I wish children would have switch off the TV and learn
- 43 to enjoy the pleasures of reading. I have always been very
- 44 fond of the reading – this comes from my mother who was
- 45 a marvellous storyteller. When it was the time for us to go to
- 46 bed she would say 'It's time we have had another story.' If
- 47 she'd said 'Get into bed and switch the light off' it would
- 48 have been not very different. As it was, we began to look
- 49 forward go to bedtime because we were expecting yet
- 50 another unforgettable tale. If only wish I had had more
- 51 the time to tell my children more stories when they were

- 52 growing up. If they had been got into the habit of listening to 53 stories at bedtime, they'd have grown to love literature more.
 54 They can't stand to reading books now because 55 they'd sooner they play some computer games instead.

Part 5

For Questions 56–65, read the text below. Use the word given in capitals at the end of each line to form a word that fits in the space in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0).

IT'S NEVER TOO LATE TO LEARN?

My attempt to teach myself Spanish has been ~~unsuccessful~~. (0) SUCCESS so far and I am wondering whether I am simply (56) ABLE to learn foreign languages at my age. I am not (57) PATIENCE and neither am I (58), so why have I found it almost INTELLIGENCE
 (59) to learn more than just the basics of Spanish after POSSIBLE nearly six months of study? My vocabulary is (60) ADEQUATE beyond very basic expressions and my grammar is (61) SATISFY to say the least. It is not only that my Spanish is (62) CORRECT but I suspect I sound very (63), too. Recently, I met POLITE a Cuban tourist in a café and (64), I must have FORTUNE said something (65) because she looked very APPROPRIATE offended and got up and sat at another table.

forming the passive

The passive has a form of be + past participle. The form of be is the same as the tense in the active equivalent.

tense	passive form	example: passive	example: active
Present Simple	am / are / is + past participle	Important subjects are discussed every lunch time.	They discuss important subjects every lunch time.
Past Simple	was / were + past participle	The date for the talks was announced. The school has built by the local government. The school was built by the local government.	They announced the date for the talks.
Future Simple	will be + past participle	You will be examined by a top consultant.	A top consultant will examine you.
be going to (future)	am / are / is going to be + past participle	The factory is going to be closed.	They are going to close the factory.
modal passive	modal verb + be + past participle	The house must be cleaned.	You must clean the house
Present Continuous	am / are / is being + past participle	This matter is still being considered.	They are still considering this matter.
Past Continuous	was / were being + past participle	Every effort was being made to end the strike.	They were making every effort to end the strike.
Present Perfect	has / have been + past participle	The new stadium has been built in London.	They have built a new stadium in London.
Past Perfect	had been + past participle	The work had been finished by the end of 1999.	They had finished the work by the end of 1999.
Future Perfect	will have been + past participle	In the next ten years, full equality will have been achieved.	In the next ten years, women will have achieved full equality.

- Because of the need to combine be/been with being, e.g. We will be being watched or We have been being watched, we avoid using the passive in the Present Perfect Continuous, the Past Perfect Continuous, Future Continuous and the Future Perfect Continuous.
 Avoid: ~~We will be being watched.~~ ✓ They will be watching us.

- We form passive questions and negatives in the same way as the active:
When are important subjects discussed?
They are not discussed every lunch time.
- In passive sentences we place adverbs of time or frequency, e.g. always, sometimes, etc. after the first auxiliary verb (is, has, will, etc.):
It is usually made of wood.
They have just been found.
She will never be asked.

Practice

1 Fill in each space using the correct form of the verb in brackets.

Example: The police report that the missing person (find)

The police report that the missing person has been found.

- 1 The news every day from 6am to midnight. (broadcast)
- 2 At this very moment the suspect by the police. (interview)
- 3 And now a newsflash. The President with committing perjury. (charge)
- 4 A new security system in all our offices in the next few weeks. (install)
- 5 By November 30 a new government (elect)
- 6 There must be a mistake: the hotel bill by my wife. (pay)
- 7 When we got home, we realised the house (burgle)
- 8 The building when a second bomb went off. (evacuate)
- 9 The Government says tax reforms in the new year. (introduce)
- 10 Newspapers in some countries in kiosks as well as shops. (sell)

2 Rewrite these sentences in the passive.

- 1 We do not add any preservatives to our products.
.....
- 2 The Government is now building a lot of new schools in the provinces.
.....
- 3 The police have just arrested him on suspicion of murder.
.....
- 4 Will they publish her new book next month?
.....
- 5 They will have completed the new motorway by Christmas.
.....
- 6 We haven't cleaned the house for weeks.
.....
- 7 The company cut the water off because Mr and Mrs Dixon hadn't paid their bill.
.....
- 8 They are going to open the new supermarket next week.
.....
- 9 They couldn't use the car because the garage was servicing it.
.....
- 10 They publish a lot of books on information technology.
.....

The service in the hotel was so bad that when I asked for a hot towel, I was told to put a cold one on the radiator.

- 3 Fill in the spaces in this text. Use a verb in the list and an appropriate form of the passive. The first is given as an example.

~~produce~~ interview (x2) design renovate award base build consider (x2) show equip provide close visit

A REPORT

This report has been produced at the request of the Hotel and Catering Association. The survey on which the report (1) was carried out between March 25 and March 30, 1999. Twenty hotel managers (2) for the purposes of this report. The majority of the hotels which (3) (all in the Brighton area) (4) in the last twenty years and (5) to meet the needs of the modern tourist. One hotel which (6) unacceptable by the Association (7) at the end of the tourist season. Some of the older ones (8) recently and also meet the highest standards. This (9) by the fact that all the hotels (10) with modern facilities, from swimming pools to satellite TV. In addition, the usual services (11) (room service, laundry service) and the restaurant and bar service (12) satisfactory in most cases. Most of the hotel staff who (13) were highly qualified or experienced. Seventy-five per cent of the hotels in this report (14) a three or four star rating by the tourist board.

reasons for using the passive; the agent

We use the passive in the following situations:

situation	example
when it is obvious or not important to say who, what, etc. is the subject	He was born in 1991. The meeting has been changed to Thursday. A cure hasn't been found yet.
avoiding using I, we, they, one , etc.	The job will be finished by tonight. reports	Food must be found for the refugees. describing a process	The beans are separated from the shells and then they are put into sacks. official announcements	Fees must be paid in advance. scientific texts	The liquid is heated to a temperature of 60°C.

We often use report verbs such as think, suggest, believe, etc. in the passive, often with impersonal it:

It was reported that many people were killed.

She is thought to have been the finest cellist this century.

- The structure be supposed to has a separate meaning from is thought to:
She's supposed to be your friend. (= she isn't behaving like a friend)
- We use a group of verbs more often in the passive than in the active. These include:
be born be jailed be fined be horrified be wounded be overcome
- When we use verbs with two objects (a person and something), either object can be the subject of the sentence in the passive sentence:
Jane gave him some money. (= active form)
He was given some money by Jane.
Some money was given to him by Jane.
- It is more common, however, for the person to be made the subject of the passive verb:
Carmen taught him all the Spanish he knows.
He was taught all the Spanish he knows by Carmen.
All the Spanish he knows was taught to him by Carmen. (= possible, but clumsy)
- We cannot use intransitive verbs in the passive because they cannot have an object:
✗ The job will be seemed easy at first.
✓ The job will seem easy at first.

mentioning the agent

When we form passives, we do not usually mention the person or thing responsible for the action (the agent). We are usually more interested in what happens. When we mention the agent, we generally use by when we mention who or what was responsible, and with when we mention the instrument used:

The car had been driven by my younger brother.

The victim had been killed with a bread knife.

- We can follow some verbs with by or with:
The airport was surrounded by soldiers.
The airport was surrounded with soldiers.
- We follow verbs such as cover with by, in or with:
Its body was covered by / in / with flies.
- We mention the agent only when this information is important. If the agent is obvious, unknown, or is 'people in general', we omit it:
He was fined for driving without a licence.
- In particular, we mention the agent when we add information about it in the next part of the sentence:
The car had been driven by my younger brother who didn't have a driving licence.
- We do not mention the agent when we want to hide the information or we want to avoid taking responsibility for an action:
I've been told not to say anything.
Taxes will have to be raised next year.

Practice

- 1 Rewrite the following active sentences using two passive forms, making the underlined words the subject. Omit the agent if it is not necessary.

Example: The company sent him a letter. He was sent a letter by the company.

A letter was sent to him by the company.

- 1 They've just sent me a whole lot of junk mail.
- 2 The Credit Bank lent me two thousand pounds in 1999.
- 3 They gave each of the children a bottle of milk every day.
- 4 They showed us the sights of the city.
- 5 They will pay the workers £50 every Friday.
- 6 Someone had promised the children more food.
- 7 The magician told them the secret.
- 8 They offered her the job.
- 9 One of his uncles had taught him maths.
- 10 Someone gave the animal charity a lot of money.

- 2 Match a first part (1–10) with a second part (a–j). Use all the parts.

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 A decision to strike was taken | a with a penknife. |
| 2 This church was designed | b by beautiful grounds. |
| 3 I was shocked | c by a hunter with a rifle. |
| 4 He was shot | d by some of the workers. |
| 5 He had been stabbed | e by Christopher Wren. |
| 6 His trousers were completely covered | f with a stick. |
| 7 The house was surrounded | g by her rude behaviour. |
| 8 Her bedroom wall was covered | h by a priest in a tiny little church. |
| 9 They were married | i with posters of her favourite singers. |
| 10 He used to be beaten | j in oil. |

- 3 Complete the second sentence so that it is as similar in meaning as possible to the first sentence, using the word given. This word must not be changed. You must use between two and five words, including the word given.

Example: There was bitter opposition to the proposal.

opposed

The proposal was bitterly opposed.

- 1 They say the country is on the verge of civil war.
said
The country on the verge of civil war.
- 2 People thought the President was ill.
be
The President ill.
- 3 People have suggested that you could be on the committee.
put

- 4 People believe he escaped with the money.
run
He is off with the money.
- 5 They thought he was the best actor for the part.
considered
He the best actor for the part.
- 6 People always thought she was very good at maths, but she made some basic mistakes.
supposed
She very good at maths, but she made some basic mistakes.
- 7 The directors decided to discuss the matter at the next meeting.

- 9 Everything I know about art I learnt from Mrs Robinson.
was
I about art by Mrs Robinson.
- 10 The court ordered him to pay a fine of £100.
was
He a fine of £100 by the court.

I am informed from many quarters that a rumour has been put about that I died this morning. This is quite untrue.

causative get and have*form*active

The active pattern is get + sb + to-infinitive or have + sb + bare infinitive:

I'll get my assistant to bring you the other pair of shoes.

Shall I have my secretary send you the details?

passive

The passive pattern is get/have + object + past participle:

I'm getting/having my house decorated at the moment.

You ought to get/have your blood pressure checked.

use

Causative get and have mean 'ask or cause somebody to do something' in the active form, and 'arrange for somebody else to do something' in the passive. Get is more common in British English – have is now more formal except in some situations described opposite.

- Sometimes causative get/have suggests the need to deal with a difficulty:
I'm afraid you'll have to get/have the whole house rewired.
- We use have in the passive when something unpleasant happens. Get is much less common than have in these situations:
I had my wallet stolen in the crowd.
He had his car broken into last night.
- Sometimes when we use have, meaning depends on context:
We've had the bricks removed. (= either we arranged for somebody to take them, or somebody stole them)
- We use get, not have, when somebody else has to work on our behalf:
One of these days I'm going to get myself elected onto the committee.

get + past participle

We often use get + past participle meaning 'become':

She got dressed and went downstairs.

My dog got run over by a removal van.

Practice

- 1 Complete the second sentence in these exchanges using the verb in brackets and any other words given. Use the causative form with have or get.

Example: A: 'Your hair looks nice.'

B: 'Thanks, I've just' (cut)

B: 'Thanks, I've just had it cut.'

- A: 'I'm finding it difficult to read small print nowadays.'
B: 'Why don't you go and ?' (eyes; test)
- A: 'What a lovely dress – where did you buy it?'
B: 'I didn't. I by the dressmaker down the road.' (make)
- A: 'My car's been making some funny noises just lately.'
B: 'You should' (service)

- 4 A: 'Your hair looks different! What have you done to it?'
B: 'I , that's all.' (just; cut)
- 5 A: 'This house is freezing.'
B: 'Yes, we need ?' (central heating; install)
- 6 A: 'The living room looks lovely.'
B: 'I'm glad you like it. We've ?' (just; redecorate)
- 7 A: 'Why aren't you wearing your watch?'
B: 'I at the moment.' (repair)
- 8 A: 'Oops! Sorry, I've spilt some wine on your trousers.'
B: 'Don't worry. I was going to anyway.' (clean)
- 9 A: 'That tree is blocking the view from my front window.'
B: 'Well, you don't expect me , do you?' (cut down)
- 10 A: 'I've got a terrible toothache.'
B: 'Well, why don't you go and ?' (that cavity; fill)

2 Complete each space in this text with a suitable word. The first (0) is given as an example.

ONE OF THOSE DAYS

It's been one of those days and it isn't over yet. First of all, I had to take the car to the garage to have the brakes repaired. (0). The car was in a bad enough state, but we (1) had it damaged even more by some idiot as we were waiting at the traffic lights the other day. He bumped into the back of the car and we told him he would have to pay to (2) the car (3) and he said he would (4) it paid for by his insurance company. I certainly hope he does. The mechanic told me I could've (5) myself killed driving the car and that we should've (6) the brakes checked months ago.

I left the car at the garage, then went straight to the hairdresser to have my hair (7). I wanted to have (8) cut really short, so it took ages. After that, I had to take Bill's suit to the dry-cleaner's to (9) it cleaned after he had had wine (10) over it at the party last night. Next, I had to go to the supermarket. When I had finished, my bags were so heavy I had to (11) them delivered to my house – and that cost more money. And the day isn't half over yet. I've still got to have my photograph (12) for a new passport – my old one (13) stolen when we had our house (14) a few months back. What a life! Things can't get worse, can they?

WAITER: How would you like to have your egg cooked sir?

CUSTOMER: Is there any difference in the price?

WAITER: No, sir.

CUSTOMER: Then I'll have my egg cooked with ham, potatoes and sausages.

understand	Oh, I get it. You put the paper in here and then press the button.
bring	Run upstairs and get a pillow.
get to + noun phrase = reach	We got to the end of the book. have got

For the meanings below, we often use have got instead of have in spoken English.

meaning / use	example possess	What kind of car has she got? X I got two sisters. ✓ I've got two sisters. possess particular characteristics	She's got an awful temper.

For have (got) to, see page 46.

compound nouns

form

A compound noun consists of two or three words that function like one word. There are very many compound nouns in English.

form	example
noun + noun:	notebook, science fiction, timetable adjective + noun:	fast lane, fast food, first aid
verb + preposition:	break-up, check-out, take-over,
three words, with the first two words used adjectivally and usually joined with a hyphen	back-seat driver, one-parent family, ready-made meal, three-piece suite

- We sometimes write compound nouns as two words, sometimes with a hyphen and sometimes as one word:

address book	baby-sitter
brother-in-law	human being
mother tongue	pen-friend
road-works	sunglasses
youth hostel

There are no definite rules about this. If in doubt, consult a good modern dictionary.

countable or uncountable?

- Compound nouns may be countable:
one alarm clock – two alarm clocks a car-park – several car-parks a compact disc – many compact discs
- Compound nouns may be uncountable: air-traffic control chewing gum mineral water table tennis
- Some compound nouns have only a plural form:
armed forces baked beans
human rights road-works

For compound adjectives, see 9e.

TOTAL SCORE

Grammar

reported speech (1)

speech

When we quote someone's actual words, we can use reporting verbs such as say, reply, suggest, etc.:

'I knew the answer,' he said.
'Do you take sugar?' she asked.
'Let's go swimming,' Peter suggested.

- We can report statements, questions, requests, thoughts, etc.
- Here is a list of common reporting verbs:
add admit advise agree announce answer ask beg claim demand explain insist order persuade promise remind reply report say suggest tell think warn
- Some report verbs need an indirect object:
'Bring some money,' she reminded us.
The police told us, 'You won't be charged this time.'
- We often use report verbs that tell us more about the way someone says something:
'Jump now!' the fireman shouted.
'Get out of my house!' she screamed.
- Here are more examples of these verbs:
boast brag cry exclaim grumble insist moan mumble mutter stammer stutter whisper whine yell
- The reporting clause can come before, in the middle of, or after the direct quotation:
He stood up and announced, 'The party is over.'
'You see,' he grumbled, 'I can't really afford a holiday.'
'You mustn't give up,' his mother insisted.
- Notice the punctuation in the above examples: in the direct quotes, the comma or full stop comes inside the quotation marks.

- When a reporting verb comes after a quote, we can put the subject after the verb:

'I doubt if we'll win,' said John. (= John said)
'Wait here – I'll take a look,' whispered Jake.
'That's your girlfriend over there, isn't it?' asked Paula.

thoughts

We can quote people's thoughts in the same way as we can quote their speech. We can omit quotation marks:

I must go and visit Linda, Martha thought.

- Here are the common verbs we use for reporting thoughts:

assume believe consider contemplate imagine infer reflect ponder presuppose suppose think wonder statements

A common way of reporting someone's words is by using a noun clause beginning with that:

'I can't help you.' becomes: He admitted that he can't help us.

- However, we often omit that, especially when the reporting verb is say or think:

'I'm very clever.' becomes: He thinks he's (= a thought) very clever.

questions

We use ask, wonder or want to know to report questions:

He asked me where I went.

I was wondering why she's here.

He only wanted to know if we'd met each other before.

See also 8b.

suggestions

When we report suggestions, we can use suggest + noun clause with or without that. We can include a modal verb, usually should or could:

'Why not get your hair cut?' becomes: He suggested (that) I should get my hair cut.

'Let's go for a swim.' becomes: John suggested (that) we could go for a swim.

~~X Mary suggested us to postpone the meeting.~~

✓ Mary suggested (that) we should postpone the meeting.

- We often omit the modal verbs:
He suggested I get my hair cut.
John suggested we go for a swim.

commands

When we report requests, orders or commands, or other kinds of persuasion, we often use the pattern ask, etc. sb to do sth:

'Wake me up early, Dad!' becomes: Michael told his dad to wake him up early.
Michael said.

'Please let me watch the match, Mum,' Anne said. becomes: Anne begged her mum to let her watch the match.

- Here are common verbs which use this pattern:
advise ask beg command forbid instruct invite order persuade remind teach tell urge warn
- Notice that when we are reporting negative orders, requests, etc., not goes before the to-infinitive:
She begged him not to do it.
He taught us not to tell lies.

offers, etc.

When we report what a person said, we often use a verb which describes the speaker's intention, such as an offer or a refusal. The pattern is verb + to-infinitive:

'Can I help you?' becomes: She offered to help me.

'I won't do it.' becomes: He refused to do it.

- Similar verbs in this group include:
agree promise swear threaten volunteer vow changes to time words

We often make changes in reported speech to words related to time, e.g. tomorrow. These changes depend on each situation. Here are examples:

direct speech	reported speech
here	there ago	before before	earlier
last week	the week before next week	the next week / the week after / the following week
now	then / that day / at the moment this	that / the
these	those / the
that	that / the
this morning	that morning
today	that day
tomorrow	the next day / the following day
tonight	that night
yesterday	the day before / the previous day reported statements – tense changes

When we report statements that were made in the past, we change the tense of the original (direct) speech:

direct speech	reported speech	tense change
'I want to buy it.'	He said (that)... he wanted to buy it.	Present Simple becomes: Past Simple
'I'm writing a letter.'	he was writing a letter.	Present Continuous becomes: Past Continuous
'I've come to mend your car.'	he had come to mend my car.	Present Perfect becomes: Past Perfect
'I saw your brother.'	he had seen my brother. he saw my brother.	Past Simple becomes: Past Perfect (but, we need not change the tense if the order of events is clear)
'I was trying to do it.'	he had been trying to do it.	Past Continuous becomes: Past Perfect Continuous
'I'll help you.'	he would help me.	will becomes: would
'I can do it.'	he could do it.	can becomes: could
'I may do it.'	he might do it.	may becomes: might
'I must go.'	he had to go.	must becomes: had to

- We can keep the verb in a noun clause in the Present tense when we report things which are 'timeless', e.g. scientific theories:

Already in ancient times, some philosophers believed that matter consists of atoms.

Practice

1 Complete each sentence in reported speech.

Example: Let me help you.

My friend offered to help me.

- 'Why don't we go for a walk?'
She suggested
- 'I wasn't anywhere near the scene of the crime.'
The accused claimed
- 'This spot is the best place for a picnic.'
My father said
- 'The swallows return every spring and fly past my window.'
She explained
- 'Can you answer the phone? I'm having a shower!'
He asked his son
- 'I gave you my homework last week.'
The boy insisted
- 'Could you come and pick me up from school today, dad?'
Billy asked
- 'If I were you, I wouldn't drink so much.'
He advised his friend
- 'I won't help you because you didn't help me.'
a Joan said
b Joan refused
- 'I'll bring it back tomorrow.'
a He said
b He promised

2 Match the first part (1–10) with an appropriate reporting verb (a–j).

- | | |
|--|-------------------|
| 1 'If you do that again, I'll leave,' | a she whispered. |
| 2 'I'm now going to read out the results,' | b he answered. |
| 3 'Could you bring me the wine list?' | c she shouted. |
| 4 'Of course, I'll bring it right away,' | d she threatened. |
| 5 'Our team will easily beat yours,' | e she announced. |
| 6 'Please give me another chance,' | f he claimed. |
| 7 'Shhh! The baby's sleeping,' | g he asked. |
| 8 'I'm innocent of all the charges,' | h she begged. |
| 9 'First of all, you press the button,' | i he boasted. |
| 10 'Careful! The water's deep!' | j he explained. |

3 Finish these sentences using the information above. Use reported speech.

- | | |
|--------------------------------|----------------------------|
| 1 She threatened | 6 She begged them |
| 2 She announced that she | 7 She whispered that |
| 3 He asked the waiter | 8 He claimed |
| 4 The waiter answered | 9 He explained that |
| 5 He boasted that | 10 She shouted to us |

4 Complete the following letter using the correct form of a verb from the list. The first (0) is given as an example.

~~be~~ buy make snow give miss send cost have live plan go love think enjoy

Dear Rose,

Thanks for your letter. I've got lots of news for you this time. We went to see 'Titanic'. Everyone had said it^{was} (0) great and that nobody should (1) it. There has been a lot of publicity on TV about it recently which told us how much it (2) to make and all that, and Liz and Tony saw it and said they (3) it. I was a bit disappointed – I didn't think it (4) up to expectations. Anyway, I suggest you (5) and see it and (6) up your own mind.

Ah, yes, I got a call from your uncle in Canada who said he (7) you a parcel – have you got it yet? He said it (8) there, and everything was white but he added they always (9) a heavy winter. He also told me they (10) a new jeep and they (11) to travel round the States in it in the summer. He said he (12) us a ride in it if we popped over for a holiday. I replied that we (13) to go over if he agreed to pay all our expenses! He laughed and said he (14) about it and let us know!

reported speech: questions

When we report questions, we do not follow the normal question order. Instead, we use the word order of a statement:

'Can I leave the room?' I asked. becomes: I asked if I could leave the room.

X ~~She asked me where was I from.~~ ✓ She asked me where I was from.

- In very informal English, we can invert the subject and be but this is unusual:
 She asked where was the man going.
- When we report questions, we do not use quotation marks or a question mark:
 'How is Johnny getting on at school?' she asked. becomes: She asked how Johnny was getting on at school.

yes/no questions

When we report questions that can be answered by yes or no (for example Are you happy here? Do you live in a flat?), we use a noun clause beginning with if or whether:

'Are you happy here?' she asked. becomes: She asked me if/whether I was happy there.

'Does he live in a large flat?' she wondered. becomes: She wondered if/whether he lived in a large flat.

- We can usually use either if or whether:
 'Are the summers very hot there?' he enquired. becomes: He enquired if/whether the summers were very hot there.
- 'Have you always lived in the old town?' becomes: They asked him if/whether he had always lived in the old town.

See also 8a.

- However, we must use whether, not if, when we are asking someone to make a choice:
 'Do you want coffee or tea?' they asked. becomes: They asked me whether I wanted coffee or tea.
- We must also use whether when we include the phrase or not. We use whether...or not to emphasise the necessity for an answer, often because we are irritated or angry:
 'Are you going to tell me the answer or not?' she said. becomes: She asked him whether he was going to tell her the answer or not.
 'Is he coming or not?' becomes: Did he say whether he was coming or not?
- Here is a list of verbs and verb phrases we can use before if and whether clauses:
ask want to know wonder (not) say cannot remember enquire wh-questions

When we report a wh-question, we use the wh-word: who, where, why, what, etc. or how, how far, how long, etc.:

'Who built that castle?' she wanted to know. becomes: She wanted to know who had built that castle.

'Where did you go this summer?' becomes: He inquired where we had gone that summer.

'What time is it?' becomes: She asked us what the time was. / She wanted to know what time was.

tense changes

Tense changes for reported questions in the past are the same as for reported statements (see page 132).

Practice

1 Change the following into indirect questions beginning with the words given.

- 1 Can I have some more pocket money?
The boy asked
- 2 Where were you born?
She asked him
- 3 How far is the stadium?
He wanted to know
- 4 Are you still living in London?
She asked
- 5 Do you work in the central branch or in the provinces?
She asked him
- 6 Are you going to give me the money or not?
She wanted to know
- 7 Did he bring the book back?
I didn't know
- 8 Who bought the Picasso painting?
He wondered
- 9 Where did you get such a lovely pullover?
She asked her sister

2 Re-order these words to make yes/no and wh-questions which might be asked at a job interview.

Example: trip / did / have / you / nice / a Did you have a nice trip?

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 long / the / take / how / did / journey

3 Read the text below and add the word which best fits each space.

I have just been through the annual humiliation of buying a swimming costume. When I was young, some were designed for the fuller figure and did a good job. I wondered (1) I would find anything suitable. After all, today's stretch fabrics are styled for a flatter shape. I saw one floral costume and (2) if I should try it on. I looked like a hippopotamus! The sales assistant tried to be kind. She wanted (3) know where I (4) going for my holidays and how long I (5) be away. At last she gave up and suggested (6) I looked for something in the maternity department to cover my 'mature hips'. I said that I would go there the (7) day. I'll never have any luck, I (8) as I walked home. The next day I did find a plain blue costume and the assistant invited me to enter the chamber of horrors known as the fitting room. As I pulled the costume on, I stared in disbelief – my whole bust had disappeared under my armpits! A young sales girl was standing at the exit. She asked me rather rudely (9) I was going to buy the costume or (10). I pushed it into her hands and fled.

4 Read the following text carefully. Some of the lines are correct but in the others there is a word which should not be there. If the sentence is correct, tick (✓) it. If there is an incorrect word in the sentence, write it at the end in the space provided. The first two are given as examples.

A JOB INTERVIEW

I think the interview went well. He wanted to know whether a number of things about me and what I had been doing	whether. ✓
1 in the last few years. First, he asked me if I have had had
2 a nice trip down from Manchester and how long it
3 had been taken me to get there. He also wanted to know
4 whether or it had been snowing in Manchester. The chitchat
5 over, he asked from me how old I was and where I was born
6 although I had sent him my CV by post. He then asked 7 how long I had I lived in Manchester and I told him. His 8 next question was the whether I was married and whether I had 9 a family or not. I explained him that I was separated and that 10 I had one daughter. He asked me how long did I had worked as an 11 editor and how much I was had being paid in my present job. He 12 asked me what was I liked most about my job and who had told me 13 about their company. The main questions he asked me were about the 14 qualities of a good manager. Finally, he asked how much have 15 I expected to be paid. I think the interview went very well.

-ing forms and infinitives after verbs and prepositions

After verbs, we can use an infinitive (with or without to), an -ing form of another verb, a noun, or a noun clause beginning with that:

- I must go now.*
- I feel like dancing.*
- I fancy an ice-cream.*
- I admit that I did it.*

verb + noun, verb + -ing form

Here are examples of verbs that use these patterns:

- I avoid noisy bars. I avoid going to noisy bars.*
(= I try not to go to them)
- The castle is worth a visit. The castle is worth visiting.* (= It is a good idea to visit it)

• Here are verbs that use these patterns:

avoid	be	worth
delay	dislike	enjoy
fancy	feel like	finish
give up	involve	keep / keep on
mind	miss	postpone / put off
practise	risk

• Verbs + prepositions are followed by the -ing form of the verb. We often follow prepositions with the -ing form of a verb. Here are examples:

verb + prepositions example

be good at	She's good at getting people to do things.
be keen on	Why are you so keen on travelling?
look forward to	They were looking forward to going on holiday.
insist on	She insisted on coming with me to the lawyer.
succeed in	He succeeded in breaking the world speed record.
apologise for	I apologise for letting you down.

verb + -ing form/noun/noun clause with that

Here are examples of these patterns:

- He admitted lying to the police.*
- He admitted his crimes.*
- He admitted that he had lied to the police.*

- Here are more verbs in this group:
admit consider deny imagine report suggest
- An infinitive is not possible with these verbs:
~~He denied to do it.~~
✓ He denied doing it.
- We can omit that.

verb + -ing form/to-infinitive/noun

Here are examples of these patterns:

- I began training as soon as I heard about the match.*
- I began to train as soon as I heard about the match.*
- I began French when I was twelve.*

• Here there are more verbs in this group:

begin	continue	can't bear
hate	like	love
prefer	can't stand	start can't bear or can't stand?

- Can't bear means 'to dislike something very much' and is common in both written and spoken English:
He can't bear smoking.
I can't bear to hear that music – turn it down.
I can't bear that music – turn it down.
- Can't stand also means 'to dislike something very much' but is more common in spoken English:
Lily can't stand working in an office.
I can't stand TV commercials.
I can't stand that singer.

verb + to-infinitive

Here are examples of verbs that use this pattern:

I agreed to go with her.

He appears to be dead.

We can't afford to go on holiday this year.

- Here are more verbs in this group:

expect	choose	wish
intend	fail	decide
manage	hope	hesitate
plan	mean (= intend)	learn
promise	prepare	offer
threaten	refuse	pretend
like	want	seem

- We can also follow many of these verbs with a that-clause, a noun, an adjective or a prepositional phrase:

I agree that it is difficult. (verb + that-clause)

She failed the exam. (verb + noun)

She seems frightened. They appear happy.
(verb + adjective)

They agreed on a course of action. (verb + prepositional phrase)

verb + bare infinitive

This is a small group. Here are examples of verbs that use this pattern:

Let me give you some advice. (= allow me to...)

I'd rather go to Italy. (= I prefer to...)

I'd sooner die than tell the secret. (= I would very much prefer to...)

You'd better watch what you're saying. (= I advise you to...)

They made us get up early. (= forced us to...)

- The biggest set of verbs in this group are modal verbs except ought to (see 3a, 3b). Other examples are:
see feel hear watch
- We do not use let in the passive. Instead we use allow:
The children were allowed to leave early.
- We use a to-infinitive after make in the passive:
I was made to wait two hours for an appointment.

- Notice the structure feel/hear/see/watch + pronoun/noun + bare infinitive:

I saw them cross the road.

I heard someone enter the house.

I felt something run down my back.

- We see each action above as a completed action. When we use -ing, the focus is on the action as it is happening:

I saw them crossing the road.

I heard someone entering the house.

infinitive or -ing form?

We can use some verbs with both the to-infinitive and -ing form but with a change of meaning. The most common of these are:

verb	meaning	example
remember	not forget to do it	I remembered to turn off the oven. have a memory of it	I remember turning off the oven.
try	make an effort	They tried to help but it was no use.
	do it to see what happens	Try jogging a bit every day.
stop	stop in order to...	I stopped to tie up my shoelace.
	no longer do this	He stopped wearing ties years ago.
go on	continue by...	The teacher took the register and went on to discuss the homework.
	not stop working	She went on although she could've retired.
regret	be sorry to have to inform sb that...	We regret to inform you that we cannot offer you the post.
	be sorry that...	She regretted accepting the job after the first day.

Practice

1 Underline the correct word or phrase in the following.

3 Write the correct form of the verbs given in brackets. Sometimes more than one answer may be possible.

Einstein: an ordinary child

Einstein was not a remarkable child. He began (1 take) piano lessons at the age of six. He didn't seem (2 be) particularly talented. He liked (3 day-dream) and (4 play) He didn't enjoy (5 talk) very much; in fact, he waited till he was three before (6 start) to talk. In spite of not (7 have) a very exciting childhood, Einstein later appeared (8 have) a vivid memory of it. He remembered (9 be) impressed by how a compass works and by the mysterious force which made the compass needle (10 point) in a given direction.

Vocabulary

8. say, tell, talk, discuss, speak, etc.

say

Say comes before or after direct speech:

Tom said, 'This is great!'

'I'm so tired,' she said.

say (that)

We use say (that) before reported speech:

She said (that) she might be late.

collocations with say

Here are some common phrases with say:

say	your prayers yes/no
	a few words something

- Certain objects can 'say' things:

The clock says it's five past ten.

The letter says we've won first prize.

The newspaper says there's been a hijacking.

The label says it was produced in Argentina.

grammar of say

Say cannot have a person as a direct object. We must use the preposition to followed by the person:

She said goodbye to her parents.

common phrases with say phrase	example

People say...	People say he's a bit mad.
Let's just say (that)...	Let's just say he doesn't always tell the truth.
Have sth to say	If you have something to say, say it now. Have you anything to say in your defence?
Say... (= suppose)	Say we do this, what would happen?

tell

We tell somebody facts, opinions and information:

He told us the answer.

the main structures with tell tell sb about sth

Compare the different meanings of tell sb about sth and say sth to sb:

She told us about her travels around North America. (= reported)

I'm going to say something to the neighbours about the noise. (= complain)

- Tell sb about sth can be a request:
Tell us about Africa.

- Compare this with say sth about:

I'm going to say something about my trip to Africa. (= I will report the facts about...)

tell sb to do sth

We use tell (not say) with a to-infinitive when we report commands:

✗ The policeman said me to go with him.

✓ The policeman told me to go with him.

'Close the door,' becomes: He told me to close the door.

tell sb (that)

She told them (that) she might be late.

tell sb + what/how/where, etc. + noun phrase

Here is an example of this pattern:

Tell me what you need.

- We can also use this pattern with a to-infinitive:

tell her	what to do
	where to go
	how to do it phrases with tell

Here are examples of tell in common phrases:

- It's impossible to tell the twins apart.*
You could tell a mile off that she was lying.
I didn't do it – somebody's been telling tales.
If you're quiet, I'll tell you a story about a big bad wolf.
I told you the reason why I was out late.
You've never told the truth in your life.
I've never told a lie in my whole life.

- Notice we also use give meaning 'express' in common phrases:

give	orders
	some advice an opinion the details information directions

talk about or speak about?

To talk about something means the same as to discuss something:

Let's talk about the problem. (= Let's discuss it)

- We use speak about in more formal contexts:
The lecturer is going to speak about the modern novel. (= give a talk on)
- We can also use talk about meaning 'tell stories' in less formal contexts:
She often talked about her days as a student.

persuade or convince?

Persuade means 'make someone decide to do something, especially by asking them repeatedly or telling them reasons why they should do it'.

Here are the main patterns in examples:

- I finally persuaded her to go out for a drink with me.* (= I got her to agree to do it)
He refused to come in spite of our efforts to persuade him. (= to make him decide to do it)

- Convince means 'make somebody feel certain that something is true'. Here are the main patterns in examples:

Her evidence convinced the court.
Her arguments convinced me.
I managed to convince them that the story was true.
We finally convinced them of our innocence.

deny, refuse, reject and turn down

Here is a table showing the forms and meanings of these verbs:

form	meaning / use	example
deny + noun	say sth is not true	He denied the claims.
deny that		She denied that she had stolen the money.
refuse + to-infinitive	say you will not do sth	He refused to apologise.
refuse + noun	not accept sth	They refused our help.
reject + noun	refuse to accept	They rejected her ideas.
turn down	refuse an offer	I turned down the offer.

- To deny something means 'say it is not true':
He was accused of stealing a car but he denies it.
He denied rumours / the accusations.
He denied any knowledge of the crime.
He denied that he stole it.
- To refuse + to-infinitive or refuse + noun means to 'say you will not do something that someone asks you to do':
She refused to help us.
She refused our help / a second piece of cake.
She refused the children permission to play in the garden. (= she said they were not allowed)
- Reject is stronger than refuse. It means to 'refuse to accept, consider or use something'. We can only use it with a noun:
They rejected her application.
Sarah rejected her brother's offer of help.
The council rejected the proposals for the new road.

turn sb / sth down

We can also use the phrasal verb turn down instead of refuse and reject:

She turned down her brother's offer of help.
She turned him down. (= refused to accept his offer)

Practice

- 1 Fill in each space with a suitable form of a verb from the list. You can use some verbs more than once.

say tell speak talk discuss persuade give convince deny turn down

- 10 A: You can't that you Kate my secret.
B: No, I didn't. But it seems I can't you. Maybe we can this later.

- 2 Read the text below and add the word which best fits each space. The first (0) is given as an example.

A FRIEND IN NEED

I can't^{say}..... (0) when I first realised that Billy was in trouble with the police. He had often (1) to me about his problems and, as his friend, I had (2) him the best advice I could. I also (3) I'd let him come and stay with me but he (4) my offer. I tried to (5) him to stop spending so much money at the club and to sit down and (6) his problems with me but he (7) me to mind my own business.

It was difficult to (8) to him after this but I was (9) he was getting into deeper trouble all the time. He had often (10) having anything to do with the local gangs. But then the police came round and asked me to (11) them information about Billy and I couldn't (12), though I avoided (13) them anything that might do him harm. They asked me to (14) them more details but I managed to convince them that I had told the truth.

-ed and -ing adjectives

-ed adjectives

Adjectives ending -ed have the same form as past participles. The -ed adjective tells us how a person feels:

*The worried parents waited anxiously for news.
It's difficult to teach a classroom of bored students.*

- These adjectives do not end in -ed if the past participle is irregular:
She died of a broken heart.

-ing adjectives

Adjectives ending -ing have the same form as the present participle. The -ing adjective tells us about the effect that something or someone has on our feelings:

*It was a disappointing film.
That was a satisfying meal.
You're a boring teacher.
The journey was exciting.
My job is exhausting.*

- Here are some common -ed / -ing adjectives. Look up those you are not sure of in a dictionary:

amused/amusing	excited/exciting
annoyed/annoying	fascinated/fascinating
bored/boring	frightened/frightening
confused/confusing	interested/interesting
disappointed/disappointing	irritated/irritating
disgusted/disgusting	satisfied/satisfying
embarrassed/embarrassing	surprised/surprising
encouraged/encouraging	terrified/terrifying
	tired/tiring

- There are many -ed / -ing adjectives which are not connected with feelings. These can usually replace a clause meaning 'noun which is ...' Here are some examples:

a sliding door melting ice a sunken ship a moving part a soaring bird burning heat a broken vase a locked door a fallen tree

Practice

- 1 Underline the correct -ed or -ing adjectives in the following text.

SCHOOL REPORT SHOCKS PARENTS

Teachers are finding it increasingly difficult to control classes of young pupils, says a report published yesterday. The evidence from the 100 schools which were involved in the study is not encouraged / encouraging (1). The report paints a depressing / depressed (2) picture of schools up and down the country, with teachers feeling disappointed / disappointing (3) not only by students' results in tests but by the worrying / worried (4) increase in violent behaviour in class and in the playground.

Exam practice 4

Part 1

For Questions 1–15, read the text below and decide which answer A, B, C or D best fits each space. There is an example at the beginning (0).

Example: 0 A information means B mass media C news means D methods of information

BAD NEWS

The (0) nowadays are our main source of information about what's happening in the world and the impression one (1) from them about human (2) is pretty depressing. My blood (3) rises every time I switch the television on. Apart from gossip about (4) personalities, the picture they paint of human (5) is that they are violent and bloodthirsty. They just report crimes, violations of human rights and the way we are destroying our natural (6). They rarely report (7) in science or medicine; it's a bleak picture. Last night, there was a report about a mass (8) from a prison in Chicago during which five prison guards (9) dead as the prisoners were (10) their getaway. Then there was the story of someone who (11) gunned down by police when he went berserk and massacred ten innocent (12) in a shopping centre somewhere – again – in the United States. I see now where Hollywood (13) get their ideas from. They just turn on the news and they've got themselves a (14) scenario. It seems to me that news (15) have become a form of entertainment.

Part 2

For Questions 16–30, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space. There is an example at the beginning (0).

LETTER FROM BRITAIN

I received another letter from my daughter, Rose, today in which she tells (0) us all about her first impressions of (16) and studying in Britain. The first thing she (17) in the letter is that she is settling down quite nicely. After the first day she had complained that the weather (18) cold and the people (19) unfriendly. Indeed, she wondered (20) it always seemed to be dark and (21) the British ever saw the sunshine. In her letter she says she is enjoying (22) drama at the university but still finds the social life a bit boring. I (23) her before she left (24) to expect life to be as exciting as it is here. I explained that most pubs (25) at about eleven and people (26) home, usually a bit drunk. Rosie had told (27) in her first letter that she had (28) friends with someone from Spain. We were pleased to hear this and in fact I had advised her (29) make as many friends as she could because I believed it (30) the best way of not feeling lonely and overcoming culture shock.

Part 3

For Questions 31–40, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between two and five words, including the word given. Here is an example (0).

Example: 0 The police arrested the burglar while he was sleeping.
was

The burglar was arrested by police while he was sleeping.

31 Nowadays, we refer to barber's shops as hairdresser's.

I really soon.
- 40 He didn't renovate the house because he couldn't afford it.
have
He didn't because he couldn't afford it.

Part 4

For Questions 41–55, read the text below and look carefully at each line. Some of the lines are correct, and some have a word which should not be there. If a line is correct, put a tick (✓) at the end of the line. If a line has a word which should not be there, write the word at the end of the line. There are two examples at the beginning (O) and (OO).

TROUBLE AT WORK

- O George came round to see me yesterday because he said he ✓
- OO wanted to discuss about the problems he was having at work. He about
- 41 explained that because he had been only recently started to work
- 42 in the office everybody was taking advantage of him. He
- 43 complained that they kept up asking him to do things which he
- 44 says are not his job to do it. Senior members of staff
- 45 asked him to make a coffee and one of them even told him
- 46 to buy him a newspaper. The assistant director asked of him
- 47 whether he would mind to getting him some cigarettes.
- 48 I asked George how long had this had been going on and he said
- 49 it had started on his first day in the office. I advised him to go and
- 50 talk to his boss. He replied that he has had already had a
- 51 word with the manager but he refused to get involved and even
- 52 suggested whether it was George's fault if there was tension at

- 53 work. I wondered whether we should to persuade George to apply
- 54 for a job with us but I don't know about whether he would agree
- 55 to work on a much lower salary than he's getting at the moment.

Grammar

comparative and superlative adjectives

We use comparative adjectives to show how the qualities of two people or things can be compared. We use superlative adjectives to show how three or more can be compared.

- Comparatives add -er to the adjective. We can also add than:
Bill is richer (than John).
- Superlatives add the ...-est, and a preposition such as of or in with any noun phrase:
Jane is the youngest (of the three sisters).
Bill is the tallest (in the class).
- We can omit the:
Jane is (the) youngest.
- Usually, we do not state what is compared because it is obvious:
A lot of people have become richer in the last few years. (= richer than before)
Their youngest child is Jane. (= the parents have at least three children)

one-syllable adjectives

Most one-syllable adjectives form the comparative by adding -er and the superlative by adding -est:

adjective	comparative	superlative
cheap	cheaper	(the) cheapest
fast	faster	(the) fastest
young	younger	(the) youngest
shy	shyer	(the) shyest
tall	taller	(the) tallest

- One-syllable adjectives ending -ed cannot take -er, -est. We use more / most:
more bored, (the) most bored more worried, (the) most worried

one-syllable and two-syllable adjectives ending in -e

These adjectives form the comparative and superlative by adding -r and -st:

adjective	comparative	superlative
safe	safer	(the) safest
able	abler	(the) ablest
close	closer	(the) closest
gentle	gentler	(the) gentlest
polite	politer	(the) politest

- Two-syllable adjectives ending in -e also form the comparative and superlative using more and most:
more gentle, (the) most polite

one-syllable adjectives ending in one vowel and a consonant

Most one-syllable adjectives ending in a short vowel and a consonant form the comparative and superlative by doubling the consonant and then adding -er and -est:

adjective	comparative	superlative
big	bigger	(the) biggest
fat	fatter	(the) fattest
dim	dimmer	(the) dimmest

- One-syllable words ending with a long vowel before the consonant do not double the consonant:

adjective	comparative	superlative
great	greater	greatest
late	later	latest
cheap	cheaper	cheapest

two-syllables adjectives

Two-syllable adjectives can form the comparative and superlative with either -er and -est or more and most. (For adjectives ending in -e, see p. 152.) Here are examples of two-syllable adjectives:

clever	common	handsome
hollow	narrow	pleasant
shallow	stupid	tired

two-syllables adjectives ending in -y

These form the comparative and superlative by changing the -y into -i and adding -er and -est.

adjective	comparative	superlative
angry	angrier	(the) angriest
busy	busier	(the) busiest
happy	happier	(the) happiest

- The comparative of dry can take two forms:
dry drier driest (more usual)
dry dryer driest

other two-syllable adjectives, and adjectives with more than two syllables

Most of these form the comparative and superlative with more and most.

adjective	comparative	superlative
careless	more careless	the most careless
expensive	more expensive	the most expensive
intelligent	more intelligent	the most intelligent

irregular adjectives

Here are examples:

adjective	comparative	superlative
good	better	(the) best
bad	worse	(the) worst
little	less	(the) least
much	more	(the) most
many	more	(the) most
far	farther	(the) furthest
old	older elder	(the) oldest (the) eldest

further / furthest, farther / farthest

We use further / furthest and farther / farthest to talk about distances:

We'd better not go any further/farther today.
Australia is the furthest/farthest I've ever been.
Our new house is further/farther from the school than our old one.

- Further* can also mean 'more' or 'extra'. We cannot use farther in these expressions:
Stop playing inside before you do any further damage. (= additional damage)
For further information, please write to the above address. (= more information)
She went on to further education. (= education after secondary school)
- We use elder / eldest for members of our family:
I get on well with my elder sister.
- We do not use than with elder:
~~He is elder than me.~~
He is older than me.

less (than); the least (of)

We can show negative comparisons using less (than) and the least (of):

The film was less successful (than his previous one).
It was the least successful (of all his films).

far; much; a lot

To add emphasis to a comparison, we can use far, much or a lot with the comparative adjective. There is very little difference in meaning, although far is often stronger:

Bill is much richer than Tom.
Bill is a lot richer than Tom.
Bill is far richer than Tom.

The (more) ... the (more) ...

This structure shows that two comparisons change at the same time:

The older I get, the more forgetful I become.
The less interesting the subject is, the more bored the students become.

as ... as ...

See page 168.

Practice

- 1 Fill in each space with a word from the list. You may use the words more than once. The first (0) has been given as an example.

lot youngest eldest livelier expensive more most (much) than the as better less older

Woof or Miaow?

Cats, as we all know, are ^{much} (0) quieter than dogs and a (1) smaller, so when my wife and I were debating whether to buy our (2) son a pet it seemed (3) sensible to choose a kitten (4) a puppy. Our (5) son, who is now sixteen, had a tortoise when he was little but found it the (6) boring pet on earth. At least a kitten would do (7) interesting things (8) a tortoise.

However, the little spaniel we saw in one shop was, my wife said, (9) cutest thing she had ever seen. I didn't argue because, although cats are not (10) noisy as dogs, they are much (11) entertaining. Dogs, they say, are also (12) intelligent. Cats, like tortoises, don't do much: they tend to just sit around all day, looking as enigmatic (13) a sphinx – and just as dull. Dogs are much (14) and we both felt young Edward would learn more from that frisky little spaniel (15) he would from any cat. The (16) Edward grew (17) more difficult it became to keep him occupied and we both felt a dog would be a (18) companion for him from that point of view. Admittedly, cats are (19) demanding and also less (20) to look after but we thought that such a beautiful spaniel was worth it.

*Actions speak louder than words.
The best things in life are free.
The higher you climb, the further you fall.*

- 2 Complete the sentences with a comparative or superlative form, adding any words that are needed. You may use some words twice.

boring warm simple good wonderful lucky intelligent comfortable hot old far difficult cheap bad interesting

order of adjectives

Here is the most common order of adjectives in English, though the order of adjectives of size, shape, age and colour can change:

opinion	size	shape	age	colour	origin	material	purpose or type	noun
nice	big	round	old	blue	French	glass	fruit	bowl

- Variation is possible when we focus on a particular feature, for example we can say: a round black shape (= normal order) or: a black round shape (= focus on colour)
- We use a comma when there are two or more adjectives of equal importance before a noun: The room was full of cold, hungry children.
- We link the adjectives with and when they come after verbs like be and feel:
~~✗ He was tall, dark, handsome.~~
 ✓ He was tall, dark and handsome.
The children felt cold and hungry.
The house was large and impressive.
- We can put a comma or and between two adjectives that describe someone's character:
We had a clever and imaginative teacher.
We had a clever, imaginative teacher.
- When we use two or more colour adjectives before a noun, we put and between them:
They own a red and white car.
~~✗ They were waving a blue, white, red flag.~~
 ✓ They were waving a blue, white and red flag.

comparisons

as ... as ...

We use as ... as ... to say two things are similar or equal in some way. The pattern is:

as + adjective + as, or as + adverb + as.

- We can omit the second part, as ..., if the comparison is clear:

Mary is as tall as Jane but she's not as tall as Andrew.

She's not as tall (as him / as he is).

John didn't do as well as Helen in the exam.

John didn't do as well (as her / as she did).*

* This is considered informal.

- We use as ... as, but not as ... so, in comparisons:

~~Tea isn't as strong so coffee.~~

Tea isn't as strong as coffee.

as + many / much / little / few + as

We use as + many / much / little / few + as in comparisons without a. We cannot use more / less / several etc:

Bill doesn't have as much money as Anne.

If she had as little money as he did, she would think differently.

Bill doesn't eat as many meals as she does.

If she had as few meals as Bill, she would be thinner.

the same (as)

We always use the in comparisons with same:

Their car is the same (as ours).

Peter is the same age (as George).

- We can emphasise the same using exactly:

Their car is exactly the same (as yours).

Peter is exactly the same age (as George).

so ... as ...

In negative statements we can use so ... as instead of as ... as:

Computers are not quite as / so expensive as they were.

- In positive sentences and in questions we cannot use so ... as:

~~She worked so hard as she could to finish early.~~

She worked as hard as she could to finish early.

~~Could you try and get here so quickly as you can, please?~~

Could you try and get here as quickly as you can, please?

like and as

We use like and as to say things are similar. We use like to make a comparison, and as to describe a position or function:

form	example
like + noun	He runs like the wind.
like + pronoun	My brother is just like me.
like + noun	Like the Greeks, Italians use a lot of olive oil.
as + noun (phrase)	She works as a doctor.
as + noun (phrase)	As your teacher, I advise you to work harder.
as + noun (phrase)	Don't use your shirt as a towel!

- As + verb phrase means 'as thoroughly as':
No one knows these islands as I do.

repeating comparatives

We can repeat the comparative adjective to say that something is changing (increasing or decreasing) all the time, usually with the Present Continuous:

form	meaning / use	example
comparative adj + and + comparative adj	changing all the time	She was getting more and more irritated.
the + comparative adj + verb + the + comparative adj + verb	two things change at the same time	The older I get, the wiser I become. The less intelligent they are, the more difficult they will find the test. (See page 153.)
the + comparative adj + the + comparative adj	used in common phrases	the bigger the better the sooner the better

so and such; too, very, enough

so and such

We use so and such to say something is similar to something we have already mentioned. We use these words in the following patterns:

form	meaning / use	example
so + adjective	very	It's so hot in here – can't we open a window?
so + adj + (that)	of that kind causing ...	My car is so old (that) I can't get any spare parts for it.
so + adverb	to that extent	I wish you wouldn't talk so much.
so + adverb + (that)	of that kind causing ...	She drives so fast (that) nobody can keep up with her.
so + many/much/little/few	emphasis on quantity	How did you make so much money?
so + many/much/little/few + noun (phrase) + (that)	emphasis on quantity causing ...	They were so many people waiting in the queue that we went home again.
such + noun (phrase)	of that kind	X We were not prepared for so weather. ✓ We were not prepared for such weather. She hadn't expected such a welcome.
such + adj + countable / uncountable noun	very	She's got such lovely hair. We ate such delicious food.
such + adj + plural noun	of that kind	We've never paid such high taxes before.
such (a/an) + adj + noun + (that)	of that kind causing ...	It was such a hot day (that) we took off our T-shirts.

too, very, enough

Too means 'more than is reasonable or bearable'.

Very means 'a lot'. Compare:

- I was too tired.* (= so I didn't do any work)
- I was very tired!* (= but I could still do some work)
- X I was too happy when I received your letter.*
- ✓ I was very happy when I received your letter.*

• We do not use very with adjectives that already have a strong meaning:

- X Meno Park in Tokyo is very huge.*
- ✓ Meno Park in Tokyo is huge.*
- ✓ Meno Park in Tokyo is absolutely huge.*

See also 10c.

We use enough and too in the following patterns:

form	example
enough + noun	Do we have enough cheese for a pizza?
enough + noun + to -infinitive	Do you have enough money to buy the book?
not + adj + enough + to -infinitive	I'm not clever enough to study medicine.
not + adverb + enough	You aren't driving quickly enough – we'll be late.
too + adj/adverb	I can't drink this – it's too hot.
	I can't keep up with you – you walk too quickly.
too + adj + to -infinitive	The coffee was too hot to drink.
too + adj + for + sb + to -infinitive	The coffee was too hot for me to drink.
too + adverb + for + sb + to -infinitive.	He walked too quickly for the children to keep up with him.

rather a (+ adj) + noun (phrase)	a fairly big	I quite like coffee.
rather + verb	quite a lot (= formal)	She's rather clever.
very + adj / adv	a lot (used for emphasis) (See 10b.)	He did rather badly in the test.
		It came as rather a (big) surprise.
		I rather like her.
		I'm very sorry.
		You did very badly in the test.

- Quite is much less strong than very. Compare:
She's very clever. She's quite clever.
- Quite is stronger than a little:
She's a little greedy. She's quite greedy.
- Quite + adjective / adverb can also mean 'completely':
No, thanks, I won't have any more to eat. I'm quite full. (= completely full) Yes, I'm quite certain he is the same man. (= absolutely certain)
- Here are some common combinations with quite meaning 'completely':
quite amazing quite clear quite right quite safe quite true quite wrong
- We can use rather / a bit / a little before comparative forms:
The new house is rather / a bit / a little smaller than the old one.
- We use quite as... (as...) or not quite as / so... (as...) to make comparisons:
Tea is not quite as enjoyable as coffee.
Maria isn't quite as / so tall.
- We use very with adjectives ending in ful, but not less (see 10e).

linking verbs

A linking verb joins a subject to an adjective or a noun phrase. The following are linking verbs:

appear	feel	keep	sound
be	get	look	stay
become	go	seem	taste
come	grow	smell	turn

- We can use many adjectives after linking verbs:
They didn't want to look suspicious.
I feel sick.
He seems happy.
This tastes awful.
- We can use to be + adjective after some linking verbs:
The house seems to be empty.
The children appeared to be hungry.

- We can also use a past participle after some of them:
She looks depressed.
Their row seemed forgotten.
- Here is a summary of the patterns:

form	example
linking verb + adj	I feel sick. This smells good. linking verb + to be + adj	The fridge seems to be empty. He appears to be French.
linking verb + past participle	I feel depressed. The mattress looks so worn.

5 Read the text below and think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space.

A REPORT

Athens is becoming more and (1) attractive to tourists. Although the city may seem to (2) big and noisy, tourists can still find (3) a lot of quiet places with a romantic atmosphere to enjoy a tasty Greek meal and listen (4) traditional music. We found that the prices in the restaurants were (5) reasonable, not (6) expensive for the average tourist. The standards of hygiene appeared (7) be fairly high and they seem to be getting (8) rather than worse. The service was (9) bit slow at times but the waiters were usually (10) friendly. Indeed, sometimes they were a (11) too friendly compared with what we were used to in other countries!

As for transport, the number of taxis in Athens is (12) amazing and apart from the rush hour it is quite (13) to get hold of one when you need it. We found the cost of getting around by taxi (14) cheaper than in most European capitals but taxi-drivers can (15) a bit rude at times.

Culture shock

Penny, a friend of mine, has just got back from a trip to Japan. She had a very (1) time but there were occasions, she says, when the rather (2) behaviour of her hosts led to moments of cultural confusion, and at times she even felt (3) by some of the mistakes she made. For example, it is (4) for Europeans to call each other by their first names, but this is not the (5) way of addressing people in Japan. Now, because Penny was (6) to show everyone how friendly she was, she called everyone by their first name. Most people were (7) because she was obviously a foreigner but some became quite (8) and showed little sympathy.

At first, Penny found bowing to people quite (9) – she is, after all, an actress – but after a while it became a bit (10) having to bow to everyone you met.

Penny is not at all (11) – she loves meeting new people – but after the first few misunderstandings she was (12) to open her mouth in case she offended someone. I myself am quite an experienced traveller, but I would feel (13) about putting my foot in it in Japan because there even (14) people observe the most elaborate rules of social behaviour – silence for example is nothing to be (15) of in Japanese culture, but in the West we get very worried if there are even short periods of silence at social gatherings.

It’s not that I’m afraid of death – I just don’t want to be there when it happens.

10e

suffixes (4)

Remember that we use most suffixes to change the part of speech of a word (see 1e, 3e, 4e, 12e, 13e):

season (noun) + al = seasonal (adjective) act (noun) + ive = active (adjective) danger (noun) + ous = dangerous (adjective)

Here, we examine other suffixes that form adjectives.

ful, less

- We add ful to a noun to show that the quality exists:
She's very careful about what she eats.
- We add less to a noun to show that the quality is lacking:
You shouldn't be so careless when you write.

Here are common pairs of words which use ful and less:

word	meaning / use	example
careful	paying attention	She's very careful about what she eats.
careless	not paying enough attention	You shouldn't be so careless when you drive.
harmful	dangerous	All this traffic pollution is harmful to our health.
harmless	not dangerous	Don't be afraid – the dog is harmless, it won't bite.
hopeful	full of hope	The situation is difficult but I'm still hopeful.
hopeless	without hope	The situation is pretty hopeless – there's nothing we can do.
painful	full of pain	It will be a painful operation so they'll give her an anaesthetic.
painless	without pain	It will be a painless operation – she has nothing to worry about.
thoughtful	being kind to others	It was very thoughtful of you to make coffee for everybody else.
thoughtless	unkind	It was thoughtless of you to mention his illness. You know he doesn't like to think about it.
useful	helping you to do or get something	The tourist office gave us some useful advice about where to stay in Budapest.
useless	not of any use	The guide to the city was useless because it was years out of date.

- We can use very with adjectives ending in ful, but not less. We use completely, utterly, etc:
The injection was very painful.
Did you think your dog was completely harmless?

- In the following, only one form, either ful or less, exists:
dreadful forgetful grateful skilful stressful successful cloudless homeless ruthless able, ible

We add able or ible to a verb to form an adjective which shows that something can be done. Here are some examples:

word	meaning/use	example
drink + able	safe to drink	Is the water drinkable here?
wash + able	able to be washed	This shirt is machine washable.
rely + able	able to be relied on	She's a very reliable colleague.
suit + able	appropriate	This book is not suitable for children.
profit + able	making a profit	The business is not very profitable.
sense + ible	reasonable	I think that's a very sensible suggestion.

- Some adjectives ending in able / ible have a first part which does not exist by itself, especially those with un, for example:
unworkable palpable edible

ive

We can also form adjectives by adding ive to verbs or nouns (see page 240):

word	meaning/use	example
act + ive	doing things	It was an active holiday in the mountains.
expense + ive	costing a lot of money	Who bought you that expensive watch?

- Again, some of these adjectives have a first part which does not exist by itself, for example pensive.
- Some of these adjectives need itive, for example sensitive from sense.
- We often add the prefix in to form the negative of these adjectives:
inactive inexpensive insensitive

ous

We add ous to some nouns to form adjectives (see 13e):

word	meaning / use	example
fame + ous	well known	She's a famous singer.
courage + ous	full of courage	That was a courageous decision.

- Famous means 'very well-known':
She became famous after winning a gold medal in the Olympics.
- Infamous means 'having a bad reputation':
This is a photograph of the infamous gangster, Al Capone.
- Again, sometimes the first part cannot exist by itself, for example conscientious.

other suffixes

Other suffixes we use to form adjectives include (see also 13e):

noun + ic	noun + y	noun + ish
apologetic	guilty	babyish
chaotic	healthy	childish
economic	hungry	foolish
enthusiastic	salty	selfish
heroic	scary	sheepish
historic	sloppy
optimistic	speedy
pessimistic	thirsty
realistic	wealthy
scientific
sympathetic tragic

noun + al	noun + ist
national	elitist
racial	sexist

ant	ent
arrogant	affluent
distant	dependent
hesitant	efficient
ignorant	violent
important

E-MAIL OR SNAIL MAIL?

Modern technology has (0) about enormous improvements in communications and yet many people are still very worried (1) using the latest computer technology. I am often (2) to meet colleagues who still don't know what the 'e' in e-mail stands for and they are too (3) to ask. They assume you have to be skilled (4) computers to send a message via e-mail but in fact it is (5) thing in the world. It is also (6) to send an e-mail message (7) to send an ordinary letter or a 'snail' message which also takes (8) longer. An e-mail message is only (9) more expensive than a local telephone call to send; on top of the call itself you also have to pay a fee to your 'server'. If you send a letter by (10) mail it will take a couple of days to get there whereas an e-mail will not take (11) than a few seconds. Once you become (12) to using the system you will be (13) at how much more (14) it is than other means of communication. Of course, before you have access to e-mail, you will need a fairly (15) computer, which can be quite expensive.

Part 2

For questions 16–30, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space. There is an example at the beginning (0).

THE MYSTERY OF STONEHENGE

Stonehenge is a group of very large, tall stones arranged ⁱⁿ (0) circles which stand on Salisbury plain in the south of England. They look (16) they've been put there by a race of giants. The stones originally came from south Wales, 240 miles away. They are (17) big and heavy that the transportation of these stones over (18) a distance is incredible. The question is why did they use (19) huge stones and why are there such a (20) of them? It must have been quite (21) nightmare transporting them. Stonehenge is such (22) mystery (23) all kinds of theories have been put (24) to explain it. The stones (25) to have been put there in about 2500 BC and one fairly plausible theory is that they are a religious sign. It is just (26) likely, however, that they were a way (27) studying the sun. It is also believed that the stones may have (28) used in religious ceremonies by druids, but this theory is not (29) popular with scientists as the first two, but it all happened (30) long ago that it is impossible to be sure what Stonehenge means.

Part 3

For Questions 31–40, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between two and five words, including the word given. Here is an example (0).

Example: 0 Do you regret what you did?

Part 4

For questions 41–55, read the text below and look carefully at each line. Some of the lines are correct, and some have a word which should not be there. If a line is correct, put a tick (✓) at the end of the line. If a line has a word which should not be there, write the word at the end of the line. There are two examples at the beginning, (O) and (OO).

WHY AM I LEARNING ENGLISH?

|----|--|---------|
| O | English is the most widely spoken language in the world | ✓ |
| OO | today. It is a quite amazing how the use of English has | a |
| 41 | become so widespread. The English is not as easy as Esperanto, | |
| 42 | which was especially written for to be as easy as possible | |
| 43 | for people to learn, and yet the Esperanto is spoken by very | |
| 44 | few people around the world. For many people English is not as | |
| 45 | more beautiful a language as French but it seems too late for | |
| 46 | French to catch up with English as an international language. | |
| 47 | German is the quite a useful language if you are in business | |
| 48 | in Europe but it is not half as easy to learn so as English, | |

| 50 | English has become so important that it is becoming the more | |
| 51 | and more essential to know it if you want to get a good job. | |

- 52 There are also so many of films and so many songs which are
- 53 in English. It is too much early to say whether English will remain
- 54 as influential as it is today but it seems like difficult to stop its
- 55 growth. It looks like it will be a world language for a long time.

adverbs: use and form

use

We use adverbs to modify verbs, adjectives, other adverbs and sometimes whole sentences. Their most common use is to describe how someone does something (called 'adverbs of manner'):

She read the book quickly.

They behaved foolishly.

~~X She played beautiful.~~

✓ She played beautifully.

~~X You must drive more careful.~~

✓ You must drive more carefully.

- Adverbs can also describe where or when something happens (adverbs of place and time), how often (adverbs of frequency), or how much or how strongly (adverbs of degree):

Let's go tomorrow. (adverb of time)

I'll wait here. (adverb of place)

I come every week. (adverb of frequency)

It's very cold in winter. (adverb of degree)

- We can use by far, frankly, easily, etc. to modify a superlative:

This is quite frankly the worst essay I've read.

It was easily the best party I've been to.

- There are other types of adverb, for example 'linking adverbs' such as also and 'comment adverbs' such as sadly:

This car is silver but we have it in blue, bronze or black as well. (linking adverb)

To tell the truth, I don't like any of those colours.* (comment adverb)

- When a phrase acts as an adverb, we call it an 'adverbial phrase'. A phrase can be:

You're driving far too fast. (adverbial phrase)

There's a huge truck behind you. (prepositional phrase)

Let's go tomorrow afternoon. (noun phrase)

form

We form most adverbs by adding -ly to the adjective:

adjective	adverb	example
beautiful	beautifully	She plays the violin beautifully. brilliant	brilliantly	Sampras played brilliantly and won the championship. careful	carefully	I wish you would drive more carefully. effective	effectively	With e-mail I can communicate effectively. efficient	efficiently	We must work more efficiently. excited	excitedly	'We've won,' she announced excitedly. hurried	hurriedly	They left the room hurriedly. occasional	occasionally	I occasionally eat meat although I don't enjoy it. shy	shyly	She walked shyly into the room. truthful	truthfully	Answer me truthfully – did you do it? undoubted	undoubtedly	Undoubtedly there will be problems. unexpected	unexpectedly	Peter turned up unexpectedly.
wholehearted	wholeheartedly	I wholeheartedly agree with everything you say.

Adjectives ending in -le form adverbs by changing -le to -ly:

adjective	adverb	example
gentle	gently	They broke the news gently .
probable	probably	They are probably on their way now.
simple	simply	I simply don't believe you.
suitable	suitably	Bob wasn't suitably dressed.
terrible	terribly	Bessie played terribly that night.

Adjectives ending in -y form adverbs by changing -y to -ily:

adjective	adverb	example
easy	easily	Our team is easily the best.
noisy	noisily	The pupils came into the room noisily .

Adjectives ending in -ic form adverbs by adding -ally:

adjective	adverb	example
automatic	automatically	The machine gives you your money back automatically .
heroic	heroically	The soldiers fought heroically .
tragic	tragically	He died tragically .

Some adverbs which end in -ly come from nouns:

noun	adverb	example
day	daily	Newspapers are delivered daily . (= every day)
fortnight	fortnightly	The magazine is published fortnightly . (= every two weeks)
hour	hourly	The database is updated hourly .
month	monthly	They meet monthly to discuss progress.
week	weekly	The magazine is published weekly .
year	yearly	We pay fees yearly .

- We cannot add -ly to adjectives which end in -ly. We use in a ... way / manner / fashion:
I've never met a policeman who behaves in a friendly way.
She spoke in a silly manner.
He lived his life in a lonely fashion.
- Some adverbs have the same form as adjectives (see page 200):
drive fast a fast driver sit still still water
- Some words ending in -ly are not adverbs but adjectives:
a friendly policeman
a silly story a lonely life lovely weather
an ugly painting
- The adverb from public is publicly:
He publicly confessed to his crimes.
X He was ~~publically~~ humiliated.
✓ He was publicly humiliated.
- With full we simply add -y:
I fully agree with you.
- With true we change -e to -ly:
He was a truly great President.
- The adverb from good is well:
'How did she do in the race?' 'She did very well – she came first.'
X Did I do ~~good~~ in the test?
✓ Did I do well in the test?

11b

adverbs: word order

group 1: initial, middle or end position

Most adverbs of manner (e.g. slowly) and some adverbs of time (e.g. once) and frequency (e.g. occasionally) can come at the beginning, in the middle (before the main verb) or at the end of a sentence. They modify verbs or clauses. The choice of position is a matter of emphasis:

beginning of sentence	middle of sentence	end of sentence
Slowly, she opened the door.	She slowly opened the door.	She opened the door slowly.
Once I had a motorbike.	I once had a motorbike.	I had a motorbike once.
Occasionally, he loses his temper.	He occasionally loses his temper.	He loses his temper occasionally.

group 2: initial or end position

Many adverbs of time (e.g. yesterday) and place (e.g. outside) usually come at the end of a sentence but can also come at the beginning:

- ✗ I'll be in a moment with you.
- ✓ I'll be with you in a moment.

beginning of sentence	end of sentence
Yesterday I had a difficult day.	I had a difficult day yesterday.
Outside it was raining.	It was raining outside.

- Prepositional phrases usually come at the end:
There's a sports car in the fast lane.
However, there are exceptions:
In January he expects to get a pay rise.
He expects to get a pay rise in January.

group 3: middle position

Some adverbs of frequency (e.g. always), time (e.g. already), degree (e.g. almost) and most adverbs of degrees of certainty and probability (e.g. definitely, probably) usually come in the middle of the sentence, before the main verb:

- I always get up early.*
- I never drink milk.*
- I definitely saw him.*
- She probably thinks everything is all right.*
- ✗ Never she apologises.
- ✓ She never apologises.

- Here are more examples of adverbs in group 3:

frequency	degree	degree of certainty
always	almost	certainly
ever	hardly	definitely
frequently	nearly	probably
hardly		really
never
normally
often
rarely
seldom
sometimes
usually
time	other meanings
already	also
soon	even
still	just
	merely
	only
	suddenly

- Adverbs in group 3 go immediately after auxiliary verbs (be, have, do) and modal verbs (can, may, should, etc.):
He is always first to arrive.
I have never drunk iced tea.
You should definitely accept the offer.
She'll probably come to the wedding.
- However, when the verb is negative, adverbs of degree or certainty come before the auxiliary:
He probably won't come to the party.
He certainly can't accept this situation.

group 4: end position

(See also group 1 on page 191.)

Adverbs of manner (e.g. well, badly) and adverbs of place and time usually come at the end of a sentence. Adverbial phrases (e.g. in the playground, at home, on Sunday morning) are almost always placed at the end of a sentence.

He comes home late.

She sings well.

He plays badly.

~~X I like very much music.~~

✓ I like music very much.

~~X She very well speaks English.~~

✓ She speaks English very well.

He woke up with a headache on Sunday morning.

They were standing in the playground.

- When we use two clauses, the position of adverbs can change meaning:

He promised without complaining that he would pay for the damage. (= a promise without complaining)

He promised that he would pay for the damage without complaining. (= payment without complaining)

- Here are more examples of adverbs in group 4

manner	place	time
as well	in London	daily
badly	in the stadium	late
cheerfully	at the cinema	monthly
happily	on the dance floor	once
mildly	by the television	at once
politely		at six o'clock
quickly		on the hour
regularly		on Tuesday
sweetly
tenderly
very much
well

- We often use more than one adverb in end position. They follow this order:

manner + place + time quietly at home in the evening

manner	place	time
They played badly	at Wembley	on Saturday
She ran quickly	to the bus stop	this mornin

- We often change the order of place and time:
They played badly at Wembley on Saturday.
They played badly on Saturday at Wembley.

Practice

- 1 Tick (✓) the correct sentences or write the correct sentence if the adverb is in the wrong position.

1 I went yesterday to the post office.

2 The magazine comes out monthly.
.....

3 I've become recently interested in skiing.
.....

4 We play football in the playground after school often.
.....

5 Very carefully he drives on the motorway.
.....

6 He got up and walked suddenly away.
.....

7 I have never visited the United States.
.....

8 Outside he is waiting.
.....

9 Only I like ice-cream not chocolate.
.....

10 I cooked and as well I washed the dishes.
.....

2 Rewrite the following sentences, adding the adverb or adverbs in brackets in the correct positions.

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 You'll finish your homework if you don't hurry up. (never, in time)
..... | 6 She won't be coming to work. (today, probably)
..... |
| 2 I have lived in this neighbourhood for a year. (probably)
..... | 7 He performed the part. (on Saturday, superbly, at the National Theatre)
..... |
| 3 I love travelling by plane. (very much)
..... | 8 She visits her mother. (usually, in hospital, at the weekend)
..... |
| 4 Doesn't she play the piano! (well)
..... | 9 Our party won't raise taxes. (definitely)
..... |
| 5 We arrived. (on Sunday morning, at nine o'clock, at the station)
..... | 10 Can you come? (at six o'clock, to my office, in town)
..... |

3 Fill in each space in the following text with an appropriate adverb or adverbial phrase from the list.

the night before probably usually occasionally after midnight always never rarely quickly a few minutes later hardly outside yesterday immediately often

One of those days

Bill wasn't feeling very well (1) – he had a headache and was feeling dizzy so he (2) decided to go and see the doctor. He didn't (3) have to go to the doctor – in fact he very (4) had a health problem. (5), say once every two years, he would go and have a check-up and the doctor had (6) found him to be in good shape. He had (7) had any serious health problem. There (8) wasn't anything seriously wrong with him this time, either, but he (9) arranged an appointment, finished his coffee and (10) he was ready to go. (11), it was raining lightly but Bill (12) noticed, so surprised was he to find his car missing. (13), he had been to a party at a friend's house and he had had a great time. He had got back (14) and parked his car where he (15) parked it, but now it was gone.

I never travel without my diary – one should always have something sensational to read in the train.

adverbs: comparison

one-syllable adverbs

These take -er in the comparative and (the) -est in the superlative:

Bill ran fast. John ran faster than Bill. Gary ran (the) fastest of all.

They work hard. The girls work harder. The girls in the first group work (the) hardest.

- We can omit the in the superlative of adverbs ending in -est:

Bill ran the fastest of all the competitors.

Bill ran fastest of all the competitors.

adverb	comparative	superlative
early	earlier	(the) earliest fast	faster	(the) fastest
hard	harder	(the) hardest
high	higher	(the) highest late	later	(the) latest long	longer	(the) longest loud	louder	(the) loudest
low	lower	(the) lowest near	nearer	(the) nearest quick	quicker	(the) quickest
slow	slower	(the) slowest
soon	sooner	(the) soonest

- Early forms the comparative and superlative by changing -y to -i and adding -er and -est:
She arrived early. She arrived earlier than expected. She arrived (the) earliest of them all.
~~✗ You must come more early.~~
✓ You must come earlier.

adverbs of two or more syllables

Nearly all adverbs of two syllables or more use more/less... and (the) most/(the) least... to form the comparative and superlative:

Work quietly. Can you work more quietly?

I often used to travel. I used to travel more often in my previous job. In my new job I travel most often in the winter.

~~✗ Could you drive slower?~~

✓ Could you drive more slowly?

adverb	comparative	superlative
quietly	more / less quietly	(the) most / least quietly slowly	more / less slowly	(the) most / least slowly quickly	more / less quickly	(the) most / least quickly often	more / less often	(the) most / least often carefully	more / less carefully	(the) most / least carefully seriously	more / less seriously	(the) most / least seriously dangerously	more / less dangerously	(the) most / least dangerously beautifully	more / less beautifully	(the) most beautifully

- We use superlative adverbs with -est in a few common phrases. Examples are:
The soonest I can send it is Friday.
The earliest I can come is three o'clock.
Bill ran (the) slowest of all and came last.

He couldn't take his job more seriously if he tried.

irregular adverbs

Some adverbs have irregular forms of comparison:

Bessie plays the piano well. Bessie plays the piano better than Mary. Bessie played the piano best of all and won first prize.

Terry did badly in the test. Terry did worse in the test than Tom.

- We rarely use worst as an adverb but it would be possible to say:

Terry performed the worst in the class.

adverb	comparative	superlative
well	better	best
badly	worse	worst
much	more	most
little	less	least
a lot	more	most
far	further / farther	furthest / farthest

- We can use either farther or further to talk about distances:
We'd better not go any farther/further tonight.
For further/farther as adjectives, see page 153.
- We can use as + adverb + as to show how something is done in comparison with some other way of doing it (see also page 168):
I ate breakfast as quickly as I could and left.
Bessie didn't play as well as she usually does.

Practice

- 1 Fill in each space with the appropriate adverb phrase using the word given.

Example: My wife drives more carefully than I do. (careful)

- 1 She works than everyone else in the office. (efficient)
- 2 I play chess my son does. (bad)

3 Fill in each space with an appropriate word.

Simply magic

We were (1) through the paper, trying to find somewhere to spend Saturday evening in London. Luckily, we had found a baby-sitter to (2) after the twins so we were free for the evening. Suddenly, I caught (3) of an advertisement for an 'All Star Magic Show' at a theatre not far from where we lived. I'd (4) about the Camden Popular Theatre from a friend of mine who works in the box-office there. I'd never (5) a magic show performed live before and I was always (6) for new experiences, so we thought we'd give it a try.

By the time we got to the theatre we were both (7) forward to a bit of fun but nothing more. I've never understood what '..... (8) is believing' meant but now I think I (9) what people mean. The first magician came on. He gazed intently (10) various members of the audience before asking my wife, Mary, to volunteer to help with his first trick. She glanced (11) me for support, I nodded, and she agreed. She got onto the stage, (12) a bit anxious. The magician gave her a book and asked her to (13) carefully to what he was going to say. He asked her to look at any page she chose, at random. Mary (14) through the book and stopped at page ninety-six. The magician asked her to have a (15) at the first line and choose any word, as long as it was a short word. He then told her which word she had chosen.

4 Cross out the word in each group which cannot be used with the verb in bold.

Example: observe frequently now suddenly carefully ~~completely~~ once often

- 1 see well carefully badly often further outside occasionally
- 2 look slowly often badly daily farther earlier carefully
- 3 notice once suddenly fast now earlier sometimes easily
- 4 hear frequently yesterday well carefully outside once later
- 5 listen often suitably more occasionally tomorrow now carefully
- 6 watch beautifully occasionally publicly outside often normally soon
- 7 glimpse suddenly slowly earlier unexpectedly once often hurriedly
- 8 gaze lazily longest further slowly happily fast yesterday
- 9 stare hopelessly occasionally every day now quickly casually most
- 10 understand completely highly always well yesterday just suddenly

- Feel to ask me any questions you like.
- It hasn't rained much ; the last time was two months ago.

2 Fill in each space with the correct adverb based on a word in the list. Some words do not need to be changed. Use one word twice.

long late far high wide most slow quick further wrong little

Catch that thief!

There have been a number of burglaries in our neighbourhood (1). We are not sure who is to blame but it is (2) believed that the burglaries are (3) the work of one gang. The police have been very (4) to act and they still know very (5) for certain. The public, rightly or (6), blame the police for not acting more (7). Most people do not think very (8) of the local police and indeed so (9) they have arrested only one suspect. They say they need more evidence before they can take the matter (10). Whenever they are called in to investigate a burglary, it takes them so (11) to get to the scene of the crime that it is always too (12) to catch the culprits.

Still waters run deep.

Grammar

12. articles

Here is a summary of the way we use articles with different kinds of noun:

noun	article	example
countable singular	indefinite a or an	She has a bicycle already. countable singular	definite the	The red bicycle is hers. countable plural	definite the	The bicycles are in the shed. countable plural	none	They use bicycles to get to work.
uncountable singular	definite the	The salt is in the cupboard.
uncountable singular	none	Salt is cheap.

Here is a summary of the main uses of articles:

meaning	a / an	the	none
specific	She has a cat.	She feeds the cat.	She has cats in the house. general	A cat is a quiet animal.	The cat was sacred in ancient Egypt.	Cats are not as popular in some cultures as dogs.
the listener does not know which person or thing	There's a cat outside the door.
the listener knows which		The cat outside is black.

We also use indefinite articles before nouns in the following ways:

indefinite article (a / an): use	examples
sth which has not been mentioned before	I've just seen a car coming up the drive. There's a spider in the bath. any one of a group of people or things in general	He buys a newspaper every day. X I want to be teacher. ✓ I want to be a teacher.
all things of the same kind	Is a spider an insect? certain words that express an amount	a hundred / a few / a lot / a little / a great deal A few weeks from now I'll be in Venice. expressions of frequency	twice a week (= twice each week) I get fifty pounds a day. (= each day) This car goes at 110 miles an hour. (= in one hour)
two things that are often mentioned together as though they are one thing	a cup and saucer (X 'a cup and a saucer') a knife and fork (X 'a knife and a fork')
a type of a particular thing	This area produces a fine cheese.
sb's name when we don't know the person	There is a Mr Wilkins to see you.

- We also use a/an after what, such, rather to emphasise what we are saying:

What a day it's been!

He's such a fool!

It's rather a high price, isn't it?

We use definite articles before nouns in the following ways:

definite article (the): use	examples
sth or sb which you have mentioned before	I've got two cats – the black one is called Bob, the white one is called Rosie.
sth which is unique in some way	Which is the tallest building in the world?
sth specific, in an expression with of or which	London is the capital of Britain.
sth restricted to a particular case	The power enjoyed by politicians doesn't interest him.
the names of certain countries	the United States / the Lebanon / the United Kingdom
the name of a group of mountains	the Alps / the Pyrenees / the Himalayas

sb in an official position	the Pope / the President / the Queen
the name of a whole family or group	the Joneses / the Mitchells / the Beatles sth that everybody knows because it is part of nature or everyday life	We drove through the night. Ella's always complaining about the traffic!
a part of sb's body	She hit him on the ear. (= his ear) He punched him on the nose. (= his nose) an adjective used as a noun referring to a group of people	the sick / the injured / the rich / the young an adjective used as a noun describing a nationality	the Japanese / the Asians / the Afro-Caribbeans
the date (in speech)	March the twenty-fifth / the twenty-fifth of March a type of entertainment	We went to the cinema / the opera / the theatre. She plays the guitar.
the name of a hotel and restaurant	The Hilton / The Sheraton

We do not use an article before:

no article: use	examples
the plural form of a countable noun when it is used in a general sense	I buy magazines about computers. X I like the music. ✓ I like music.
an uncountable noun when it is used in a general sense	She hates dishonesty. X Many people are afraid of the death. ✓ Many people are afraid of death.
the name of a language	She speaks fluent German. Do you know any French? an adjective, unless the adjective is followed by a noun	Her husband is tall. (Compare: She is married to a tall man.) X The tall have many advantages. ✓ Tall people have many advantages.
an airport or train station	Gatwick Airport / Charing Cross Station a university	Cambridge University / London University a shop or bank named after people	Barclays Bank / McDonald's / Harrod's a church or cathedral	St Martin's Church / St Paul's Cathedral
a meal	have lunch / dinner
a disease or illness	Cancer causes a lot of suffering.
a street or road	Oxford Street / Fifth Avenue a mountain or continent	Mount Olympus / Mount Everest; Europe / Asia a country, county, state, etc.	Holland / Brixton / Texas / Devon a lake	Lake Geneva / Lake Ontario
a school, college, church, prison when we are not focusing on the particular one	He was sent to prison. She goes to school.
a hospital, university, etc. when we think of the purpose of the institution, not the building	He's in hospital.
a way of travelling	go by car / bus / train; go on foot

- We say German (e.g. We learn German at school.), but we say 'the German language'.
- We do not use an article in common phrases such as at work / home, in bed.

Practice

1 Complete the following sentences with a, an, the or no article.

- 1 audience clapped and cheered.
- 2 People say British are not very friendly but I disagree.
- 3 If we do not protect nature, our environment will get worse and worse.
- 4 I pick up kids from school and take them home when Mary is at work.

- 8 What will you do if they cut electricity off?
- 9 She kissed him on cheek.
- 10 The Government should tax rich more and poor less.
- 11 power doesn't interest him but money does.
- 12 We arrived at Heathrow and got taxi which took us to Oxford Street.

2 Articles have been removed from the following passage. Write it again including 18 missing articles.

London Bridge is falling down

Romans invaded Britain in AD43 and, chasing ancient Britons along Thames, they came to first place where it was easy to cross. They built garrison there – and London was born. They also erected bridge over river. Garrison became major trading post. Later, bridge suffered neglect and whole area was raided by Vikings. In AD886 Alfred Great drove out raiders, bridge was repaired and city prospered again. Hundred years later, Vikings returned but King Ethelred sailed up Thames, attached ropes to London Bridge, headed downriver and pulled it down.

3 Complete the paragraph below with a, an, the or no article.

A day in the life of an ordinary man

This morning I woke up around ten. I made (1) cup of coffee, took it into (2) bedroom and put it on (3) table next to (4) bed, on (5) side my wife sleeps on. I go through this ritual twice (6) week – I do it on (7) Saturday and (8) Sunday mornings. On (9) other days of (10) week, we go to (11) work at different times and I always get up first to get (12) kids ready for (13) school. I drop them off outside (14) school which is an old Victorian building on the corner of (15) Hill Road, and then go straight to (16) work.

I work in (17) office in (18) city centre and I always have (19) problem finding (20) parking space. My wife says I'm always complaining about (21) traffic and the pollution, which is true – you see, I grew up in (22) country, close to (23) nature and I have never got used to living in (24) city. I think the only thing I would miss about living in (25) big city like this is going to (26) concerts of all kinds. I love rock and classical music, too, and especially going to (27) cinema, which I am particularly keen on. I also like (28) good food and occasionally we go out and have (29) dinner in a nice restaurant, but most of the time we eat at (30) home, where the food is delicious – except when I make it!

determiners

Determiners include a, an and the (see 12a) and other words that come before nouns. Here is a list of common determiners excluding articles:

a lot of/lots of	enough	most
all	every	much
another	few	neither
any	little	none/none of
both	a little of	other
each	many	several
either	more	some

We use determiners in the following ways:

determiner	meaning / use	examples
all / all of	the complete amount, the whole number or amount of, every one of Note: We use all of, not all, before pronouns: We say all of them not all them.	He had spent all (of) his life working in a factory. He spent it all bottling lemon juice. There was a terrible storm but all of us managed to get back safely.
another	an additional person or thing (used with singular countable nouns)	We need another chair.
any	for quantities which do not or may not exist (in negative sentences and questions) for quantities that may not exist (in conditional sentences) it doesn't matter which one	I don't have any money. Do you have any money on you? X I'm not sure if she has some brothers. ✓ I'm not sure if she has any brothers. Please phone me if you have any problems.
both / both of	two people or things together in the expression both ... and to emphasise that something is true of one thing and another Notes: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> We use both of, not both, before pronouns: We say both of them not both them. Both is always plural. 	We can go to any restaurant you like. Both (of) her parents are doctors. He has lived in both Britain and America.
each / each of	every single one of two or more things or people (considered separately) Note: We always follow each with a singular noun, but each of with a plural noun or pronoun and a singular verb.	I don't know which book to buy. Why don't you buy both of them? Both these books are mine. Jane had a blister on each foot. Each of the children was given a present. Each child was given a present.

either (...or)	one or the other of two things or people Notes: 1 We use either of , not either , before pronouns. We say either of them not either them . 2 We follow either with a singular noun.	I've lived in New York and Chicago but I don't like either city much. You can have either this blue one or that one over there. 'Do you want the big bag or the small one?' Either of them would do.' Either bag will be suitable.
every	each one of a group of things or people to emphasise that you are talking about the whole of sth to indicate that sth happens at regular intervals of time or distance	Every student has to fill in a questionnaire. I enjoyed every minute of the film. (= I enjoyed the whole film) Richard visits his mother every week. You should change the oil every 5,000 miles.
a few / a few of	a small number of; enough (with plural countable nouns)	Yes, we have a few jobs available in our company. I've read a few of her books.
few / few of	not many, not enough (with plural countable nouns)	Unfortunately, there are few jobs available at present. (= not enough) Few of the customers complained.
a little / a little of	a small amount	I told him a little bit about it. The city is regaining a little of its former glory.
little	not much (with uncountable nouns)	Unfortunately, by then we had little money left.
a lot of / lots of	a large amount	There were a lot of / lots of people at the party.
many / many of	a large number of people or things (with countable nouns) Note: In this use, many / many of is more formal than a lot of .	Many people find this kind of movie unpleasant. Many of our staff are part time. How many brothers do you have?
much / much of	a lot of (with uncountable nouns), used especially in negative sentences and questions	There isn't much time – pack the bag quickly. Do you get much chance to travel in your job?
most / most of	nearly all Note: We use most of , not most , before pronouns.	Most universities offer a wide range of courses. Most of the people there were strangers. Most of them offer a wide range of courses.
more	a larger amount Notes: 1 We use more of , not more before pronouns. 2 We often imply a comparison, without stating it. 3 We use a plural noun or pronoun after more of .	She makes more phone calls than anyone else. She likes more of them than I do. We sell more of these maps. (= more than other kinds of maps) We need more of these books.

neither (...nor)	not one or the other of two people or things (with positive verbs)	Neither parent cares what happens to the child. X Neither John's father nor mine couldn't understand. ✓ Neither John's father nor mine could understand my problem. Both players have been warned but neither of them seems to take it seriously.
none of	not any of three or more things or people (with positive verbs)	None of my friends phone me anymore. X All of us didn't want to go to bed. ✓ None of us wanted to go to bed.
other	people or things in addition to the ones already known	You've already met Peter but I have two other brothers.
several / several of	some, but not a large quantity	The others are waiting in the office. Others want this job if you turn it down. Milk will keep for several days in a fridge. Several of us think it's a bad idea.
some / some of	not many or much (in affirmative statements)	There are some people waiting outside. There is some cheese in the fridge. Some of them are cold.
	when we expect the answer yes or no (in questions)	Could you give me some bread? Would you like some orange juice?
	a large amount of sth (with certain uncountable nouns)	It will be some time before the bridge is finished.

- Others means 'other people'; the others means 'those not mentioned already'.
Some people like watching horror films but others hate them.

Two climbers went to the top and the others waited in the tent.

- We do not usually use two determiners together:
X ~~Either other plan is hopeless.~~
✓ Either plan is hopeless.
✓ Both plans are hopeless.
- Singular countable nouns must always have an article or a determiner.
X ~~You don't have chance of winning.~~ ✓ You don't have a / any chance of winning.

Practice

1 Underline the correct alternative in the sentences below.

- 1 None of/Neither of you need worry; I'm not going to ask any of you for a loan.
- 2 None/Each of the children will be met at the station, so they will be safe.
- 3 The price is sixty pounds a week, then ten pounds for each/some extra day.
- 4 Every/Any item has been carefully checked and they are all fine.
- 5 Each/Every of the children had the same weight at birth.
- 6 I have asked them both and neither/both of them knows the answer.
- 7 I have every/all record the group has ever made.
- 8 Freda had to stop and rest after each/many hundred metres or so.
- 9 Sadly, there were few/a few people at the concert.

- 17 Can you give me some/enough idea of the cost?
- 18 Can you pass me other/another mug?
- 19 We only spent a few/many days in Rome; on the first day we visited a museum and on the other/others days we just strolled around.
- 20 I can get to Edinburgh by plane or train but either/neither way it is very expensive.

2 Look at the results of the UFO survey and then fill in each space in the text below with an appropriate word.

Survey

Is there life on other planets?

Number of people interviewed: 400
Age: 18+

QUESTION	YES	NO
1 Is there life on other planets?	350	50
2 Has earth been visited by other species?	25	375
3 Have you seen a UFO?	3	397
4 Do you believe those who say they've seen a UFO?	15	385
5 Do you have evidence of the existence of UFOs?	0	400
6 Do you believe we will get evidence in the future?	12	388

Do you believe in UFOs?

In our survey, we asked (1) hundred people whether they believed there was life on (2) planets. The answer (3) people gave was that there must be (4) planets in the universe with (5) kind of life on them. They thought it was unlikely that (6) of the planets in the universe were deserted except for ours. On the other hand, very (7) people thought we had actually been visited by any (8) species. Hardly (9) of the people we interviewed claimed that they had seen a UFO and only a (10) believed stories told by (11) people of meetings with aliens. (12) of those who said they had first-hand experience could offer (13) proof and, sadly, it seemed there was (14) chance that in future anyone would come up with such proof. (15) the people in the survey were adults.

12c

countable and uncountable nouns

We can count countable nouns. A countable noun has both singular and plural forms:

apple / apples child / children

- We cannot count uncountable nouns. An uncountable noun has no plural form and we do not use it with a / an:
We need new furniture.
Poverty can lead to unhappiness and despair.
- Opposite are some common errors:

~~X The money are insufficient.~~

✓ The money is insufficient.

~~X They have many works to do.~~

✓ They have a lot of work to do.

~~X The news are very hopeful.~~

✓ The news is very hopeful.

~~X She gave me a good advice.~~

✓ She gave me some good advice.

~~X For long travels we use the train.~~

✓ For long journeys we use the train.

Below is a summary of the basic differences between countable and uncountable nouns:

	countable example	uncountable example
use of a, an, the	a book, the book	cheese, the cheese
plural noun	books, the books	(no plural form)
some + noun	some books	some cheese
any + noun	any book, any books	any cheese
enough + noun	enough books	enough cheese
many + noun	many books	(not possible)
few / a few + noun	(a) few books	(not possible)
less + noun	(not possible)	less cheese
little / a little + noun	(not possible)	(a) little cheese
much + noun	(not possible)	much cheese
that / this + noun	that / this book	that / this cheese
those / these + noun	those / these books	(not possible)

- We can also say:
This is a fine cheese. (= a fine variety or type)
These cheeses are produced only in Italy.
(= these types of cheese)
- We can say one fish, two fish, one deer, two deer.
We can also say all the fishes in the sea. (= the different varieties of fish)

plural forms

- Here are nouns with regular plural forms:
computer / computers
address / addresses box / boxes
city / cities journey / journeys

- Here are examples of nouns with irregular plural forms:

aircraft / aircraft

sheep / sheep

calf / calves

The news says the weather is going to get better.
What he said was nonsense – wasn't it?
I've got permission to go.
You've made progress – keep trying.
I made the spaghetti especially for you – did you like it?
*I had a lot of work to do in town and I've only just finished it. (Compare I had lots of jobs and I've only just finished them.)*
- The words means, series and species look like plural nouns but they are usually countable and singular:

They found that the only means to cross the river was to swim.
Which is your favourite series on TV?
It was a series about an animal hospital.
One species is destroyed in forest fires every day.
- Spaghetti looks like a plural noun but it is uncountable:

The spaghetti is ready.

common uncountable nouns

- Below is a list of nouns which are uncountable. In some cases, there is a singular or plural use when we refer to a particular variety or example:

absence	advice	age
agriculture	anger	atmosphere
baggage	beauty	behaviour
bread	childhood	comfort

- If we refer to a specific amount with certain uncountable nouns, we can use a piece of, a bit of, a slice of, etc:

a bit of cheese
a blob of paint
a bunch of flowers
a cup of coffee
a drop of water
a glass of orange juice
a loaf of bread
a lump of sugar
a piece of paper
a pile of rubbish
a pool of blood
a portion of chicken
a slice of bread
a spot of rain
a touch of flu

Some words can be both countable and uncountable. Here are examples:

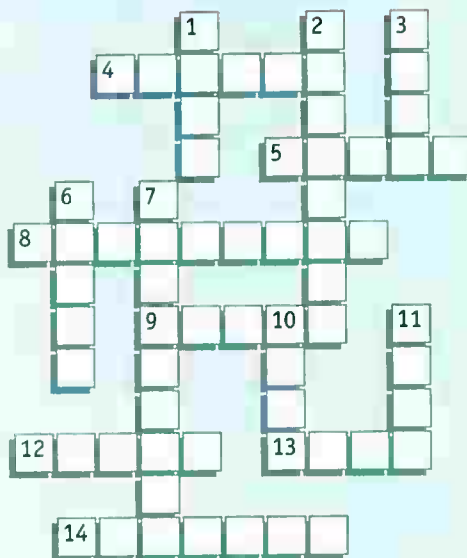

noun	countable example	uncountable example
chicken	He sat there and ate a whole chicken.	I'll have some chicken and chips, please.
coffee	I'd love a coffee now. (= cup of coffee)	Is there any coffee left?

✓ He wears glasses which make him look intelligent.

- Some uncountable nouns ending in -s also have a plural meaning:

Politics is a dirty business. (= in general)

His politics are right wing. (= specific) nouns that are always plural

Some nouns are always plural and take a plural verb. We normally use the with them:

The talks are going ahead between the Government and the unions.

~~X The authority had refused them their civil rights.~~

✓ The authorities had refused them their civil rights.

- Sometimes the noun has only a plural form:
His clothes are dirty but he is actually well off.
I believe congratulations are in order!

Below are some common plural nouns. (We use the with many of them. See the examples.)

plural noun	meaning / use	example
authorities	people in charge	The British authorities are investigating the problem.
conditions	the physical situation	Conditions in the prison are very poor.

Part 2

For questions 16–30, read the text below and think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word in each space. There is an example at the beginning (0).

SETTING OUT

It was only a two-day crossing from Piraeus to Alexandria, but*as*..... (0) soon as I saw the dingy little Greek steamer I felt I ought to have made (16) arrangements. Even from (17) quay it looked overcrowded, like (18) refugee ship; and when I went aboard I found there wasn't (19) room for everybody. The bar was the size of (20) cupboard and there was an old barman serving breakfast snacks. The man looked as if he had spent (21) night in the bar. I asked for a black coffee and a (22) of toast. I looked around for a chair but found that (23) only one that was not occupied was near the (24) which kept flying open to let in the cold winter wind. The floor space was taken up by a (25) of noisy Italian schoolchildren screaming at the tops of (26) voices and chasing each other round the room. Most (27) them were in shorts and T-shirts but a (28) had put their anoraks on to protect them from the chilly breeze. My Italian (29) pretty fluent and no doubt I would get the (30) to practise over the next two days. I drank my coffee and made my way out to the deck.

Part 3

For Questions 31–40, complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. You must use between two and five words, including the word given. Here is an example (0).

Example: 0 I had only just said goodbye to John when Maria turned up.
hardly

Part 4

For questions 41–55, read the text below and look carefully at each line. Some of the lines are correct, and some have a word which should not be there. If a line is correct, put a tick (✓) at the end of the line. If a line has a word which should not be there, write the word at the end of the line. There are two examples at the beginning (0) and (00).

Part 5

For questions 56–65, read the text below. Use the word given in capitals at the end of each line to form a word that fits in the space in the same line. There is an example at the beginning (0).

SPEAKING ENGLISH WELL

I have a Dutch friend who speaks English beautifully (0). I have always wondered how the Dutch manage to learn languages so (56). The Dutch, like the Germans, often speak English (57) than some native speakers or at least they seem to speak the language more (58) than some English people. Will says that if you want to speak English (59) with a reasonable accent, you should listen to tapes as (60) as possible. If you can afford (61) to go to an English-speaking country, you should go but you should also study the rules of English (62), especially if you want to speak (63). Will also feels very (64) that there are no magic solutions but that you (65) have to work hard at the new language.

relative clauses

Relative clauses give more information about something we have just mentioned in a sentence. There are two types of relative clause.

Type A

Type A identifies which person or thing we mean exactly. (We also call it a 'identifying' or 'defining' relative clause.) We cannot leave information in defining relative clauses out of a sentence:

It's the car that I saw here yesterday.

X ~~It's the car.~~ This sentence is incomplete.

The table below shows how we form defining relative clauses:

	subject	object	possession
people	who / that: She's the woman who / that reads the news on TV.	who / whom / that: She's the woman (who / whom / that) I saw on TV last night.	whose: She's the woman whose car was stolen last night. animals / things	which / that: That's the kind of dog which / that makes a good pet. I don't want a car which / that breaks down all the time.	which / that: It's the kind of dog (which / that) I'd like to have. This is the house (which / that) we live in.	whose: That's the dog whose owner was arrested. That's the shop whose windows were smashed.

- We can leave out the relative pronoun if it refers to the object of the sentence:
It's the job (which / that) I'd like to have.
- We do not use commas in defining relative clauses.
- We can also use the relative pronoun as the object after a preposition (for which, to whom, etc.). We now usually omit the relative pronoun object and put the preposition at the end of the clause:
Miss Berry was the person to whom I sent the letter. (formal)
Miss Berry was the person I sent the letter to.
- Whom as the object is now formal. We commonly use who, except when we say to / for / with whom:
Is she the person to whom you gave the letter?
That's the company for whom you work, isn't it?
He's the man with whom I share an office.
X He's the person ~~whom~~ I saw her with.
✓ He's the person who I saw her with.

Type B

Type B gives additional information about a person or thing. (We also call it a 'non-identifying' or 'non-defining' relative clause.) The sentence still makes sense without the non-identifying relative clause:

The summer here, which I don't like, lasts for months.

The summer here lasts for months.

The table below shows how we form non-identifying relative clauses:

	subject	object	possession
people	who: His wife, who is French, speaks three languages.	who / whom: His wife, who / whom I met in Paris, is French.	whose: His wife, whose car was stolen, is French.
animals / things	which: The novel, which has already sold thousands of copies, is the author's first one. The computers, which have been on sales for months, proved to be unreliable.	which: The book, which I read last week, is brilliant. The car, which we liked a lot, was much too expensive to buy.	whose: The dog, whose name was Spot, was very playful.

- We cannot usually leave out the relative pronoun (who, whom, whose) if it refers to the object of the sentence, especially in spoken English.
- We use commas with non-identifying relative clauses. Note possible changes in meaning between Type A (without commas) and Type B (with commas):
Mr Smith who teaches English is so fat! (= it is the Mr Smith who teaches English that I am referring to)
Mr Smith, who teaches English, is so fat! (= Mr Smith is fat and also teaches English) relative adverbs

Relative adverbs (when, where, why) describe time, place or reason. They have a close relationship with the pattern: preposition + relative pronoun. Instead of a relative adverb, we can use a preposition + which:

type	relative adverb	preposition + which time	That was the year when I graduated.	That was the year in which I graduated.
	May 6 was the day when we got married.	May 6 was the day on which we got married.
	Twelve o'clock was the time when we met.	Twelve o'clock was the time at which we met. place	That's the factory where they make chemicals.	That's the factory in which they make chemicals.
	That's the spot where the statue will be built.	That's the spot on which the statue will be built.
	Mykonos is the island where we go every summer.	Mykonos is the island to which we go every summer. reason	I'll tell you the reason why you were fired.	I'll tell you the reason for which you were fired.

- We can omit relative adverbs, except for where in some sentences.

whatever, whichever, etc.

We use relative clauses beginning whatever, whichever, whoever, wherever or whenever to talk about someone or something when it does not matter what, which, who, etc:

things	whichever whatever	Buy whichever book you want. (= any book you want) Whatever she can do to help, she will. (= anything she can) people	whoever	Invite whoever you like. (= anyone) places	wherever	I'll go wherever I like. (= to any place)
time	whenever	Come whenever you like. (= at any time)

- Whichever usually comes before a noun.

Practice

- 1 Join the following pairs of sentences using who, whose, which, where or when. Make the underlined sentence the relative clause. There is an example at the beginning.

Example: The teacher is very amusing. She teaches French.

The teacher who teaches French is very amusing. (Type A) or: The teacher, who teaches French, is very amusing. (Type B)

- The new director is very popular. She gets on well with everyone.
.....
- The beach is very quiet. We always go to it.
.....
- I went to see the film Titanic. I enjoyed it very much.
.....
- Our cat is called William. We've had him for five years.
.....
- It was 1998. I met her for the first time.
.....
- The house is the biggest in the village. The doctor lives there.
.....
- George speaks Spanish. His wife is from Argentina.
.....
- The winters are very cold. I enjoy them.
.....

2 Rewrite these sentences, putting the preposition at the end.

Example: Computer programming is something about which I know little.
 Computer programming is something (which / that) I know little about.

- 1 It was a mistake for which they have already apologised.

- 2 Mathematics is a subject in which she has little interest.

- 3 It was the guerrillas to whom they sold the weapons.

- 4 It was the Queen to whom the Prime Minister sent the letter.

- 5 It was the bank from which he borrowed money.

- 6 That was the year in which I was born.

- 7 March 25 is the day on which the country celebrates its independence.

- 8 That's the hospital in which the twins were born.

- 9 That is the island on which we spent our honeymoon.

- 10 These are the reasons for which I chose to marry him.

3 Now rewrite sentences 7–10 above using the relative adverb when, where or why.

Example:

- 6 That was the year when I was born.
- 7
- 8
- 9
- 10

4 Read the text below and think of the word which best fits each space. Use only one word. The first (0) is given as an example.

The return of the native

1980 was the year when (0) I first went back to the small village (1) I was born. I was only three years old (2) my parents went to settle in the States, (3) I now consider my home. But like a lot of first-generation Americans (4) parents were constantly talking about 'home' as another country, I was curious to find out more about this place from (5) we had emigrated more than twenty years before. The reason (6) I hadn't visited the land of my parents earlier – something (7) I now regret – perhaps had something to do with the way (8) they would always talk about it as if it were my real home, (9) for me was the States. The first impression I got on arriving in Santa Maria was the heat, (10) was unbearable. The people (11) were waiting to greet me at the airport were all incredibly friendly and they spoke of the time (12) I was a child in the village as if it was yesterday. My grandfather, (13) eyes filled with tears when he saw me, and who I would be staying (14) while on the island, looked incredibly like my father, (15) hair had recently started to go grey. The village itself, which was a two-hour journey up the mountain, was simply stunning.

People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones.

participles

form

Participles have two forms:

form	examples
present participle or -ing form	I saw him walking his dog. Putting his foot on the accelerator, he drove off down the road.
past participle in the Present Perfect in the Past Perfect in passive structures	I have made a cake. She has seen him. I had met him before. I had seen her at the first meeting. The house has been sold. It had been built in the 1960s. uses of present participles

use	example
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> to shorten relative clause (active structures) 	Anyone arriving late will not be admitted (= anyone who arrives late)
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> to talk about two actions (or more) happening at the same time; often after verbs such as sit, stand, lie and come 	He lay on the sofa, drinking wine and watching TV. She stood there, waiting for him to turn up. He just sat there, doing nothing.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> after the verbs see, watch, feel, hear, listen to, smell, notice: verb + object + -ing 	I heard someone crying.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> before the main clause for emphasis 	Laughing and shouting, the children ran out of the room. (= they were laughing and shouting at the same time as running out of the room)
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> to replace a clause of reason beginning because, since, as 	Knowing that John wouldn't be at the party, she didn't bother to go. Being so well qualified got him the job.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> instead of time clauses beginning when, after, before, as soon as or while: 	Realising he had left the lights on, he told the taxi driver to turn back. Closing the door behind her, she got into the car and drove off.
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> as adjectives 	a burning house (= a house which is on fire)

- We form the negative with: not + present participle:
Not realising he had left the lights on, he left the house.

uses of past participles

use	example
to shorten a relative clause in the passive	She lives in a house built in the nineteenth century. I would never go into a haunted house – would you?

Practice

1 Combine the following pairs of sentences into one, using a participle.

Example: She was doing the high jump. She twisted her ankle.

She twisted her ankle doing the high jump.

- 1 Bill was listening to the lecture. He fell asleep.
.....
- 2 She was training to be a nurse. She lived in London for a year.
.....
- 3 The students waited at their desks. They felt nervous.
.....
- 4 The teacher gave out the questions. She told the students not to open the booklet.
.....
- 5 The students opened the test booklets. They looked anxiously for the easiest questions.
.....

2 Make sentences beginning with Having.

Example: Maria handed in her script. She had answered all the questions.

Having answered all the questions, Maria handed in her script.

- 1 He wrote her a letter. He had tried phoning her several times.
.....
- 2 I had received an invitation. I felt I had to go to the party.
.....
- 3 He couldn't understand the message. He hadn't learnt any Japanese.
.....
- 4 After he had picked up his luggage, he went to look for a taxi.
.....

Happiness is being busy with the unimportant.

3 Fill in each space in the following text, using an appropriate present or past participle of the verbs given in the box. You will need to use one of the verbs twice.

come build hold make break follow talk carry look hide begin haunt know wear wait stare get have

THE HAUNTED HOUSE

Just after midnight, Julian and Anne, with Tommy the dog, arrived at the (1) house, having first (2) sure that no one would notice their absence. The house, (3) in the seventeenth century, had been abandoned for several years and the (4) windows stood (5) like the eyes of a frightened ghost. Julian, (6) by Anne and Tommy, took out his torch and pointed it towards the fence, (7) for the gap which they had (8) a few days earlier.

But how had their latest adventure (9)? Julian had been sitting in a café (10) a drink when he overheard some men (11) about hiding 'the stuff' in the haunted house till things had quietened down. (12) that the police were looking for drug traffickers in the area, Julian had followed the men to their car, (13) sure to take down the number.

Julian, Anne and Tommy the dog spent the next few evenings at the house, (14) in one of the old stables next to the house, (15) patiently for the arrival of the criminals. At last, their efforts were rewarded. They saw the lights of a car (16) closer. When the car stopped, a man got out, (17) what seemed to be a large parcel. A few seconds later they saw another figure (18) out of the car, (19) a long black overcoat and (20) something in his hand that, in the darkness, looked like a gun.

13c

linking words and phrases

Here is a simple way of linking clauses by expressing contrast:

Jack works very hard but he doesn't have a lot of money.

- We can express the same idea using other conjunctions such as:

Although Jack works very hard, he doesn't have a lot of money.

Though Jack works very hard, he doesn't have a lot of money.

In spite of/ Despite working hard, Jack doesn't have a lot of money.

Jack works hard, yet he doesn't have a lot of money.

Jack works hard. Nevertheless, he doesn't have a lot of money.

Jack works hard; however, he doesn't have a lot of money.

On the one hand, Jack works hard; on the other, he doesn't have a lot of money.

Whereas Jack works very hard, he doesn't have a lot of money.

While Jack works very hard, he doesn't have a lot of money.

Here is a summary of the main linking words we can use when making contrasts:

linking word	followed by	example	rest of sentence
although/ (even) though	+ clause + comma	(Even) though she is successful,	she is so modest.
in spite of/ despite	+ noun	In spite of/ Despite her success,	she is so modest.
in spite of/ despite	+ -ing	In spite of/ Despite being successful,	she is so modest.
in spite of/ despite	+ the fact that + clause + comma	In spite of/ Despite the fact that she is successful,	she is so modest.
nevertheless/ however	+ comma + clause	She is very successful. Nevertheless, / However,	she is so modest.
whereas/ while	+ clause	She is very successful, whereas/ while	others are not.

- Even though is more emphatic than although or though. We use it to emphasise the surprising contrast of two facts:

I can still remember that day, even though it was a long time ago.

- We can reverse the order of the two clauses: Even though it was a long time ago, I can still remember that day.
- We use however meaning 'in spite of this fact'. Nevertheless is also possible but is considered more formal: What you said was true. However, / Nevertheless, it was a little unkind.

- We can also use however when we add information that seems surprising or contrasts with what we have just said: This method has been accepted. However, it may not be the best one.

- We use whereas to say that something is true of one thing but it is not true of another: Why are some cancers curable whereas others are not?
- We use while at the beginning of a clause to introduce information which contrasts with something we have said in the main clause: The first car is made in Korea while the second one is manufactured in Japan.

Practice

- 1 Fill in each space with an appropriate word or phrase. In some cases, more than one answer is possible.

- 1 she joined the company only a year ago, she has already been promoted twice.
- 2 Fast food is cheap food in a proper restaurant is more expensive.
- 3 We went out the rain.
- 4 he was only twelve he could run faster than any other child in the class.
- 5 Even they loved each other, they decided to part.
- 6 The children are very clever., they can be very noisy at times.

- 2 Match the items in the two columns. The first one has been done as an example.

Example: Even though he set off early, g

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 I like holidays in the mountains, | a while her husband is a taxi driver. |
| 2 Despite public protests, | b consumer goods are selling well. |
| 3 In spite of high prices, | c However, it is getting better now. |
| 4 She works in a hospital, | d it'll be better than staying at home. |
| 5 The economic situation has been quite difficult. | e the Government decided to build a road through the wood. |
| 6 Even though I don't really like going to football matches, | f whereas my wife loves the seaside. |
| | (g he still arrived late.) |

- 3 Use the words in the list to complete the gaps. You will need to use some words/phrases more than once. The first (0) is given as an example.

despite/in spite of however whereas although but even though

Shop till you drop!

...Despite/In spite of... (0) the fact that Kelly had lots of homework to do, she agreed to go shopping with her friend Justine. Justine loved to buy wild clubbing clothes, (1) Kelly was more of a jeans and T-shirt kind of girl. (2) the rain, they set off on Saturday morning for the town centre. Justine, as always, had far more cash than Kelly. (3), Kelly had an eye for a bargain. Lunch time found them happy and hungry at the local burger bar. (4) they'd spent nearly all their money, there were still a few shops that Justine wanted to visit (.....(5) she'd promised to be frugal), and (6) having aching feet, they managed a couple more hours' shopping.

Although I disagree with what you say, I will defend to the death your right to say it.

Getting away from it all

After a long hard winter I was looking forward to getting (1). Spring in Seville seemed just the thing to help me get (2) my winter depression.

In my job (I work for an advertising company), I don't get (3) very much and things had been getting me (4) lately so I was very keen to (5) up and go, leaving everything behind. I knew everything would still be there waiting for me when I got (6) but for ten days I would be able to get (7) from it all. The problem was I hadn't been getting (8) well with my boss in the last few months – we didn't see eye to eye about policy and I just couldn't get (9) to her how I saw the future of the company. Moneywise the job's fine – I make more than enough to get (10) and I suppose prospects are good – I want to get (11) in my career and the job gives me lots of opportunities for promotion. But some day soon I will have to get (12) the difficulties I'm having with my boss.

If you can't get away for a holiday, stay home and tip every second person you meet.

A CHANGE IN THE WEATHER

..... (1) has always been a disadvantage for visitors to Britain that the weather is very changeable and that (2) is always raining, even in summer. (3) are countless jokes about British weather and no doubt (4) is a good reason for their popularity. (5) is no smoke without fire. (6) doesn't however seem to be the case any more that Britain does not have a summer. In fact, (7) seems to be less and less rainfall nowadays, which is a worldwide phenomenon. What has happened is that (8) has been a rise in the temperature of the planet as a whole. (9) is getting hotter every year to such an extent that (10) is no longer necessary to go abroad if you want to get a sun-tan. (11) will be much quicker and cheaper to go to Brighton or Bournemouth. (12) is thought that global warming is having both positive and negative effects in different parts of the world. (13) have been several conferences to find a solution to the problem but (14) has become obvious that (15) is no simple answer to the problem.

Vocabulary

- 1 She fell with her boyfriend but after a while they made up again.
- 2 He looks to his father and always listens carefully to his advice.
- 3 Just because she's got more money than her neighbours she looks on them.
- 4 She's very popular with colleagues because she's always ready to help them if they have problems.
- 5 She was born in France but didn't grow there – she was brought by her grandparents in Spain.
- 6 She used to go with a boy called Jack but they've broken for good now – what put him her was her arrogance.

STUCK-UP

Kelly's a really difficult person to get on with – she's already fallen out with her best friend. The way she looks down on everyone else really puts people off her – many people think she's a bit of snob but I think it's just the way she's been brought up. You see she was an only child in a very well-off family so she's probably been spoilt.

Occupations

- 1 Fill in the blanks. The first letter of each missing word is given.

And a good job too!

- 9 Cloudy air near the ground that is difficult to see through
- 10 Describes very cold weather
- 11 Describes a mixture of smoke, fog and fumes
- 12 When it rains heavily, we can say 'It's down.'

3 Fill in the blanks. The first letter of each missing word has been given.

The British are well known for always chatting about their weather. This is because the weather in Britain is so (1) c..... – you never know what it will be like. A popular greeting is '(2) L..... weather for the time of year' or, if the weather is bad, 'Isn't this weather (3) a.....!' If it's raining, they might say 'Great weather for (4) d.....!' You will often hear people add '(5) w..... permitting' when they say they plan to play golf, garden or put out the washing. Most postcards from a holiday in Greece or Spain begin: 'It's (6) b..... hot here' even when local people think it's just a normal (7) b..... and sunny day. There are many general expressions in English which show the importance of weather in people's lives. For example, feeling (8) 'u..... the weather' means feeling slightly ill. If you 'make (9) h..... weather of a job' it means you make it seem more difficult than it really is, and if you 'keep a weather (10) e..... on something' you give it your full attention – as the British do with their weather!

4 Match the words in the box to make acceptable pairs. You may use some words more than once.

Example: boiling hot

- 1 a hot day
- 2 a climate
- 3 cold
- 4 clouds
- 5 a spell
- 6 rain
- 7 wind
- 8 fog
- 9 weather

5 Replace the underlined words with the correct ones.

Example: It was a bitterly warm day in the middle of winter.
It was a bitterly cold day in the middle of winter.

- 1 The air was so hot and wet that my shirt was wet through.
- 2 There was a heavy mist over the fields early in the morning.
- 3 After the heavy rainfall last week we were able to build a snowman.
- 4 The rain was pouring over so we had to cancel the picnic.
- 5 Take a coat – it could be a piece chilly later on.
- 6 It was boiling cold this morning and the roads were icy.
- 7 ‘Pretty weather for the time of year.’
- 8 Driving conditions are very bad due to the strong fog.
- 9 Sailors were warned that great gales were expected during the night.
- 10 The Petronas Towers were struck by thunder but it had no effect.

6 Match these descriptions with the following countries. There is one extra country in the list.

Spain

Germany

Britain

Greece

A THIS COUNTRY enjoys a Mediterranean climate for most of the year, with warm to hot days and mild nights. However, in the middle of summer, it can be unbearably hot and stuffy and winter can be chilly. December and January can be very cold and in February it is often rainy. April can be changeable with sunny days interrupted by windy showery weather.

B Most of this country is always warm from April to October though it can occasionally be cold and rainy in the north, especially in the mountains. The south is amazingly mild throughout the year – it hardly has a winter. Although the Atlantic lies only a few miles away, the climate is more like the Mediterranean.

C This country has a very changeable climate, both from day to day and from place to place. Although long periods of fine weather occur each year, it is not easy to forecast the weather accurately and you can be soaked during any season. The north of the country is much colder and windy in winter, often with quite heavy snowfalls. The south-west has milder weather.

7 Match the following situations (a-j) with an appropriate expression (1-10) that mentions the weather. Use your dictionary.

Example: When I was in hospital I lost a lot of weight – so something good came out of it. Every cloud has a silver lining.

The Romans invaded Britain in AD 43 and, chasing ancient Britons along the Thames, they came to the first place where it was easy to cross. They built a garrison there – and London was born. They also erected a bridge over the river. The garrison became a major trading post. Later, the bridge suffered neglect and the whole area was raided by the Vikings. In AD 886 Alfred the Great drove out the raiders, the bridge was repaired and the city prospered again. A hundred years later, the Vikings returned but King Ethelred sailed up the Thames, attached ropes to London Bridge, headed downriver and pulled it down.
